PATRIOTISM INSPIRED

Charles Ward Post, No. 62, G.A.R. Observes Memorial Day in Impressive Manner

Memorial Day has come and gone for another year, leaving a deeper feeling of patriotism than ever. The observance last Tuesday by Charles Ward Post, G. A. R., followed closely the program of previous years but was characterized by an unusual snap and enthusiasm.

Members of the Post were up bright and early in the morning and details were busy at work all the forenoon decorating the graves of their comrades in the various cemeteries of the city and adjoining towns. The most important service of the morning was held at St. Mary's Churchyard, Newton Lower Falls, in charge of Senior Vice Commander Dr. S. F. Chase, and an address was made by Rev. F. B. White. This was followed by the beautiful custom inaugurated several years ago of casting flowers into the waters of Charles River nearby, in memory of the sailor dead.

After the serious work of the day, the members of the Post gathered at the Elks Lodge Room in Elliot Hall, Newton, where Newton Lodge, B. P. O. E., entertained the veterans in a royal and most hospitable manner. After luncheon, little Mary McElroy gave two recitations which aroused deserved applause.

The usual Memorial Day Parade formed at two o'clock under the direction of Mayor Edwin O. Childs as Chief Marshal. Major J. W. Bartlett as chief of staff, and comrade Wilfred A. Wetherbee as adjutant general. The chief marshal had a distinguished body of aides, including members of the city government, city officials, a delegation of Newton Lodge of Elks and several clergymen of the city. The parade consisted of a detail of police, the chief marshal and aides, Co. C, 5th Regiment, M. V. M., Capt. H. D. Cormerais, Needham Military Band, J. Wiley Edmonds Camp, S. V. D. B. Burnett, Commander, Charles Ward Post, 62, G. A. R., Orrin W. Nash, Commander, Thomas Burnett Camp, S. V. D., W. D. K. Taylor, Commander, Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent, D. V., Miss Ella A. Curtis, President, disabled veterans in automobiles.

The line formed at Centre and Elmwood streets, Newton, and marched thru Centre, Grafton, Homer and Walnut streets to Newton Cemetery. Here the exercises were held around the Soldiers monument under direction of the Post Commander, O. W. Nash, who read the orders of the day, after which there was prayer by Chaplain S. P. Putnam, reports from the various details of the Post, recitation of the Gettysburg address by Mary McElroy, "America" by the band, the sounding of "Taps" on the bugles with echoes from other parts of the cemetery and benediction by Rev. H. Grant Person of Elliot Church.

The young ladies who served as markers at the four corners of the monument were the Misses Frances Cahill, Evelyn Brown, Elsa Malloy and Ruth Dearborn.

The line then reformed and marched thru Walnut street to Newtonville, where it was reviewed by Mayor Childs and staff opposite the Newton High School. Members of the Post and the band also serenaded the John A. Andrew Home on Washington park, before marching to Temple Hall, where the usual banquet was held.

Commander Nash was toastmaster and after the menu had received attention, called the members of the Post and their guests to order to hear the various after dinner speakers.

Mayor Childs, in the dual capacity as mayor of the city and as chief marshal, was the first speaker, and, as usual, struck a responsive chord in the hearts of those present by his eloquent words. The mayor paid a beautiful tribute to Charles Ward, for whom the Post was named, and said that his spirit, his faith, his consecration are common to many who sleep in a soldier's grave. He said it was an inspiration to know that in every city and town, men and women were doing to the graves of their honored dead, what we, in Newton, had been doing today, an indication that the soldiers, living or dead, will never be forgotten and never forsaken.

Study of the graves and of the sacrifices of the men of '61 shows to us of this day and generation the need of patriotic instruction to our children and to the new comers to this country. This American Republic was established by the lives and deeds of many nationalities, lovers of liberty from all lands. Foreign born citizens have always been faithful in council and field to the cause of liberty. They share with us in American citizenship and stand shoulder to shoulder to preserve and pass on to future generations the priceless heritage of Union, Liberty, and Equality.

STRIKERS WIN

Arbitration Board Decide in Favor of Painters' Union

The board of arbitration which has been considering the recent demands of the local Painters Union has made its award and the striking employees win practically all their demands, a slight change in the phraseology of the contested article relative to the employment of non-union men being the only concession made to the employers and that being of debatable value. The articles as approved by the arbitration board are as follows.

Article 1. Forty-four hours shall constitute a week's work—divided as follows, 8 hours a day on the first five days of the week, and four hours on Saturday.

Article 2. The minimum wage shall be fifty cents per hour.

Article 3. All time between 5 P. M. and 8 A. M. shall be paid for as overtime at the rate of double time, all work on Sundays and Holidays shall be paid for at double time.

Article 4. Holidays are all Sundays, Decoration Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas. No work shall be done on Labor Day.

Article 5. A Journeyman starting to take work for himself must take out a shop card issued by the Union, said card shall not be returnable for one year from the date of issue.

Article 6. Master Painters or Contractors when hiring help shall give preference to Union men; other things being equal, if others are hired it will be with the understanding that if they prove satisfactory after a fair trial they shall become members of Local 545.

Article 7. For the purpose of enforcing the articles of this agreement, it is mutually agreed that an arbitration board shall be appointed, said board to consist of two members of the Master Painters' Association and two members appointed by Local 545, said board to have the power to decide and settle all differences which may arise between the two associations. In case this board fail to agree they shall appoint a Judge agreeable to both organizations.

Article 8. The members of Local 545 agree at all times to work for the best interests of their employers.

Article 9. This agreement shall be in effect from April 17, 1916 to April 1, 1918.

Excellent Performance by Choirs of Grace Church

Gilbert and Sullivan's musical comedy, Iolanthe, was given a good reception on Friday and Saturday evenings when presented by the Choirs of Grace Church in Players' Hall, West Newton.

Tuneless throat, and in two lively acts replete with good singing and dancing, the scenes were laid in an Arcadian Landscape and the Palace Yard, Westminster and gorgeous costumes and many novel and elaborate stage effects characterized the production. Opportunity was afforded the "Peers" and "Fairies" to disport in their resplendent attire and they lent their voices to the occasion with strong, sprightly melodies, making a most colorful and pleasing ensemble.

The opening chorus of pretty bright faced fairies was led by Miss Amy Hubbard, who made an excellent "Queen of the Fairies," Miss Edna L. Banks, as "Celia," Miss Clarissa C. Townsend, as "Leila," and Miss Florence White as "Pleta," and they proved themselves singers of exceptional ability. Included among the "Fairies" were the Misses Lillian Banks, Grace Edwards, Helen Cazmay, Katherine Grassie, Florence Hall, Evelyn Jefford, May Jefford, Helen Maxim, Rose Mills, Eleanor Richardson, Virginia Richardson, Hilma Sadler, Margaret Sampson, Grace Sutcliffe, Gladys Thompson and Katharine White.

Miss Metellina Maxim as "Iolanthe," had the prima donna role and sang and played it in an artistic and thoroughly high class manner, but had to share the honors with Miss Marie Sladen, who was altogether charming in the role of Phyllis, an Arcadian Shepherdess and Ward of Chancery. Miss Sladen has an engaging personality and is accomplished both as an actress and singer and possesses a contralto voice of wide range, clear and vibrant, and invariably true in tone.

A splendid cast had been selected to portray the various characters which included Mr. F. Willard Meakin who scored in the role of "Lord Chancellor."

EDITORIAL

The recommendation of Mayor Childs to increase the salary of City Physician Fred M. Lowe meets the hearty approval of everyone who knows anything about the duties of that important office. The Workmen's Compensation act has placed unusual responsibility and duties upon the City Physician, who represents the city, medically, on all claims under that statute, and Dr. Lowe is the right man in the right place in this respect.

Many residents of this city will follow with unusual interest the proceedings of the Republican national convention next week at Chicago where Senator John W. Weeks of this city will be a prominent figure. Senator Weeks has shown extraordinary capacity for safe and sane legislation during his services as an alderman, mayor, congressman and senator, and his friends and neighbors know he would make an ideal president. Here's hoping.

Governor McCall can certainly point with pride to the carrying out of a very large percentage of the pledges made in the Republican state platform last fall. While the full measure has not been reached in all cases, a long step forward has been made in almost every subject upon which the Governor has pointed the way.

Part of the proper indignation which our taxpayers have a right to express on the failure of the Legislature to allow this city to bond $50,000 expenses on account of removing fire hazard conditions from our school buildings, can be relieved by the material reduction of $30,000 in our state tax.

"What so rare as a day in June."

ANNUAL FIELD DAY

The Annual Field Day for the girls of the Newton High School was held Thursday afternoon on Clafin Field, Newtonville.

In the baseball game the Juniors won over all the other classes. The game between the Sophomore and Freshman teams was won by the Sophomores. The game between the Seniors and Juniors was won by the Juniors.

In tennis the game between the Freshmen and Sophomores was won by the Sophomores; the game between the Seniors and Juniors was won by the Seniors. Miss Eugenie Brown played for the Seniors and Miss Ruth Shepard played for the Freshmen. The preliminaries were played on Wednesday and the finals, on Thursday.

The Volley ball game between the Freshmen and Sophomore teams was won by the Freshmen. The game between the Juniors and Seniors was won by the Juniors and the Freshmen team was beaten by the Juniors.

In the Novelty race all of the other classes were beaten by the Seniors each Class having a relay team. One of the prettiest features of the affair was the Senior Class parade of Preparedness. The leader was Miss Peggy Spaulding and there was a drum-major, buglers, drummers and five marshals, and in the Red Cross section an Ambulance Corps was represented with miniature automobiles, stretchers, etc. One section carried flags, and the other carried rifles. There was a larger number of spectators present than on any previous occasion, and intense interest was manifested in the sports.

The Juniors had for a mascot a live donkey, the Sophomores a live goat, and the Freshmen had a dog drawing a small decorated cart. Each class was arrayed in the class color, and carried a large banner with numerals. The grandstand was attractively decorated in the Class colors with the four sections. This interesting outdoor event for the girls was a great success and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

LASELL COMMENCEMENT

Commencement exercises at Lasell began last Saturday with a May Fete in the afternoon.

On Monday the annual River Day was held at which the senior gold war canoe won the white sweaters awarded the best crew. Four races were held, the Gold crew winning from a mixed crew and the juniors from the senior Blues in the preliminary events.

The commencement concert was held on Wednesday evening and yesterday there was an art exhibit, a home economics exhibit and a swimming exhibition in the afternoon followed by the alumnae frolic in the evening.

In swimming an exhibition of eight different strokes was given by Miss Harriet Frey and true-to-life imitation of a rescue was made when Miss Cornelia Gaty pulled Miss Florence Bell from the water. Miss Edith Hobson then gave an exhibition of the working of two styles of resuscitation, the Snaefor and the Sylvester methods.

In the competitive events, Miss Gaty of Morristown, N. J., took two out of three honors. In the plunge for distance, she went the length of the pool, 45 feet, in each of her three tries. In the speed contest she covered the same distance in 7.01 seconds. Miss Edith Hobson was first and Miss Georgiana Flattery second in the diving work.

The home economics department work also attracted a great deal of attention, scores of dainty and wholesome dishes being displayed. In the dining room a full course meal was laid out.

STRIKE PARTIALLY SETTLED

All the English speaking employees of the Saco-Lowell Shops, who have been on strike during the past week have returned to work as a result of the labors of a joint committee representing the strikers and the company. UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Plans for prorogation last night were knocked in the head when Governor McCall sent in a message urging definite action on matters affecting workmen's compensation, the Senate having defeated the Davis bill on that subject. The Governor insists on some legislation which will remedy the present unsatisfactory condition of this statute.

The House held its mock session yesterday afternoon, however, but cut out the horse play of previous years and had a thoroughly enjoyable program in which Mr. Leverett Bentley of this city, a member of the Press gallery, gave an imitation of Billy Sunday.

The Governor finally had his way, or nearly his way, on the civil service bill, the Senate accepting the House bill. This bill has been somewhat emasculated by the amendment proposed by Representative Jarvis.

expunging members of the fire and police departments from the efficiency test of the commission.

The bill to prohibit the redemption of trading stamps or coupons in merchandise but allowing such redemption in cash has been accepted by both branches and is before the Governor for his action. The Attorney General gave an opinion in regard to the original bill, expressing his doubts on its constitutionality, and the bill was somewhat amended to meet his objections.

There are still some persons however, who fail to see much difference in the method of redemption.

The bill to authorize Newton to issue $100,000 additional water bonds made a rapid passage thru both branches last week and was signed by the governor on Saturday. The necessity of this bill is another criticism of the present Municipal Finance act, which provides for bond issues for extending water mains, but utterly fails to allow bond issues for making reservoir, or other important addition to a water plant. The present Municipal Finance law is fearfully and wonderfully constructed.

The Legislature has met one plank of the Republican platform, fairly and squarely, by making a material reduction in our state tax, which is $1,750,000 lower than that of last year, Newton's share being $140,080, instead of $171,600. This saving will help a little on the cost of reconstructing our school buildings—a matter which the Legislature refused to allow us to bond.

The recent memorial to former governor John D. Long will be printed as a state document by order of the House, and will include the address made by Representative J. Weston Allen of this city.

From figures issued recently by the State Police, fire losses for 1915 in the Metropolitan district show a large reduction over those of the previous year, Newton, however being on the wrong side, with an increase to $112,302.61 as compared with $65,693.30 in 1914. This increase is due to the fact that we suffered from several large fires last year, including the Ice houses at Newton Centre and the residence of Hon. F. E. Huntress on Farlow hill.

Every resident of Newton interested in good government should take time within the next few days to urge Senator George H. Ellis of this city to accept another nomination for the state senate. Men of his calibre are needed in the State House, especially in the upper branch of the Legislature.

—The members of the Phillips Brooks Club gave a vaudeville show Thursday evening, May 25, at the parish hall of the Church of the Messiah. The effect of the performance was greatly enhanced by the singing of Mrs. Lyman Gore who rendered several selections. There were also piano solos by Mr. Raymond Sykes and vocal selections by Mr. Fred Randall and Mr. Edmund Wilson. The Club concluded the entertainment by giving a sketch, entitled "A Close Shave," which afforded great amusement. The Club is now planning to give a series of entertainments beginning next fall since this one was so successful.

HOME TALENT NIGHT

The Clafin Club added to its long list of successes on Friday evening when the members entertained a large audience in the vestry of the Newtonville Methodist Church. It was the annual Home Talent Night and marked the coming out of the "Clafin Minstrel Troupe" an organization of gentlemen, blackfaced comedians composed entirely of members of this popular Club.

The program included "songs, jokes and side thrusters," some of the jokes having originated prior to 1915, but they were remodelled and appeared almost as good as new. Mr. William H. Timble of Newton Highlands served as a wonderfully clever interlocutor, and Messrs. Norman Hyslop, Newton Hyslop, John Berquist and William J. Cozens, Jr., scored a tremendous success as "Bones" and the gay repartee and amusing jokes kept the large audience in a continual state of merriment.

They were ably assisted by a chorus of well trained voices composed of Charles Bell, Edward Bell, Harrison Hyslop, Ernest Perry, Albert Rust, Harold Noyes, Wilbur Noyes, "Budd" Seavey, Robert MacGregor, Arthur Hartford and other talented members of the Boys Glee Club.

The accompanist was Mr. Charles Dow of Newtonville.

The feature of the evening was the tableaux, "The Spirit of '76" by Mr. William T. Rich, George Taylor and Albert G. Seavey.

The beautiful silver cups were presented to Mr. Early's winning team in the Clafin Club Bowling Tournament, held at the Newton Y. M. C. A.

A novel arrangement had been made for the benefit of the ladies who were invited to a Dress Rehearsal on Thursday evening and the Friday evening audience was composed wholly of men, the club members and their friends.

This successful entertainment was given under the direction of Mr. W. H. Stevens, who deserves to be congratulated on furnishing so fine an entertainment and on introducing so many brilliant "stars" to the Newtonville public.

Capt. Cornerais for his excellent work with Co. C, during the year, spoke a brief word urging everybody to do something to indicate an active love of country.

Rev. Dr. George S. Butters of Auburndale had a good story and lesson to draw on the subject, "Is He Any Good."

Asst. Adj. General W. A. Wetherbee called attention to the establishment in Newtonville of the John A. Andrew Home for veterans and their wives and spoke of the rapidly diminishing numbers of the Grand Army. Charles Ward Post having lost 13 members the past year, while the Mass. Dept. had dropped from 25,000 to 9,000 in the last 25 years.

Mr. George F. Tracy responded for Newton Lodge of Elks expressing the gratification of the order at the opportunity to extend its hospitality to the Post.

Alderman Haggood spoke briefly, but most eloquently for the hard of aldermen, saying that they deemed it a great privilege to march with the veterans whose service stands for something worth while. Men who have laid the most noble sacrifice, the most worthy tribute, their hearts' blood, lives, and prospects, because they had heard the call that strikes at the heart of every true man.

Memorial Day, he promised, shall not perish from the customs and institutions of this nation, this state or this city for the younger men, would remember your lives and deeds, and keep them alive by this most sacred rite.

Rev. F. B. White of St. Mary's Church said that the veterans did a great work, fifty years ago, but are doing a greater work today. Europe is showing us that it has millions of men who can fight, but you men are showing us that you can preach the Gospel of Peace, and Good Will to Men, and that the great things of this world are won by reason, faith and the brotherhood of man.

Mr. C. C. Bragdon of California brought the greetings of Past Commander W. T. Shepherd from Evanson, Ill., and a message of regard was sent to him and later to Comrade W. W. Montgomery, who was reported as failing in health.

Brief remarks were made by Capt. Cornerais of Company C, Miss Curtis for the Daughters of Veterans, Lieut. Dubois for the Sons of Veterans, and Commander Taylor of the Spanish War Veterans.

Rev. Harry Lutz of Channing Church said that there was never a time when we so much appreciate what the veterans have wrought, and when we can so deeply pledge ourselves to perpetuate the meaning of Memorial Day.

The program closed with the singing of "America."

LARGE APPROPRIATIONS

Wessex road, Hood street and Hammond street, for street sprinkling on Highland street and from Willis F. Gross for abatement of sewer assessment on Commonwealth avenue.

A resolve requesting the Mayor to make satisfactory arrangements with the selectmen of Weston in regard to building a temporary foot bridge over Charles River during the construction of the Weston Bridge, was the subject of considerable debate in which it appeared that this foot bridge was for the benefit of Weston residents who wish to take the street cars on the Newton side and that if built in connection with the main bridge would entail a heavy expense to Newton. The matter of expense as well as the proportion each municipality should pay was suggested and the resolve referred to the Finance Committee for further consideration.

Alderman Harriman introduced an order looking to a revision of the rules of the board in order to save time in routine procedure and the board adjourned at 10:25 P. M.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. Morris H. Brown, Head of the Printing Department, addressed the Conference of Boys' Trade School at Worcester, Friday, May 26, upon the subject, "Design in Printing."

Nearly all of the Senior Boys are in positions for the summer.

The Junior Reception was a great success and the Masquerade Party given by the Senior and Junior Girls was also a very enjoyable affair.

An important conference of the Home Making School of the state will be held at the Vocational School, Friday, June 16th. It is expected that about one hundred and fifty educators will be present.

The Moving Picture Entertainment under the direction of the Senior Class was well attended at both the afternoon and evening performances. About twenty girls from the Elementary Section of the Vocational School presented an interesting program of recitations and songs, at the Soldiers' Home on the afternoon of May 26. Each resident of the Home received a handsome souvenir of the occasion which had been made by the girls of Miss Shippee's class. The musical and literary program was under the direction of Miss Laselle.

Mr. Murray has been called in consultation by the Minneapolis Board of Education as an expert in technical education.

lor"; and Albert D. Edwards as "Earl of Mountarat" and Bradford F. Story as "Earl Toller." were most entertaining. T. Edward Cutler made a solid hit in the role of "Private Willis" of the Grenadier Guards, and William V. M. Fawcett's interpretation of "Stephen" an Arcadian Shepherd, brought out his ability as an actor and singer to great advantage. The "Peers" included Messrs. Geoffrey Baker, Merrill Brayton, Frederick Burrows, Richard Cazmay, Charles Davenport, Raymond Ford, Howard Hayward, Edward Hollingsworth, Leslie Russell and Malcolm Thompson.

There were 26 musical numbers on the program and the audience was enthusiastic in expressing its approval of each number and seemed glad to get an opportunity to once more enjoy a standard offering that had merit.

The chorus work was well done, and gave evidence of excellent training and there was a good orchestra to lend assistance, composed of Alma La Palme, violinist, of the Julia Pickard Trio, Miss Anne Eichorn, violinist, and Mrs. George Owen, pianist, under the direction of Mr. Charles Norman Sladen, the choir master.

The Choirs of Grace Church have apparently no difficulty in sustaining their enviable record for producing good shows and are to be congratulated on the success of the opera which was coached by Mrs. Derby Brown, staged by Mr. Dan L. Smith and directed by Mr. Sladen. Mr. Charles K. Davenport was advertising agent for the production.

The patronesses were Mrs. Laurens MacLure, Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. James R. Hodder, Mrs. Louis M. Alexander, Mrs. Edwin Perkins Brown, Mrs. William Estabrook Jones, Mrs. Samuel W. Bridges, Mrs. Howard Norton, Mrs. Charles F. Painter and Mrs. Frank N. Sheldon.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

A strong baseball team made up of boys from the Horace Mann and Claffin Schools of Newtonville are to play a championship game with the Edward Devotion School of Brookline. The playground director of Newtonville, Mr. Bradford E. Swift, has developed a very strong nine, and a fine game is expected. The boys are eager to have their friends come out and witness the game. It is to be played at the High School Athletic Field on June 10th at 9:30 A. M.

The Horace Mann and Claffin schools have been very successful this winter in track athletics having had a number of local meets and also some with other schools. The boys of Newtonville are enthusiastic in their praise for the director, Mr. Swift.

A very handsome graphophone has just been presented to the Thompsonville playground. Miss Mildred Svenson, director, by Mr. Arthur C. Badger. This is going to fill a great need which has been felt for sometime on this playground. A handsome slide is about to be erected by the Playground Department here. To secure this slide, the children gave a very successful entertainment and contributed $25.00 towards it. This is the second time the children of the Thompsonville Playground have raised money to further the development of the local playground.

Playground Director Hermann, who is also the Physical Director of Schools for Somerville, was in charge of a very successful Festival in that city last week in which 10,000 children gave a patriotic entertainment.

Why You Should Own a Maxwell

Comfort

First, because it is a comfortable riding car. Plenty of room for five people; deep, soft cushions; springs made of the best spring steel, scientifically heat-treated, accurately suspended and balanced. You will always be comfortable in a Maxwell.

Appearance

Second, because the Maxwell is a trim, smart, good-looking car.

Many makers of heavy, high priced cars, as you know, have copied the general lines, the shape of the body and hood of the Maxwell. This is more of a compliment than an infringement.

Service

Third, because the Maxwell, being a product of thirteen years evolution, is so designed and manufactured that it gives unfailing, consistent and satisfying service to thousands of owners.

Maxwell cars are made of the best materials that money and brains can buy—and they are made right. You can get out of any car only what is put into it.

Low First-Cost

Fourth, because you get everything in a Maxwell that you can get in any car and you get it for less money.

The answer to this is that the Maxwell is a light car and it is built in enormous quantities. The Maxwell Co. is one of the three largest producers of high grade motor cars in the world.

Low After-Cost

Fifth, because the Maxwell will give you more miles per dollar than any car built.

We say this without hesitation or doubt. It is our honest belief and we are willing to prove it by Maxwell owners, by comparison with any other car or by any other way you suggest or prefer.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

On Friday morning, May 26, the Memorial Day Exercises were held in the Assembly Hall before the entire school. The first part of the program consisted of recitations by three members of the Senior Class. Lincoln's Gettysburg speech, "O Captain, My Captain," and an original poem were recited. Following this, a very inspiring address was given by Col. E. H. Haskell of Newton Centre. Mr. Haskell is a veteran of the Civil War, and was one of three brothers to enlist in the cause of the Union. He gave an account of some of his experiences in the struggle, and told the students what, in his opinion, Memorial Day should stand for.

The Freshman and Sophomore girls have been holding regular song practice in the Gymnasium during the past week.

Most of the matches in the second rounds have now been played in both the girls' and boys' tennis tournaments.

The regular school term will close this year at noon on Tuesday, June 20. The final examinations will continue through the rest of the week. The library will be closed at the end of next week.

The school baseball team has unexpectedly taken the lead in the Triangular League, by virtue of its great victory over Brookline after eleven innings on Tech Field, Brookline, Tuesday morning.

Dick Comick especially deserves great credit for the manner in which he came back and defeated Chester Arthur of the home team. The fact that the Newton boys were forced to have police protection in leaving the field does not reflect well upon the pupils of the Brookline High School.

TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. David I. Douglas, '13, who was for a year the driver of an ambulance at the front in France, has recently returned from Europe. During his service in the ambulance corps, he had several narrow escapes, and was awarded the cross for bravery by the French. Mr. Douglas has brought back from the front a very large collection of interesting articles obtained from various parts of the war zone, including parts of uniforms, helmets, pieces of broken shrapnel and shells, army pistols, and gas protectors. He has also obtained a large number of interesting photographs. In all probability, these articles will be on exhibition in this building during the last week of school.

Doris T. Egan, Miriam K. Tenney, Marie R. McCarthy, and Henry Stewart Daniels intend to enter the Boston Normal Art School after graduating this year.

On Wednesday, June 7, the Freshman Prize-Speaking, which has become an annual event in this school, will be held.

Last Thursday afternoon the Junior Reception was held. A cast made up of members of the Junior Class presented a sketch in the Assembly Hall. The company then adjourned to the library, where dancing and refreshments were held. Great credit is due to the careful management of the executive committee, consisting of Herbert McGill, Alice Foley, Earl Rottler, Brooks Lakeman, Hazel Chivers, and Mildred Kelley.

N. H. S.

Misses Eugenie Brown, Marjorie Howland, Leslie Perkins, Josephine Atkins, Elizabeth Carter and Margaret Spalding have been chosen members of the tennis team.

The Newton girls played the Brookline tennis team last Friday afternoon at the Squash Tennis Club, Newton winning all three matches.

Another match was played by the Newton girls with the Somerville High School last Saturday in which Newton won.

The preliminary baseball games were played between the classes. The Sophomore girls beat the Freshman girls and the Juniors beat the Seniors. Arthur S. Roberts represented the school at the Brown University interscholastic Track Meet at Providence on Memorial Day and won first place and 15 points in the high hurdles, high jump and pole vault.

Graduation exercises in the Newton High Schools will begin with those of the Vocational High, including class day on June 7th and commencement day on Friday, June 9. The speaker for the commencement day exercises has not yet been announced. A class of 47 will receive diplomas.

The exercises at Technical High will take place a week later, on Friday, June 16, with a class party on the following evening to be held in the school library. A class of about 130 will be graduated.

At the Classical High School the exercises will take place on Saturday afternoon, June 17, with a program by the pupils and with no formal address. Approximately 130 will receive diplomas.

JUNIOR PROM

The pupils of the Newton Technical High School in large numbers attended the Junior prom at the school hall last Thursday evening. A reception was tendered the seniors, after which there was a play and dance. Vocal selections by Lawrence Sullivan and Edward Hodges of the Junior class added pleasure to the occasion. Mayor Edwin O. Childs delivered an interesting address on "Education," which was one of the features of the affair. Those in charge of the arrangements comprised Earl Rottler, Herbert Hovedon, Herbert McGill, Miss Alice Foley, Miss Ruth Taylor, Edward Hodges, William Doherty, Lawrence Sullivan, Miss Madeline Maxium, Miss Constance Lupo.

ANNUAL PICNIC

Nearly one hundred members of the Immanuel Baptist Sunday School attended the Annual Picnic at Spring Grove, Waltham, last Saturday in union with the school of the First Baptist Church of Newton Centre. Special cars conveyed the picnicers to the Grove and shortly after the arrival competitive games were held, in nearly all of which the Immanuel athletes proved their superiority to their Newton Centre rivals.

HEALTH PROBLEMS OF NEWTON

At the meeting of the Newton Welfare Bureau held last week at the Newton Club, Dr. Richard C. Cabot of Boston spoke on the subject "Some Health Problems of Newton."

He called the audience's attention to the fact that if both medicine and public temper had not changed very much it would be impossible for such a subject as the one proposed to be publicly discussed. "Most of us remember," he said, "when in cases of diphtheria the Board of Health always went sniffing around drains to find the cause. Professor Rosenau of Harvard Medical summed up the stages in public health development as follows: 1. The epoch of sanitation (drains and plumbing). 2. The epoch of bacteriology, finding causes of diseases such as typhoid and tracing them down to sources of impure milk and water. This epoch is now passing. We have within a decade halved the amount of typhoid. We shall probably live to see typhoid abolished. But the number of diseases which can thus be wiped out is small. 3. The epoch of education. If we are to progress it must be not by special learning about germs, etc., but by general education. For example, Tuberculosis differs from other known diseases in that it is a disease that practically everybody has. 90 per cent of those who died for other reasons were shown by post-mortem examination to have had tuberculosis. Most people have tuberculosis, but the ordinary conditions of healthful living counteract them. This brings us to questions such as alcohol. The forces of nature which fight on our side are weakened by alcohol and we shall not conquer tuberculosis till we conquer alcoholism, which will not be today or tomorrow. We shall conquer at last by general education, by the development of character and the building up of other interests which will give people something better to do than getting drunk. We shall not conquer tuberculosis until we reform the housing conditions of the poorer classes. It is not a question of evading a particular germ, but a question of light, air, and food—quantity and quality. Whatever you do in fighting tuberculosis is good for all other diseases. Whatever helps hygiene and brings playgrounds and outdoor play into a community will help tuberculosis fighting."

In discussing the problems of the Board of Health, Dr. Cabot said "A progressive Board of Health would be educating people, constantly giving lectures, getting articles into the newspapers before public attention. It must have community support. Many a Board of Health cannot do what it knows is necessary because the public will not back it up."

Dr. Cabot mentioned as a piece of needful preventive work the examination of all people in the community once a year "just as you examine elevators, to be sure they will not break down." He spoke of the Out Patient Department, "the privilege of the fortunate poor, denied to the unfortunate rich," as a most effective agency in preventive work, and called attention to the fact that it was impossible to find elsewhere such a group of specialists and experts working in co-operation. "The thing ought to be done by community like this, which would get specialists and pay them proper salaries for the care of their health during the year; thereby saving more money and getting better treatment than at present."

He mentioned Michigan, Oregon and California as states where such an experiment had been successfully tried, stating that in the University of California each student by payment of an annual $5 fee is entitled to treatment of eyes, teeth and free operations if necessary through the small Out Patient Dept., run by the University. "A society like Newton," he said in closing, "ought to be able to work out problems which more heterogeneous communities like Boston find impossible."

WINS FROM BROOKLINE

Newton High defeated Brookline High, 7 to 4, in a 11-inning league game on new Brookline Field Tuesday morning. Arthur and Comick, the rival captains, were again pitted against each other on the mound, and the former once more turned in the better performance, but the support accorded the Brookline pitcher was ragged, while Comick's teammates performed sensational feats at critical moments. Threshie, who led at the bat for Brookline with three hits, made two misplays, while Marshall, the Brookline shortstop, made another.

It was a heartbreaking game for Brookline to lose, for Arthur, the pitcher, had 16 strikeouts.

Newton scored in the first inning and followed this up with two more in the second. Brookline scored two in the first inning and one in the fourth and fifth, but the visitors tied the score in the sixth. Not a player went over the plate again until the 11th inning, when Newton got three hits and a pass.

Newton infield played its best game of the year, Fitzgerald proving himself to be one of the best infielders of the year. He had six chances, on one of which he erred. Only the Newton infielders were able to bat Arthur safely. Turner, at first, made two hits, the second of which scored runs in the eleventh inning; Fitzgerald made one safety and a sacrifice; Garity, the third baseman, made two hits, and handled his four chances faultlessly, making one sensational catch. McNamara at shortstop, who had four chances, led at the bat with four singles, a sacrifice and a stolen base.

If Newton, which leads the league as a result of its victory, is able to win over Cambridge Latin again, and Brookline scores two victories over the Cantabs, the league championship will be at stake when Brookline and Newton meet June 17.

IMPRESSIONS OF THE BIENNIAL

New York, May 31st.
To give any adequate account of this remarkable convention in the space available is an absolute impossibility. All that I can do will be to give a few impressions, for really that is all one can retain from a week of meetings with daily sessions, both morning and evening, and numerous conferences crowded into the afternoons. The general plan of the program has been referred to in this column from time to time, but to bring it more closely to mind, on the afternoon of the day a department presents its report at the regular convention comes the conference of that department and since two or three departments report at the same session it follows that there are two or three conferences taking place simultaneously.

Last week I touched upon the difficulty in the acoustics of the Armory and the possibility of moving to Carnegie Hall. That, however has not been done and after trying out a variety of sounding boards, as well as a megaphone, a drapery of the finest silk has been suspended across above the platform and over a portion of the seats as a sort of false ceiling and with that help, which was put in during the interval between Saturday afternoon to Monday morning, the delegates are finding things more endurable. The Massachusetts delegation now are located in front of the stage, so that with close attention they are able to hear, though it is difficult to distinguish the features of the speakers, if one is not already familiar with them. On this account the Club editor treasures her Press button.

Whose was the error in judgment in selecting the Armory—the "great inaudible auditorium" as it was characterized by a man speaking at the Press luncheon—is not known to me. That it was an error is a self-evident fact, for aside from the first evening, the place has never been more than half filled, and the strain on the voices of both speakers and officers has been great in the extreme. Mrs. Pennybacker remarked one morning, in endeavoring to articulate slowly and distinctly, that she had gone in "the class in the First Reader."

Of the beauties of the decorations in the hall enough can not be said and the proposition which confronted the committee of converting a bare brick-walled drill hall 240 ft long, a short city block wide and with an iron-trussed ceiling having a 90-foot rise into a place of beauty has been eminently successful. No money has been spared and the artistic result is remarkable. The entire ceiling with its iron trusses has been concealed by streamers of bunting of two shades of blue over arching the hall. These had to be made and dyed for the purpose in order to secure the desired colors. A Yale professor in his address yesterday confessed to feeling at home upon seeing his own college Color predominating. A false wall simulating stone masonry surrounds the stage of the room, and boxes filled with blooming geraniums and narguerites surmount it, as well as border the front edge of the platform. This then, is the setting for the sessions.

What has impressed me most, do you ask? The bigness of the thing, then the women themselves. No matter from what section they come, they speak with power, they listen for hours with close attention and utmost patience and although many times unable to hear they return day after day with staid endurance. Friendliness and cordiality are everywhere manifest. There is no waiting to be introduced, the blue badge of the delegate, or the brown one of the alternate or the white one of the visiting club woman is all that is sufficient. At the Press luncheon at the table with the Club Editor Georgia, Illinois, South Dakota, Oregon, Utah and New York city chatted together as if old friends.

The politics of a big convention is something entirely foreign to the Club Editor's previous experience, where heretofore the difficulties of securing people to assume office have always been paramount. To hear that every candidate save two have personally interviewed the president of the Massachusetts delegation and solicited the votes of her constituency comes with something of a shock, a sort of false note to jar the harmony one's sense of the fitness of things. That there has been much less trading of votes this time than at the Chicago Biennial is the verdict of those who have been at both conventions.

From eight until one o'clock yesterday the nominating committee was in secret session and the announcement of the ballot was attended with all the suspense and tension of the jury rendering its verdict in a murder trial. Massachusetts won the uncontested nomination of Miss George A. Bacon of Worcester for first vice-president.

she having served as second vice-president for the past two years. The chief contest is for the presidency. Mrs. Pennybacker having served her term of eligibility. Two candidates announced themselves some months ago, Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of California and Mrs. Samuel B. Sneath of Ohio. Neither seem to meet the unqualified approval of the delegates, who have been forced to weigh the qualifications of each and choose the least undesirable. There is one comfort, however, that, in the words of a speaker this morning, "responsibility brings ability." The voting is going on today.

A change was made in the by-laws on Saturday, which went into effect upon passage, providing for a director from each State, making a board of 57 as against 15 in the past years. Mrs. George W. Perkins, president of the Massachusetts State Federation, was unanimously endorsed as Massachusetts director by her delegation and will in all probability secure the election. Of the merits of this change and of the various changes in policy of the Federation through amendments under consideration a report will be given next week.

The convention closes tomorrow evening, Friday will be given up to play and then the delegates will disperse to their various homes and the Thirteenth Biennial will be a thing of the past.

Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Los Angeles, California, carried the election for the presidency over Mrs. Samuel B. Sneath of Ohio, by more than a two to one vote. Miss George A. Bacon of Massachusetts was elected first vice-president, receiving 1574 votes out of 1736 cast. The highest number polled by any candidate. There was no choice for treasurer, the votes having been divided among three candidates. This vacancy will be filled by the newly elected Board of Directors. The other officers are as follows: Second vice-president, Mrs. Eugene Reilly, North Carolina; recording secretary, Mrs. McFarland; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Francis D. Everett, Illinois; auditor, Mrs. William P. Harper, Washington. Mrs. George W. Perkins was elected director from Massachusetts.

This morning's session opened as have they each day, with singing, "The Star Spangled Banner," being the selection for today. The whole forenoon from nine until one was occupied with the adoption of resolutions and the completion of the revision of the By-Laws.

An invitation to hold the next Biennial in Hot Springs was presented by the Arkansas delegation and at Kansas City by that from Missouri, New Orleans and Baltimore are both extending hospitality for the Council Meeting of 1917.

Tonight the new officers will be presented and addresses will be made by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, Father John L. Belford and Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, on "What Religion has done for the World."

GRACE M. BURT.

IMPORTANCE OF SAFE MILK

The recent epidemic of sore throat in Watertown in which there have been scores of people ill and several deaths, again emphasizes the importance of safe milk and the uncertainty of fresh milk. These cases of illness and death have been traced directly to one small dealer who distributes milk in a limited section, produced within the city limits, delivered fresh from his own cows and one would think under the immediate supervision of the local health officer.

If such milk as this comes contaminated with germs of disease, how can any raw milk be safe? All of this emphasizes the importance of proper pasteurization of milk. No system of inspection, because disease germs that get into milk are not depending upon the comparative cleanliness of the place where the milk is produced. The important factor in safe milk is the cow and the human beings that handle the milk. Nobody can expect to get milk at a reasonable price, from cows that are examined daily, milked by men who are examined daily.

Within about a year Watertown has suffered from three epidemics all traced to unsafe milk, two of sore throat and one of typhoid fever, all traced to milk produced nearby but delivered in the raw state. Raw milk is never safe milk. There is no doubt that many diseases are conveyed by fresh, raw milk; bovine tuberculosis may be transmitted to man through the milk of tuberculous cattle, the danger is greater for children than for adults; typhoid fever is often caused by infected milk; in cities with a pure water supply milk is probably the most common vehicle of infection. Diphtheria, like typhoid fever, may be caused by raw milk contaminated through human handling. Widespread epidemics of scarlet fever are sometimes caused by milk.

Since milk-borne diseases are to a considerable extent due to the use of milk from diseased cattle, to uncleanly dairy surroundings and careless handling, it has been generally assumed that contamination and infection can be prevented by sanitary control of the process of milking, handling and distribution. The question is being asked, however, whether it is humanly possible to eliminate all important sources of infection even by strict regulation and watchful supervision.

All of the foregoing considerations point unmistakably to one of the greatest needs in municipal health administration in every city and town today, namely, the enforcement of a pasteurizing ordinance. While it is probably true that a certain amount of certified milk will continue to be asked for, the expense required for production will alone put certified milk out of the reach of many consumers. The bulk of the milk supply may be brought up to a certain qualitative level by competent inspection, but beyond a given point, it cannot be forced without an increase in cost not commensurate with the advantage obtained. No one cognizant of the facts can doubt that pasteurization will prevent a large amount of milk-borne disease. Every epidemic that has ever been traced to milk has been traced to raw milk or to improperly pasteurized milk. No epidemic has ever been traced to perfectly pasteurized milk.

ENGAGEMENT LUNCHEON

Rev. Laurens MacLure, D.D., and Mrs. MacLure of Newton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Lloyd MacLure, to Mr. Wallace Minot Leonard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Minot Leonard of Newton Highlands. Miss MacLure is a popular member of the younger society set of the Newtons, and a graduate of the Sargent School, Class of '15. Mr. Leonard is a member of the class of '16, Amherst College, captain of the Gymnastic Team, a member of the Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, and of Scarab, and managing editor of the College paper. The announcement was made at a luncheon given Thursday at Grace Church Rectory. The floral decorations in the dining-room were most attractive. A pink and white color motif was carried out effectively on the table, and pink Killarney roses were arranged artistically as a centre-piece. Covers were laid for eight.

QUALITY GOODS

Perhaps you believe that you can obtain better goods by buying your table supplies out of town, but we know it is impossible. Perhaps you believe that you can save money by doing so, but we can prove it is impossible. You do know it is mighty inconvenient. You do know that, owing to the time in transit, that the fruit and vegetables are wilted, that the meats are slimy and sticky, and that on the whole they present anything but an inviting and appetizing appearance. And then when you find that you have forgotten the yeast cake or the bread or some other small article, you impose upon good nature by giving this unprofitable trade to your local man, while your "profitable trade" goes elsewhere. The local man is proverbially good natured, but, nevertheless, while filling your rush order, he does some thinking, and wonders where fairness or justice enters into the deal.

Real Quality Goods—excelled by none—are sold by us—and sold at prices as low here as anywhere. Service and attention is courteous, and deliveries are promptly made. Think it over.

BE FAIR. BE JUST. TRADE AT HOME.

LIEDERHEIM SCHOOL

The annual May Musicale of the Liedersheim School of Vocal Music, Auburndale, took place Monday evening, May 29th at "Liedersheim."

At this closing recital of the season Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles, the principal, introduced her "Worcester Liedersheim Glee Club" from her Worcester Studio, and the "Liedersheim Players" two of the organizations connected with her Liedersheim School, who contributed a unique and highly entertaining variety to the evening's programme. These two Liedersheim Clubs are permanently organized and have given a successful series of concerts during the past season.

Delegations from Mrs. Ruggles' Boston and Worcester Studios were present. Among them was Dr. John Ruisti of Boston, Italian tenor and pupil of Mrs. Ruggles, who sang several Italian and English songs.

Another of Mrs. Ruggles' pupils who is coming into distinction as a baritone singer, Mr. Edwin Mitchell of Newton Highlands, also sang. Mr. Mitchell has been chosen a member of the Shawmut Male Quartette of Boston and will shortly enter upon a three months' tour of the Middle West.

At the close of this most successful recital came dancing and refreshments and a royal good time for the "Liedersheimers" such as they always have at Liedersheim in connection with these events.

The sacred selections, "Lead Kindly Light," "Over the River," and "Abide With Me," were rendered by a quartet.

There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes, and the burial was in the family lot in the Newton Cemetery.

BRAE BURN CLUB

Cards have been issued by the House Committee, Messrs. William B. H. Dowse, Harry L. Ayer, Frank B. Withersbee and Frank J. Hale announcing a The Dansant on Saturday afternoon, June 3rd from four until six-thirty on the Bowling Green. There will be table reservations including tea. Cancellations not accepted after 8 P. M. Baroness Huard of France gave a very interesting address to a large and enthusiastic audience on Wednesday evening in the new Tea Room. She was a very entertaining speaker and told of her varied experiences in the French War Zone, illustrating by photographs which she had taken with her own camera. This camera she had taken with her by chance when she fled from her Chateau, thinking she was taking away her leather-bound jewel case. The Baroness gave graphic accounts of her life as a refugee and her experiences in the hospital for French wounded, where they now have had to take down the Red Cross Flag as it no longer stands for neutrality with the Germans.

The proceeds are entirely for the benefit of the hospital at Baroness Huard's Chateau, which is situated about 50 miles from Paris. The Chateau was taken by three German generals, and General Von Gluck, head of the 3rd German Army, made it his headquarters for nine days until the Germans were driven back by the French. This interesting address was given at the Club thru the courtesy of several Newton ladies including Mrs. Curtis Nye Smith, Mrs. Walter H. Holbrook, Mrs. Herbert G. Pratt, and Mrs. Benbow.

Mrs. George E. Peters and Mrs. G. Edwin Peters of West Newton gave an auction bridge of 17 tables on Friday afternoon in the new Tea Room.

NORUMBEGA PARK

Norumbega Park has embarked, auspiciously, on its twentieth season and though the weather has not been ideal the popular pleasure resort has attracted crowds each day since the opening.

Vaudeville has proved a potent magnet in the big, open-air theatre and the management has booked another fine bill for the ensuing week. The list includes "Belle of Seville," a novelty variety skit played by three men and a woman; Loretta and Morton in juggling and eccentric dancing, Shepherd and Ott, singers and dancers, Dave Kinder, a whistler and midget, Stane and McAvoy, in some rapid-fire talk, juggling and comedy, and other big feature acts to be announced later.

In addition, feature photoplays are given at each evening performance. It is not generally known that Norumbega Park is equipped with one of the most complete and costly picture projecting plants in the country and the films booked for this season include the best outputs of the various big companies.

There will be the usual big sacred concert on Sunday night.

PLAYGROUND EXHIBITION

On the Newton Centre playground June 17th from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon the e will be a grand exhibition of playground activities by the boys and girls of the village. The new play building will be open for inspection at the same time. Members of the Playground and Social Service League will be in attendance ready to show friends over the building and explain its possibilities. Everybody in the Centre is expected to be present.

This building, the first of its kind in Newton, was the gift of Trinity Episcopal Church. To move it to the playground and remodel it cost over $6,000 of which has been paid for by public subscription. It is a community proposition and everybody is expected to share the responsibility of making it one grand success.

BRAE BURN COUNTRY CLUB

The Garden Tea Room In Demand for June Festivities

June festivities at Brae Burn were ushered in Saturday with a The Dances, and the unfavorable condition of the weather did not in the least dampen the ardor of the dancing enthusiasts, who assembled in large numbers, from four until six o'clock.

Brae Burn is becoming a most desirable resort for the pleasure-seeker and lover of out-door sports and is a happy combination of all the modern arrangements for amusement, comfort and luxury.

So charmingly situated, it is admirably adjusted for seeing all of the attractive phases of Club life. To the lover of fine scenery, those out-door events afford an unlimited means of enjoying the full beauty of Brae Burn's picturesque surroundings.

Every element of beauty that can mingle in such scenery, seems here comprised. The gay dancing scene on the Bowling Green, was strikingly contrasted with the richness of luxuriant woodlands, verdant glades, shady drives, sloping lawns and the Golf Course, a beautiful stretch of meadow with velvety turf.

Nestling between the woodlands are the ponds; glistening like molten silver thru the leafy glades. These little ponds, which are a pleasing feature of the landscape at Brae Burn, might easily be likened to little gems in settings of emerald green.

As viewed from the windows of the Garden Tea Room, an ever varying panorama of charming scenery is unfolded, and beauty succeeds beauty in great diversity. Arranged along the sides of the Bowling Green were small tables at which refreshments were served by the attendants at the Club and delightful music was supplied by Quimby's Band of Lynn.

Many of the guests viewed the interesting scene from their motor cars, while the Garden Tea Room and verandas of the Club House were filled with spectators who did not care to indulge in the Terpsichorean pastime. Society from Brookline, Boston and the Newtons was well represented. Among those who entertained at tables were Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Safford, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Dunmore, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Newell, Mrs. Ellery Peabody, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Lovell, Mr. Wilbur C. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Eddy, Mrs. Wheelock, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Buntin, of West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. J. Weston Allen, Mrs. Horace W. Sweet, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jones of Newton Highlands; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Cordingley of Chestnut Hill; Miss Elsie Harrington, Mrs. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. William Salters Carleton, Mr. F. W. Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. A. Dudley Dowd of Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. William Gilmore of Waban; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Aubin, Mr. E. Irving Locke, Mr. Eaton and Mr. Albert S. Glover of Newton; Dr. and Mrs. George H. Talbot, Mrs. Walter Lovell, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Knox, Mrs. William H. Lucas of Newtonville; Mrs. Charles E. Sweet, Mr. George E. Farrington, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Frost of Auburndale; Mr. Howard Gilmore, Mr. James E. Hollis, Mr. Harry B. Duane, Mr. William F. Mayo, Mrs. R. H. Stearns, Mr. Walter A. Hopkins, Mr. Joseph A. Gahn, Mr. Thomas O. Marvin, Mr. George W. Mansfield of Brookline; Mr. F. P. Hayward of Malden; Dr. and Mrs. Edward R. Utley, Mr. Arthur J. Foote of Cambridge; Miss Beatrice Snow, Mr. A. C. Gould, Mr. A. M. Wiley, Mr. R. W. Upham, Mr. F. L. Richardson, Dr. F. A. Higgins, Mr. Jacob Mosser and Mr. F. T. White of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. George G. Webster of Sharon; Mr. Franklin F. Raymond and Mr. J. R. Griffiths of Boston and Mr. G. N. Smith of Wellesley.

There were 2300 applications for badges and 400 reservations for tables, but owing to the unfavorable weather many were unable to attend.

The Garden Tea Room, a recent acquisition to Brae Burn is a large and commodious room attractively decorated and occupies the lower south-west wing of the Club House. It is artistically beautiful in its architecture, and most comfortable in all its appointments and was designed by Mr. Edward Bowman Stratton of Newton Centre.

The interior decorations and furnishings were supplied by Mr. H. W. Munn of Boylston street, Boston, who is an authority on high class, up-to-date decorations, and in the selection and adaptation of the furniture, rugs and draperies, one can see the exercise of extreme care, assisted by refined and exquisite taste, everything being in perfect harmony and keeping.

THE NATIONAL FLOWER

Charming Operetta Given at Players' Hall Saturday Afternoon

A very successful entertainment for the benefit of the North End Garden Association of Boston, was given Saturday afternoon in Players' Hall, West Newton.

"The National Flower," a delightful operetta in three acts, supplemented by a group of folk dances in the 3rd act, was presented by groups from the Library Club House.

It was a decidedly entertaining operetta and there were about sixty pretty young girls in the cast. The chorus singing and the dancing were especially good, apparently pleasing the large audience.

The various flowers included Sun-flowers, an onion, a Tiger Lily, Wild Rose, Daisies, Poppies and Weeds, and were well represented by the girls, in appropriate costumes.

The Judges and Jury were to decide on which should be the National flower. The different flowers all came singing and dancing before the judges and jury and told their stories. The "Daisies" led the procession arrayed in snowy white with yellow bordered skirts and yellow caps, with white petals around the edges, and there were girls in costumes of green and red, representing poppies.

A pretty feature was introduced when "The Weeds," several tiny little girls in green dresses with short sleeves and wearing dainty little green caps, appeared on the stage and sang a quaint little song entitled, "I'm a Little Green Weed and All I Do All Day Long is Grow, Grow, Grow."

When the "Flowers" had all appeared, the Jury separated in two parts and left the stage, in order to decide which the National Flower should be, but the Flowers were all so very pretty, that they found it impossible to come to a decision.

Then a young girl entered who was attractively attired in red, white and blue, representing Uncle Sam, and she stated that she would leave the stage and return in 30 seconds and then tell

CHIMES DEDICATED

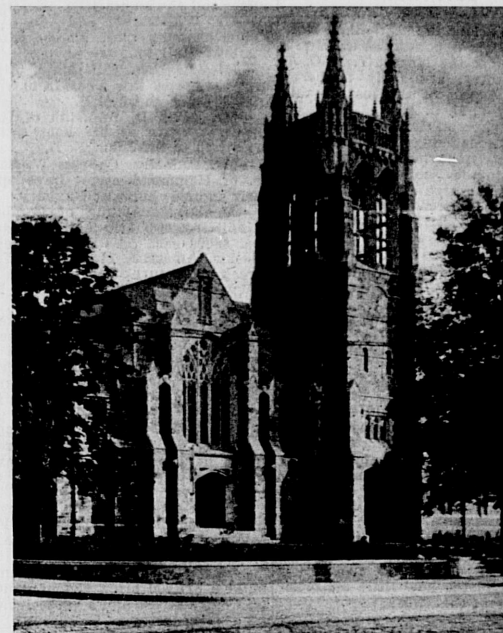

Impressive Memorial Service at West Newton Unitarian Church

The beautiful Unitarian Church at West Newton was completely filled Sunday morning at the service of dedication of the clock and chimes which had just been installed as memorials to Mrs. Helen Haynes Jaynes, the wife of the Pastor, Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, and to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Otis.

The service was held at 11.30 in order that the ringing of the chimes might not disturb the services at the adjoining churches. An impressive feature of the program was the dedication of each bell with responsive selections by the Pastor and people, each selection being appropriate to the inscription on the bells, and each bell was rung as it was dedicated.

The bells were presented to the church by Mr. Charles P. Hall in behalf of the committee of arrange-

EDITORIAL

Congratulations to Mr. William Macpherson on his appointment as Physical Director of the largest Y. M. C. A. in the country, are sadly tempered with the thought of the loss to this city and its Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Macpherson has won a high place in the esteem of the men and boys of this city during the eight years of service to the Newton Y. M. C. A., not only by the high class of his work as a Physical Director but by his worth as a Christian and as a man. Newton's loss is Brooklyn's gain and Mr. Macpherson has fully earned the wider field and better opportunity for service.

The action of the State Police in requiring this city to go to extraordinary lengths in the matter of improving fire hazard conditions is inconceivable in the light of the understanding reached a month or two ago on this question. It would seem that the city has shown its good faith in the matter by appropriating over $50,000 for this purpose and that the action of the state police is most arbitrary and unreasonable.

Mr. McCall was elected Governor last November largely thru the personal work of Senator Weeks and his friends. The Governor's position at Chicago indicates how little appreciation he has of that work.

The decision of the Newton business men to omit any organized celebration this year of the Fourth of July is a sensible conclusion.

CITY HALL

The District Police have surprised the city officials by sending in drastic orders in regard to the construction of the various school buildings in the city. At a conference held several weeks ago, it was understood by the Newton authorities that the state police would be satisfied if the city would follow out the recommendations to be made by the Fire Hazard Commission and as the city government has just voted over $50,000 for this work, there did not seem to be any reason for the present action of the police.

The new orders are far more drastic than the work contemplated by the Fire Hazard Commission and would virtually mean that every stairway in all the schools must be enclosed with wired glass, and that every school corridor must have smoke stop doors at stated intervals. The unreasonableness of the state police is particularly noted in its order for work at the Oak Hill school where about 8 or 9 pupils are now being taught on the ground floor. The police require an additional exit to this building and a full equipment of fire signals.

City Solicitor Bishop will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the city for this high handed procedure.

NORUMBEGA PARK

Still another vaudeville program of feature acts has been booked at Norumbega for next week. The headline act is the La France troupe of three men and two women who do startling feats on slack and tight wires. Then there are Murphy & Foley, proteges of George Primrose for eight years, and who present all the old-time minstrel star's famous dances and many of his amusing features.

Hartley and Pean, a man and woman, have a number of new songs and dances and some witty conversation that is sure to please and there will be three other acts on a par with the performances that have been given at Norumbega this season.

The Thistle of Scotland.

On the origin of the adoption of the thistle as the emblem of Scotland history is almost completely silent, but tradition is as glib as ever. According to one story, the Danes were stealing barefooted through the darkness towards the Scottish camp (in spite of their rule which regarded a midnight attack upon an enemy as unwarrantable) when one of the soldiers suddenly trod upon a thistle. Involuntarily he uttered a cry of pain, and the Scotchmen, being aroused, leaped to their feet, hurled themselves upon the Danes and inflicted fearful slaughter upon their foes.

COLLINS—WHITE

A pretty home wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, June 2nd, when Miss Mabel White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. White of Auburndale, was united in marriage to Mr. Frank I. Collins of Watertown.

The bride's residence on Auburndale avenue was attractively decorated for the occasion with white spring blossoms in combination with greenery, and the ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock by Rev. William C. Gordon, D.D., pastor of the Auburndale Congregational Church.

The bridal party stood under a bell hung in an alcove in the parlor, which was banked with Bridal Wreath, snowballs, and Lady's Slippers, ferns and greenery.

As the bridal party assembled, Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, was played by Miss Sadie Collins, sister of the bridegroom. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was exceedingly attractive in a beautiful wedding gown of white tulle silk, trimmed with radium lace, and carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses. She was attended by her niece, Miss Elizabeth Russell, as maid of honor, who was becomingly gowned in white organdie trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of bachelor buttons and daisies.

The bridegroom was assisted by his twin brother, Mr. Willard Freeman Collins, as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Walter H. White and Mr. Herbert White of Auburndale.

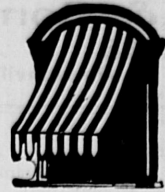

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held and Mr. and Mrs. Collins were assisted in receiving by the parents.

The floral decorations extended to the hall and staircases which were festooned with Bridal Wreath, and in the dining-room where a collation was served, the white blossoms were arranged in a large centerpiece on the table.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins were recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts including silver and cut glass.

Mr. Collins is connected in business with the Ivers & Pond Piano Company of Cambridge. On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Collins will reside at 49 Marlboro street, Belmont.

MOVING PICTURES AND LIBRARIES

Last Friday, June second, the Newton Group of the Massachusetts Library Club met at the Needham library. Representatives attended from the libraries in Waltham, Watertown, Wellesley, So. Framingham, Newton, and other neighboring towns. The subject for discussion was Moving Pictures. The first speaker was Mrs. George O. Jenkins, of the Education Department of the Mass. State Federation of Women's Clubs. She spoke enthusiastically of moving pictures as a legitimate form of amusement, especially for young people unable to afford expensive entertainment. She emphasized the advantages of attendance at the local theatre, which through cooperation should be kept to a high standard and which was near enough home so that parents could really know where their children were and what they were seeing. The next speaker was Mr. Fisher, Manager of the Newton Opera House, who spoke on the "Business Side" and of the possibilities of cooperation where the exhibitor and publisher work in harmony. Mr. Paul Foster of the Community Motion Picture Bureau spoke next of their methods of cooperating with schools for educational films with clubs for children's entertainments and with churches for Sunday evening services. Miss Frost of the Newton Library described the experiment in Newton, the mistakes that had been made and the conclusions reached as to the right sort of children's entertainment. Miss Horsfall, also of the Newton Library, concluded the program by explaining the methods used in Newton for advertising the children's performance, emphasizing the need of financial support as well as word of mouth approval. An informal discussion of new books followed, after which luncheon was served.

Y. M. C. A. CAMP ASSURED FACT

The final arrangements for the Newton Y. M. C. A. summer camp have been made, and July 6th has been set as the opening date. The camp will be conducted for both boys and young men. The former will be taken care of during the first two weeks while the later session will be open to the latter. The camp is to be situated on a high piece of land on the shore of a beautiful lake named Quacumquasit. The site is ideal for it contains a level piece of land for a campus and baseball diamond, affords a matchless beach for swimming purposes, and offers plenty of opportunity for hikes across country and canoe trips. The facts that the camp is so situated that it can be easily reached by trolley or steam cars, and that the fare will be a small item, ought to help many in deciding to spend their vacations at the camp. The camp will be known as the Frank A. Day camp and will be located in East Brookfield, a few miles outside of Worcester. If you are contemplating sending a boy away for a vacation, you would do well to communicate with the local Y. M. C. A. before making a choice of camps. Any young man could do nothing better than to plan to spend his vacation at this delightful spot.

ENTERTAINED ITALIANS

Last Sunday evening an entertainment was given in the West Newton Congregational Church for the Italian people of West Newton, under the auspices of Immanuel Church Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. About 40 members of the society and church went in a body. There were about 130 Italians present. Among the numbers on the program were some vocal solos which were very pleasingly rendered by Miss Edna Secord. Two of the Italian young men, Joseph Castagnio and Joseph Valenti, played several selections on the mandolin and guitar. Mr. Pitt Parker, the well known "Crayon Wizard" very generously gave his services for the evening, and his entertainment afforded a rare treat for all. Signor Argento, the Italian Minister in West Newton, interpreted Mr. Parker's talk in Italian. Light refreshments were served and a social time enjoyed by all. Miss Fannie Moore was in charge of the arrangements.

CRADLE ROLL PARTY

The annual Cradle Roll party of Central Congregational Church, was held Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy on Kirkstall road, Newtonville. An interesting outdoor program had been arranged which was to be given by the older children of each district, but owing to the showery weather conditions the children were entertained indoors and a part of the program was omitted. "Guess Who We Are", was given by Katherine Sheldon, Preston Sweetser, and Winslow Hartford, who looked very pretty dressed in the costume of the country they represented. "Missionary Mother Goose" by Frances Eddy and Richard Patey, contained pleasing recitations and the children acquitted themselves most creditably. All of the children were under seven and there were about fifty present including the mothers. The party was most enjoyable and successful and was in charge of Miss Isabella W. Puffer assisted by Mrs. George Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Leavens, Miss Mabelle Whitney and Miss Margaret Strong.

POLICE NOTES

The six Armenians who were arrested in the rioting at the striking plants several days ago, were in Police Court Saturday morning. Three of them were charged with assaulting police officers and the other three with assaulting workmen on the way to work. Their cases were continued to Aug. On condition that they keep out of further trouble and endeavor to prevent disturbance at the plant, the judge intimated that they would be discharged Aug. 5. They were held in $300 bonds until that time. Martin Moran, Joseph L. Bird, James Maher, Thomas Delaney and Thomas F. Maher were in court Monday morning, the first four for gaming on the Lord's Day and the last for being present. The men were gambling under an arc light at Newton Corner, when patrolmen Keating and Endergess came along and put a stop to the game and arrested the men. Moran was fined $10, Bird $20, James Maher $15, Delaney $15 and Thomas F. Maher $10. All were given time in which to pay.

PIANO RECITAL

Three pupils of Miss Elsa Leonard gave an enjoyable piano recital last week Thursday evening. The program was rendered by Donald Fleming, Gladys Leacy and Gladys Siebert assisted by Miss Grace Leonard, contralto soloist.

The pupils deserve great credit for their musical expression as well as charm of execution. Miss Grace Leonard has a voice of remarkable range and her selections were sung with taste and expression. The music was followed by refreshments and a social hour.

Regretted His Limitations.

"What are you, anyway?" contemptuously inquired Mrs. Peck during the quarrel; "a man or a mouse?" "A man," answered Henry Peck bitterly. "If I were a mouse I'd have you up on that table now, yelling for help."

FESSENDEN SCHOOL

A class of seventeen seniors took part in graduation exercises at the Fessenden School, West Newton, Wednesday morning, before a large gathering. The school orchestra played several selections and the boys sang. Rev. F. Boyd Edwards of Orange, N. J., addressed the graduates on "Our Destination," and F. J. Fessenden, head of the school, gave out the diplomas.

One of the important features of commencement at Fessenden School is the annual award for prize speaking which took place on Tuesday. First prize was given to Robert McClellan Simonds of Lunenburg, N. S., while honorable mention went to Richardson Brown of Auburndale. Simonds's subject was "The New South", while Brown gave "Gloucester's Soliloquy," from Richard III.

The judges of the speaking were W. C. Boyden, principal of the Boston Normal School, V. D. Hammer of Branford, Conn., and John Porter, Jr., of West Newton.

The gift of the senior class to the school is a tablet in the form of a shield to be placed in the gymnasium and on which athletic records will be inscribed.

Among the boys receiving diplomas were Richard G. Badger, Jr., of Newton and Roger L. Dowd of Newton Centre.

Impossible To Get So Much Motor Car Value For The Money

WE FIND this is the attitude of many people who come into our salesroom—before they know anything about the Maxwell.

Not until the Maxwell is shown and demonstrated to them—until they sit in it and examine the finish—until they ride in it—or perhaps not until they drive it themselves, do they realize what a tremendous value is offered in the Maxwell car.

It is not unusual that Maxwell value should not be known to everyone, because it is uncommon to find such a car for a good margin more than the Maxwell price.

The Maxwell stands absolutely alone in a highly competitive field, for the amount of value it offers for the price.

Appearance—The lines of the Maxwell are decidedly attractive. There is no break in the contour from the radiator to the back of the car. The fenders are gracefully shaped. All metal parts are enameled or nickel-plated. The upholstery is deep and well-finished. From any angle it is a car that the owner can be proud of.

Motor—The engine in the Maxwell car is not equalled by any other four-cylinder engine of its size. And we know of larger and more expensive cars that have less able power plants. The Maxwell-engine carries its load through mud and sand or over the steepest grades without a falter.

Quality—The materials in the Maxwell car are the best that can be bought and the workmanship that turns them into finished parts is no less excellent. It is only the large production of the Maxwell factories that makes it possible to put such quality of materials and workmanship into a car selling at the Maxwell price.

Economy—With its other attractive features, the Maxwell is a most economical car to own. Owners get 22 to 25 miles per gallon of gasoline and 8,000 to 12,000 miles per set of tires. And the car is so durably built that repair expense is negligible.

We are sure you want a car such as we have described the Maxwell to be. If you will give us a few minutes of your time we are sure we can convince you that the Maxwell Car is an exceptional value. Come in today.

NAGLE-HAYDEN

The wedding of Mr. Arthur R. Nagle of Kirkstall road, Newtonville, and Miss Ruth Sara Hayden of Blandford, Mass., took place last Saturday at the Congregational Church of that town, the ceremony being performed at three o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Mylon D. Merchant.

After the ceremony there was a small reception at "Westview," the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella Frances Hayden.

As Miss Hayden entered the church, clad in a modishly short gown of white tulle, trimmed with silver lace, she was preceded by the ushers, her brother-in-law, Henry Boone Congdon of Providence, and Robert A. Nagle of Newtonville, who led the procession, followed by the maid of honor, Miss Florence Trull of Brookline, and then, immediately before her, the matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Henry Boone Congdon of Providence. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Norman C. Nagle, as best man. The conventional tulle veil was worn by the bride, the shorter length one, which fell over the face, being held in place by silver bands and orange blossoms. Her ornament was Mr. Nagle's gift, a platinum brooch set with diamonds and sapphires. Roses and valley lilies formed the shower bouquet carried.

Mrs. Congdon, the matron of honor was in orchid-colored silk and tulle with trimmings of pink roses, with which she carried lavender orchids and wore a picture hat of lavender tulle. The maid of honor wore a frock of pale blue tulle, with lace trimmings, and carried pink and white sweet peas, while a quaint poke bonnet completed the costume. Mrs. Hayden, who gave her daughter in marriage, appeared in black lace, over white satin, and carried lavender sweet peas tied with gauze of the same shade. During the small reception following the church service the newly married couple were assisted in receiving the good wishes of the company by Mrs. Hayden and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Nagle.

The bride is a graduate of Smith College. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and is now associated with his father in the publishing business. LAVENDER SHOWER

A Lavender Shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, 2077 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, on Monday evening, June 5, was tendered to Miss V. Delle Elwell by the Pleasant Hour Class of the Congregational Church and many other friends from Handel and Haydn Society and surrounding towns, who surprised her by their presence with a shower of lavender balls as well as their presents in a lavender boat which suggested "My Ship coming in" loaded with sixty-five useful articles of linen, cut glass, silver, aluminum and a variety of most acceptable gifts. After unloading and rejolcing over sentiments contained, and very vividly showing her appreciation of the kind wishes, she contributed to the pleasure of all by singing two favorite numbers, also contralto songs were rendered by Charlotte Anslow of Mattapan. Myrtle Davis, formerly of Texas, gave some spirited southern airs, with Misses Robin Stewart Gay of Dedham and Gladys Burns Blood of Mendon at the piano, after which a collation from caterer Cushman was enjoyed, and all that had so gladly contributed to the "Pleasant Hour" bade Miss Elwell, a bon voyage on her prospective matrimonial trip.

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Allen J. Saunders, popularly known as "Al" Saunders, of Scranton, Pa., will speak to men at the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Sunday afternoon, June 11, at 4 o'clock. He is one of Mr. Sunday's most wonderful converts, and has a very interesting and unusual story to tell. He is an natural orator, and is making a great impression during his campaign in Greater Boston. No one should miss hearing this most impressive and earnest speaker.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE

"The Old Homestead" will be given its third week at the Castle Square Theatre beginning next Monday. Denman Thompson's famous rural comedy is receiving the usual approval that always greets it in Boston, and the stage settings, the singing by the Old Homestead Quartet and every feature of the performance are contributing to its success. William Lawrence in the leading role of Josh Whitcomb recalls strongly Denman Thompson, and all the Craig Players add to its popularity.

CLASSICAL HIGH SCHOOL

Last Friday morning the three lower classes were excused from the first recitation period, and assembled in the hall. A number of very enjoyable selections were rendered by the school orchestra and the girls' chorus, under the direction of Mr. Walton, instructor of music in the Newton schools. It had been originally planned that a longer concert, consisting of a more elaborate program, would be presented on some evening near the end of the term. However, on account of lack of time and other more important school activities, it was found necessary to give up this affair. Mr. Walton, not wishing to allow the time which the musicians had spent to be wasted, arranged for the entertainment last Friday morning, in order to show the school what the orchestra and chorus have accomplished during the year.

The final meeting of the Junior Class was held Friday at the close of school. President Starkweather was in the chair. After the report of the treasurer had been read and accepted, it was voted to assess each member of the class twenty-five cents, in order that the class might be enabled to follow the previous custom of Junior classes and supply the refreshments for the Senior graduation exercises, which will take place on the afternoon of Saturday, June 17.

The annual girls' field day program was conducted at Claffin Field on the afternoon of Thursday, June 1. This event was, as usual, a great success, and was attended by a very large number of the girls from both schools.

The Columbine, a magazine published by the Junior Class for the purpose of showing the best English work of the pupils, and edited by Miss Elizabeth Carter, will be issued next week. A large number of subscriptions have been received.

Last Friday afternoon the Newton tennis team defeated the Wakefield High School team in five straight sets at the Newton Center tennis courts.

A large number of students attended the baseball game Friday afternoon between Newton and Dorchester, but the contest proved a disappointment in many ways, as the Newton boys walked away with the visitors by a one-sided score of 19 to 2.

This week the Newton team has made two unsuccessful attempts to play the second Triangular League game with Cambridge Latin. Monday afternoon the team made the trip to Cambridge and warmed up for the contest, only to have it postponed at the last minute on account of a heavy rain. The following day the boys again went to Cambridge, but the game was called off on account of wet grounds at the end of the fourth inning, with the Newton team leading, 3 to 0. Coach Dickinson does not know when the game can possibly be played, as his team must disband after next Monday, on account of the Technical School graduation. Should Cambridge defeat Brookline today, the contest could be arranged for Monday, but otherwise that would not be possible.

The team will close its regular season this week, having a game scheduled with Waltham at Waltham this afternoon, and one at Beverly tomorrow. Captain Dick Comick will pitch what may be his final game for the school this afternoon at Waltham, in the hope of again defeating his old rivals. Murphy will probably pitch the closing game tomorrow.

MT. IDA SCHOOL

The Senior Dance on Saturday evening was a very enjoyable social affair and there were about 75 guests present including members of the Senior Class and the Alumnae girls who returned for Commencement.

The dance was held in the Gymnasium hall, which was most attractively adorned in the class colors, purple and gold. Refreshments were served by a caterer in the Red Room and a most delightful musical program was supplied for the dancing by Knight's Orchestra of Newtonville.

There was a large attendance at the service in the chapel Sunday afternoon. Rev. Edward Camp of Watertown preached the baccalaureate sermon at 4 o'clock.

Alumnae Day was observed Wednesday with a meeting in the morning and the Annual Alumnae Banquet was held at the Vendome in the afternoon.

There were about fifty guests present and the banquet was served in a private dining room at the hotel. The decorations were very beautiful: on the table was a large centre piece of purple and yellow pansies and a bouquet of pansies was placed at each cover. The place-cards were hand-painted with pansies. The speakers were members of the Alumnae and included Miss Livingston, Miss Woodling, Miss Merriam, and Mr. Jewett, the principal of the School also gave an address. Miss Livingston was toast-mistress, and Miss Betsy Todd, who is an honorary member, also addressed the class.

The Final Recital was held Thursday afternoon in the Gymnasium and there was a large and appreciative audience. The program included selections by the Glee Club, piano solo by Miss Gladys Copeland, Readings by Miss Frances Brewster, Violin solos by Miss Elizabeth Pace (in Gypsy costume), Piano solo by Miss Ernestine Cole, Songs by Miss Irene Solle, Readings by Miss Martha Fitzgerald, piano solo by Miss Ruth Irish and a group of songs by Miss Wanita Frederick.

The recital was followed by the senior reception which was held in the living-room. In the receiving line with the Senior Class, were Mrs. Jewett and Miss Todd. Refreshments were served by a caterer and Knights Orchestra supplied the music.

The Graduation Exercises were held Wednesday evening. The members of the Senior Class carried baskets of purple and yellow pansies. The address was given by Rev. Mr. Gifford, Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlin, pastor of Immanuel Church offered the prayer and Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot Church gave the benediction. The diplomas were presented by Mr. Jewett, principal of the School.

Mr. Middleton of Aberdeen, Washington State, has been visiting his daughter, Miss Sarah Middleton at Mt. Ida. Among other visitors at Mt. Ida are Mrs. Murray of Rochester, Mrs. Fitzgerald of Chicago and Mrs. Bruning and Miss McLeod of New York city.

NEWTON LOSES

Newton High lost a 10-inning game to Lynn Classical High yesterday afternoon, the Shoe City boys nosing out a 4 to 2 victory by timely hitting in the extra sessions. Lynn, through timely hitting, scored two runs in the first inning. Murphy, the first batter, touched his namesake's offering for a home run. Newton got one in the first and one in the sixth. In the 10th, Evans started with a two-bagger and scored on a single by Murphy. The latter went to third on Cody's single and scored on an error by McNamara.

Further Comments on the Biennial

From out the mass of material gleaned from the Biennial convention it is well nigh impossible to sort it out and to set it forth in an orderly array. Fine speakers followed fine speakers, while mingled with them were, of course, those of lesser degree, until one is hardly more than impressed with the fact. Among the notable addresses of the morning sessions may be mentioned these: Dr. George E. Vincent, President of the University of Minnesota, on "Home Making as a Fine Art"; Frank A. Waugh, Professor of Horticulture, Massachusetts Agricultural College, on "Rural Planning"; Dr. William Norman Guthrie, of New York, on "Foreign Literature and the New Citizen"; Frank Damsch, on "Music Education and Music Culture"; Thomas Mott Osborne, on "Prison Reform"; President Harry Noble MacCracken, on "Vassar on Interstate Commerce in Education"; Governor Charles S. Whitman on "Politics and Public Health"; Miss Julia C. Lathrop on "The Common Sense of Civil Service."

Each evening brought something of special significance. The opening evening has already been mentioned. On Thursday evening delegates, alternates and other visitors to the number of about 14,000 attended the reception tendered them at the Metropolitan Art Museum. Among the vast crowd there were many chance meetings of friends from a distance not possible at any other session, although those who were patient enough to go through the receiving line found it an exceedingly tedious process. The rare beauties of the Museum itself were greatly enjoyed by everyone.

Friday evening came the greetings from the State Presidents from all over the Union with a word of what their respective Federations have been doing. They were called upon in the order of the greatest distance traveled, and Idaho, Tennessee and Wyoming alone of the forty-eight states, Alaska and District of Columbia, failed to respond. There was no convention program arranged for Saturday evening, but those eligible attended the Pioneers' Banquet. Sunday afternoon came the Vesper Service and the memory of the beautiful music will remain long after that or any spoken address can possibly enliven.

A music art and literature evening followed on Monday, when Havrah Hubbard, well-known to Massachusetts, gave his Operaglogue, "The Love of the Three Kings," Henry Turner Bailey of our own city, an address on "Art in Life," in which he humorously set off many of the fashion foibles of the day and left many pertinent hints for reformation. These were followed by the presentation of the play, "Six who pass while the lentils boil," by the Portmanteau Theatre under the direction of Stewart Walker. Memorial day evening was observed appropriately with patriotic addresses by Honorable Thomas S. Crago of Pennsylvania and Hon. William A. Prendergast of New York and the presentation of "The Greatest Thing in the World," the little child by Mrs. Milton S. Lamoreaux of Chicago. President's Evening came on Wednesday with Mrs. Pennybacker in the chair, when Ireland, Poland, Germany, Scandinavia, Bohemia, and Russia, each "came bearing Gifts"—the contributions of their civilization to the New World—presented by natives or the descendants of natives of their respective countries. Hon. Dudley Field Malone in an eloquent address brought out the duty of our country to use these gifts of our fellow citizens.

On Thursday came the crowning evening of all, when after two splendid selections by the Seventh Regiment Band "What Religion has done for the World" was discussed eloquently by Dr. Stephen S. Wise, Father John L. Belford, and Dr. Charles E. Jefferson from the standpoint of the Jew, of the Roman Catholic, and of the Protestant.

And then the presentation of the newly elected officers. Perhaps nothing in the whole convention so touched the audience as did the act of Mrs. Sneath, the unsuccessful candidate for the presidency when she took of the parish by Mr. John S. Alley, chairman of the board of trustees. Mr. Alley spoke as follows: "It is a great pleasure to me to have the opportunity, which this occasion affords of accepting in behalf of the Parish, these memorials to Mrs. Helen Jaynes and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Otis. It is my sincere hope that for a great many years to come, these bells may give great pleasure, not only to all members of this church, but also to all who may hear them, and that when hearing them, they will not only be inspired by the music of the bells, but will also have brought to their minds the thought of the inspiration which they gave to whose memory these chimes are today being dedicated."

Rev. Mr. Jaynes gave an address in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Otis and Rev. Dr. William C. Gannett gave an address in memory of Mrs. Jaynes.

Mr. Jaynes said in part, Mr. and Mrs. Otis were excellent examples of that sent the church with two beautiful bronze tablets which have been placed in the church vestibule.

The chimes were made by the McShane Bell Foundry Co. of Baltimore, and consist of 11 bells, and cost with the clock, about $11,000.

Following are the weights and tones of the bells, and the inscriptions which they respectively bear:

1st Tenor Bell "D," 3050 lbs.
My tongue shall tell of the Fatherhood of God.
2nd Bell, "E," 2050 lbs.
My voice shall prophesy of the Brotherhood of Man.
3rd Bell, "F sharp," 1500 lbs.
I speak of the saving power of the good life.
4th Bell, "G," 1250 lbs.
I proclaim the freedom of the mind to think and of the soul to worship.

QUALITY GOODS

Perhaps you believe that you can obtain better goods by buying your table supplies out of town, but we know it is impossible. Perhaps you believe that you can save money by doing so, but we can prove it is impossible. You do know it is mighty inconvenient. You do know that, owing to the time in transit, that the fruit and vegetables are wilted, that the meats are slimy and sticky, and that on the whole they present anything but an inviting and appetizing appearance. And then when you find that you have forgotten the yeast cake or the bread or some other small article, you impose upon good nature by giving this unprofitable trade to your local man, while your "profitable trade" goes elsewhere. The local man is proverbially good natured, but, nevertheless, while filling your rush order, he does some thinking, and wonders where fairness or justice enters into the deal.

Real Quality Goods—excelled by none—are sold by us—and sold at prices as low here as anywhere. Service and attention is courteous, and deliveries are promptly made. Think it over.

BE FAIR. BE JUST. TRADE AT HOME.

The Great Secret of Achievement

By ORISON SWETT MARDEN.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

A cobbler, when asked how long it takes to become a good shoemaker, answered, "Six years—and then you must travel." That cobbler had the artist soul. I told a friend the story, and he asked another cobbler the same question: "How long does it take to become a good shoemaker?" "All your life, sir." That was still better—he was a Michel Angelo of shoes!

Persistence is characteristic of all men who have accomplished anything great. They may lack in some other particular, have many weaknesses or eccentricities, but the quality of persistence is never absent from a successful man. No matter what opposition he meets or what discouragements overtake him, he is always persistent. Drudgery cannot disgust him, obstacles cannot discourage him, labor cannot weary him. He will persist, no matter what comes or what goes; it is a part of his nature. He could almost as easily stop breathing.

Money, position, influence—these are no match for energy and perseverance. With what delight we read Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter," probably the most powerful romance that ever came from an American pen. It seems impossible that such beauty of diction, such facility of expression and delicacy of touch could be elaborated by any amount of drudgery. But the notebooks of this shy and most bashful of mortals reveal the secret of his genius. Drudgery, drudgery, drudgery, is written all over his efforts. Nothing was too trivial for record in his notes. Everything he saw or heard or touched or felt was imprisoned in his notebook and compelled to pay tribute to his fiction.

Thousands of men have been failures in life, because they did not go quite far enough. They did not quite learn a trade to the point of efficiency; in other words, they stopped just this side of success.

The patent office in Washington is full of contrivances which are almost successes; if the inventors had had the persistence to hold on a little longer, they might have achieved the longed-for success and died rich instead of poor.

A poor boy started out, determined to visit every office and place of business until he found a situation, no matter how long it might take. After persisting in this for a time which would have utterly discouraged most boys, he called at an office, where he was told they never took boys who had had no experience, and was asked who sent him there.

The old gentleman was so pleased at the boy's pluck when he told him that he was calling at every office and should continue to do so until he found a situation, that he told him to go home and write him a letter in his best hand, and he would see what he could do for him. Many a boy has lost a situation by bad handwriting, bad spelling, or an unbusinesslike letter. But this boy's letter was neat, concise and intelligent, and he got the situation. He proved valuable and has been with the firm ever since.

Keep at it, whatever your work may be, with a dogged determination. Set your teeth and say, "I will." Let your motto be, "Tenacity of purpose!" When you hear it, it should act on you as the bugle call does on a war horse.

Failure is the final test of persistence and of an iron will; it either crushes a life or solidifies it. If you have not this persistence by nature, you must cultivate it. With it you can succeed, you can make difficulties bend, you can make opposition give way, doubt and hesitancy yield to confidence and assurance. Without it the more shining qualities of nature will not insure your success, and will very likely bring nothing but failure.

It is lesson after lesson with the scholar, blow after blow with the laborer, crop after crop with the farmer, picture after picture, and mile after mile with the traveler, that secures what all so much desire.

Why Onion Cures Cold.

To eat a raw onion is an old remedy for curing a cold, and many have found that it works well in practice. But why the onion should possess this curative property few have taken the time to ascertain; in fact, not one in a hundred can give the exact reason or reasons. Some may say that the smell drives the cold away, but that is frivolous.

There is an oil found in the onion, chives, radish and horseradish that plays an important part in curing the cold. This oil and the sulphur which is also contained in these plants have a deadly effect upon the harmful germs that flourish in various parts of the body and are the chief cause of the common cold.

Follow the Worm.

A Harvard professor, experimenting with the intelligence of a worm, has discovered that the wriggling invertebrate knows enough, after three trials, to avoid a path that leads to an electric shock and to take the road that leads to comfort.

But veritate man will follow the lane to disaster time after time. He knows that it is the way to ruin. He knows that discomfort and disease lie at the end, but with that splendid gift of reason and free will, with which he is endowed, he lets the crawling things of the earth prove their superior wisdom.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

THE GENERAL FEDERATION

Having attended my first Biennial during these last ten days in New York, I feel impelled to register briefly my impressions.

The gathering was notable for its size, its orderliness and its earnest consideration of civic problems. Not even the most sensational reporter could extract material for a single "cocky" story. The few attempts to do so aroused merely derisive smiles from the delegates.

The speakers were of national and international fame, and were given closest attention. Civics in its many phases easily took precedence, and over and over again, quite spontaneously, the need and value of women's entrance as a moral force into the political field, was emphasized by the speakers.

In such a representative gathering, composed of chosen delegates from the clubs in every state in the Union, one felt indeed as an atom, and realized fully the folly of "squinting" at our problems at too close range, without proper perspective.

The retiring president, Mrs. Percy Pennybacker, presided in a wonderful way, winning, yet forceful; firm, yet gentle. The newly-chosen president, Mrs. Joseph Evans Cowles of California, will I am sure, do her part in preserving the high tradition of her office. Many erroneous ideas are being circulated as to her principles. As the writer knows her personally, having visited in her home during my college days, I feel safe in saying she is thoroughly reliable in disposition and deportment, in attainments and purposes. The statement has been made frequently that she is not a suffragist. She is a suffragist of the best type, not a single-track suffragist, but a broad-minded suffragist deeply interested in many phases of social reform and an officer in many civic organizations in her own state. Moreover, she is young enough to shoulder the burdens of such an office easily, and will, her friends feel sure, "make good."

The Biennial meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs is a thing of the past. Contrast it for a moment with the noisy riotous gathering now taking place in Chicago, in which men are emphasized more than measures; in which social welfare seems relegated to the background and both parties vie with each other in focusing public attention upon a present-day problem, without once expressing civic idealism.

To what wonderful fruitfulness has the tiny seedling planted less than fifty years ago, in the founding of the first clubs, New England Woman's Club and Sorosis, grown! Then considered a dangerous social experiment, the last word in Feminism—now a living force for moral reform, felt in every city and hamlet of the United States. And the woman's club is only at the beginning of its usefulness, if it will but see its opportunity for civic work.

LASELL COMMENCEMENT

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday were busy days this week at Lasell, with the Baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Dr. Edwin C. Bolles of Tufts College on Sunday. Class Day exercises on Monday.

Class Day exercises were about the same as in previous years, although marred by the inclement weather. The evening program included an address of welcome by Miss Francis M. Harris, the class president, the reading of the roll by Miss Adolphia Garney, singing of the class song by Miss Hallie Dickie and reading of an original poem by Miss Naomi Bradley. The gift of the class to the school was a library set of table, couch and three chairs.

The girls then formed for the annual pilgrimage of farewell. They were accompanied by the juniors, each bearing a lighted torch, as escorts. At Cushman Hall the farewell speech was made by Miss Ruth Bochner of Malvern, Ia., while at Carpenter Miss Marie Saxton of Oneonta, N. Y., and at Gardner Miss Dorice Lord of Lawrence led the ceremonies.

The return march was then made to the Crow's Nest, beside the administration building, where the seniors bade farewell to this gathering spot sacred to the seniors alone and presented it to the members of the junior class. The girls then assembled at the fire on the campus where each graduate burned the thing held most dear and the thing most disliked which she had encountered during the four years in school, in accordance with a time-honored custom.

Commencement exercises were held Tuesday morning in the Auburndale Congregational Church, the program including musical numbers by Prof. H. M. Dunham, organist, Prof. A. E. Goldstein, violin, and Miss Florence Johnson, contralto. Rev. F. N. Peabody, pastor, presided, and pronounced the benediction. The address to the graduates was given by President Mary E. Woolley of Mt. Holyoke college on "The Challenge of Tomorrow." Dr. Guy M. Winslow the principal then presented diplomas to the 53 graduates of the school.

One of the important features of a Lasell graduation is the annual announcement of the prize winners for the year, which was made that morning at chapel services. No honor is more coveted than the tiny, gold leaf awarded for excellence in bread-making in a school where domestic science plays so important a part.

This honor went to Carita Palmer of McLean, Ill., while a silver loaf, or second prize, was given Helen Overholser of Claremont, Cal., and honorable mention to the Misses Pauline Ray of Somerville and Katherine Dearborn of Nashua, N. H.

VOCATIONAL HIGH SCHOOL

SMITH-STUART

A notable society event of the past week was the wedding on Saturday of Miss Evelyn Campbell Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rollin Stuart of Newton Centre, and Mr. Francis Seifert Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Smith of Waban.

The ceremony took place at the First Congregational Church and was performed at 8 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Edward MacArthur Noyes.

The Stuart residence on Ward street was beautifully decorated for the occasion by Galvin; a pink and white color motif was carried out to perfection in all of the rooms, and also at the church. The chancel was artistically decorated with pink Killarney roses, white lilies, peonies and a background of palms and greenery, and baskets of pink roses were hung at the entrance to the pews.

As the bridal party entered, Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin and the Mendelssohn Wedding march, were played by the organist, who also gave a delightful program as the guests were assembling.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was very charming in an exquisite wedding gown of ivory white satin and tulle, with point lace, and court train, and wore a tulle veil fastened with a bandeau of orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was a full shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Smith of Newton Centre, as maid of honor, who was very attractively gowned in blue silk and tulle with silver trimmings and carried pink Killarney roses.

There were four bridesmaids gowned alike in pink silk with silver trimmings and carrying large baskets of lavender and pink sweet peas. They included Mrs. Harold Gordon, a recent bride, of Newton Centre; Miss Muriel Dowley of Newton Centre; Miss Adelaide Keyes of New York city; and Miss Mildred Child of Troy, New York.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. Albert Vinal, Williams '14, of South Weymouth, as best man and the ushers included Messrs. Sherwood Smith, brother of the bridegroom of Waban; Page Brown of Auburndale, Calvin Smith, John R. Stuart, 3rd, brother of the bride, and Stanley Merrill, of Newton Centre, Norman DuBois, Williams '14, of Montclair, N. J., George Smith, Williams '14, of White River Junction, Vermont, and Frederick Pillsbury, Williams '14, of Springfield. A large and brilliant reception was held at the bride's residence immediately after the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Smith were assisted in receiving by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart and Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Mrs. Stuart was beautifully gowned in pale blue French tulle with trimmings of hand-embroidered silver lace, and Mrs. Smith wore a handsome gown of orchid colored satin with lace trimmings.

Refreshments were served in a large 50 ft. tent with a canopied entrance from the porte cochere; the interior of the tent was decorated in pink and white with lilies and peonies, and Hoppe's Orchestra of Malden, furnished the music. The wedding gifts were displayed in the billiard-room in the upper part of the house. The bride who is popular in the social set of Newton is a graduate of Miss Bennett's School, at Milbrook, N. Y., and the bridegroom is a graduate of Williams College, class of '14, a well-known athlete, and is associated in business with the firm of C. B. Smith and Brother, wholesale grocers, in Boston.

On their return from a month's wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Smith will reside in Newton. About 275 guests of social prominence were present at the reception, from New York, Boston, Brookline, Montclair, N. J., Springfield, Troy, Weymouth and the Newtons.

WALTHAM LADS INJURED

A serious automobile accident took place late Saturday afternoon on Walnut street near Watertown street, Newtonville, when an automobile in which Arnold Anderson and Frank Cornwell of Waltham, turned turtle, badly injuring Anderson and bruising Cornwell. Anderson, who is an automobile salesman, was driving the machine along Walnut street down the grade which is followed by an upgrade which leads to Watertown street. As nearly all autoists do, Anderson was pushing the machine at a good rate of speed down the hill to gain speed for the short hard climb up the next slope.

When half way down the grade, a rear tire blew out. Anderson put on the emergency brake and the machine, running over a slippery road made dangerous by the rain, began to skid. It turned turtle three times, crashed into the flower shop owned by George W. Harris and came to rest upside down with the two occupants beneath it.

Anderson received a broken right arm cuts and contusions about the head and face. He was bleeding at the ears and it is believed that he has internal injuries.

Anderson was taken to the Newton Hospital where he was unconscious for several hours.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The General Court was finally prorogued last Friday evening, after one of the shortest sessions for many years.

Its work has been fairly good, as a whole, altho it might have done much better on many needed reforms. The income tax legislation is easily the most important and ought to be a step in the right direction. Its workings will be under the direction of Tax Commissioner Trefrey, who has the respect of everyone and who can be depended upon to enforce the new law without fear or favor. Newton will be in the Middlesex-Suffolk tax district for which three deputies will have to be appointed.

Another important piece of legislation was the referendum for a constitutional convention to be taken at the state election this fall. As there is little doubt of favorable action on the matter, it may be assumed that the convention will be held in the summer of 1917. Besides this referendum on the state ballot there will be statewide referendums on making January 1st a legal holiday and on repealing the abolition of party enrolment and there will be a local referendum for Newton on accepting the matter of preferential voting at municipal elections in this city.

The Legislature has also passed the bill introduced by vote of the aldermen of Newton and drafted by City Solicitor Bishop to prohibit the transportation of liquors into No License communities except by licensed express men. This is now in effect, altho it will probably be several weeks before its practical operation can be noted.

The Legislature carried out several of Governor McCall's recommendations in regard to consolidating commissions, and substituted a supervisor of administration for the present commission on Efficiency and Economy, of which Mr. Thomas W. White of Upper Falls is a member. It is rumored that the Governor is liable to appoint Mr. White, who is by far the best man on the present Commission, as the new supervisor of administration.

One of the last acts of the General Court was to establish a new method of distributing the taxes received on the stock of certain public service corporations and which hitherto have been credited to the cities and towns where the stockholders of the various companies resided. The new plan hits the wealthier municipalities quite heavily, Brookline losing over $64,000, and Newton losing $13,970.31. All three of our representatives voted for an amendment to postpone the effect of the law until next year, but were badly defeated. The new law is but a final extension of a movement begun some ten or twelve years ago to divert corporation taxes from the domicile of the stockholder to the state or to the municipality where the corporation had its place of business. Newton formerly received an income of over $150,000 from this form of taxation.

THE NEAGLE CASE AGAIN

Aldermen Refuse to Recognize Claim for Back Salary

The session of the aldermen on Monday evening lasted to well beyond midnight and was marked by another discussion of the well worn Neagle case.

President Blanchard was in the chair and the only members absent were Aldermen Cobb and Early.

A majority report was received from the Committee on Claims and Rules recommending leave to withdraw on the claim of Police Officer Neagle for back salary.

Alderman Murphy reviewed the history of the case, and stated that on the facts presented before the Committee he believed Mr. Neagle had a lawful claim and should be paid the amount asked for. He stated that both the present City Solicitor, Mr. Bishop, and the late Solicitor, Mr. Slocum had stated that the man was legally a member of the Police Force and had never been legally discharged. Mr. Murphy requested permission to question the Solicitor regarding the matter. Alderman Clark opposed this request, believing that any questions which might be asked now, would be likely to embarrass the Solicitor in case the matter was brought before the Courts. Aldermen Alley, Allen, Forknall and Price also opposed the request, believing that all questions regarding the case should be answered by the Solicitor in private and not in open meeting.

Alderman Harriman suggested that Alderman Murphy be permitted to interrogate the Solicitor, on the condition that the Solicitor should refuse to answer questions which might embarrass him in any way. The Board then voted to permit the Solicitor to be questioned on this condition.

Alderman Murphy's questions were as follows:

Did the Chief of Police have any authority to discharge Patrolman Neagle without the written approval of Mayor Hatfield? Answer: In my opinion

Chief Mitchell had no right to discharge Officer Neagle, the sole right of removal being with the Mayor.

Question: Did Officer Neagle ever cease to be a member of the Police Force? Answer: In my opinion, no.

Question: I would like to know whether or not the Mayor as the appointing officer has the right to reappoint an officer who has been discharged within one year? In answer to this question the City Solicitor quoted Rule 31 of the Civil Service Commission, which is as follows:

"After application to and consent of the Commission, and within one year from the date of resignation, dismissal, discharge or suspension, an appointing officer may reinstate in the same position, or in a position in the same class and grade, any person who has resigned, or who has been dismissed, discharged or suspended or separated from the service without fault or delinquency on his part, from a permanent position legally held by him in the First Division, Official Service; provided, that the Commission may, because of sickness or other good cause shown, allow reinstatement after one year and provided, further, that a person who has been separated from the service because of fault or delinquency on his part shall not be eligible for reinstatement."

Question: Is Officer Neagle in your opinion a member of the Police Force? Answer: In my opinion, yes.

Alderman Harriman: Is this case a close case, as to whether or not the Chief of Police has the right to discharge or not and may good lawyers differ on it? Answer: I think many lawyers do differ as to the merits of this case. It is what is called as a close case.

Alderman Clark: Do you think the matter was presented to the Civil Service Commission in a fair way? Answer: I assume so. I understand

44 Diplomas Presented at Graduating Exercises

The graduating exercises of the class of 1916 were held in the assembly hall last Friday evening in the presence of a large number of parents and friends.

The program opened with music by the school orchestra, followed by prayer by Rev. W. C. Gordon. The address of welcome was given by Alger M. MacCreedy, president of the class. Mr. Frank V. Thompson, assistant superintendent of the Boston public schools, gave an intensely interesting address. The Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs also furnished music throughout the program.

At the close of the exercises a large number took the opportunity to inspect the work of the pupils which was on exhibition.

Mayor Childs then presented diplomas to forty-four graduates, as follows:—

GARDEN THE DANSANT

Brilliant Society Event for Benefit of Stearns School Centre

The leading social function of the week was the Garden The Dansant, which was held Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the Stearns School Centre.

This annual event for charity, which attracted several hundred members of Newton's best society, was held on the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Ferrin, one of the exceptionally large and beautiful estates for which Newton is noted. Situated on Hunnewell Hill, along the banks of the river, it commands a fine view of the surrounding country and made a most charming and ideal setting for this pretentious affair.

The handsome and impressive looking house stands on an elevation overlooking the spacious and ornamental grounds, attractive lawns of fine green velvet turf, and gardens where old fashioned flowers predominate in a wealth of beauty. Observed from the spacious verandas, the view was most picturesque, and nothing short of an actual visit can afford an adequate idea of the charm of this beautiful place, which never looked lovelier than on this fine June day when "old Sol" showed his approval by condescending to shine brightly for the occasion. With the added attraction of excellent live music by Handley's Orchestra of fifteen musicians, each one of whom was an artist in his line, every prestige of the gloom of the preceding stormy days was dispelled. The tennis grounds, where the Dansant was held were reached by a narrow flower embowered pathway leading thru the artistically laid out grounds to the terraces below.

The court was covered with a very fine canvas, one of the best ever made for dancing, which was furnished by Bock Brothers of Cambridge, especially for this occasion.

More than one hundred tables were arranged around the court, at which refreshments were served by attractively gowned young ladies.

Dancing was the central attraction of this interesting scene, and the program included exhibition dancing by Frances Purcell and Melba Concanon from Madame Paporello's School of aesthetic dancing; "duet dance," "Flirtation Polka" and "Leave Dance Igor," and a demonstration of the fox-trot and one-step, by Mr. Chamberlain and Miss Pauline Chamberlain of Brookline.

The delightful affair was arranged by the Finance Committee of the Stearns School Centre, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frank M. Ferrin; the committee included Mrs. William Estabrook Jones, Mrs. Sydney Harwood, Mrs. William Hermon Allen, Mrs. Edward E. Hopkins, Mrs. Benjamin W. Fredericks, Mrs. Edward Kimball Hall, Mrs. Atherton Clark, Mrs. A. P. Carter and Mrs. Samuel W. Bridges, Mrs. Henry D. Lloyd, Mrs. Eben H. Ellison.

They were assisted by the ladies serving on the other committees which included Mrs. Charles Nicholas Young, Mrs. Ralph Angier, Mrs. John R. Simpson, Mrs. Harry B. Stebbins, Mrs. Walter H. Holbrook, Miss Lucy Cobb, Miss Louise Gilman, Miss Henrietta Fredericks and Miss Ethel Gilman, Mrs. William Hollings and Mrs. Leland Powers.

EDITORIAL

While those of us who know the ability and capability of Senator John W. Weeks, are somewhat disappointed at the action of the Republican National Convention in nominating Charles E. Hughes for President, there is no question but what the Republican party has presented a high grade ticket in Hughes and Fairbanks, and one that will sweep the country next November. Mr. Hughes has long been a favorite in New England and his attitude during the past few weeks has strengthened and confirmed the confidence which we all feel in his courage, discretion and ability.

Several of our prominent residents are greatly interested in the plan to set back the clocks one hour during the summer months. We are such creatures of habit and live so close to the clock that it will probably make but little difference to the vast majority, whether eight o'clock in the morning comes three hours or only two hours after the sun rises.

The action of the aldermen in definitely refusing to approve the claim of David Neagle for back salary as a police officer will probably ensure a Supreme Court decision as to Neagle's status as a police officer, and that is the only kind of decision which will satisfy residents of this city.

Newton has a habit of furnishing presidential candidates, college presidents and presidents of Chambers of Commerce. Next!

NONANTUM SQUARE

That the interest taken in the problem of Nonantum square is widespread was manifested last evening when over a hundred ladies and gentlemen met at the lecture room of the Library on invitation of the Planning Board to consider plans for improvement.

Mr. Vernon B. Swett, secretary of the Board, presented Mr. J. B. Jamieson, president of the Newton Improvement Society, who in turn introduced Mr. Charles E. Gibson, chairman of the board. Mr. Gibson gave way for a brief but interesting talk by Mr. A. A. Shurtleff illustrated by stereopticon of work and plans for similar improvements in Belmont, Weston and Norwood.

Mr. Gibson said the Planning Board had studied this matter for two years and wanted all the help possible. They had received 72 replies to their recent inquiry, 38 wanted the triangle cut down in some manner 18 wanted the apex of the triangle removed, 13 suggested a new street along the railroad, 3 wanted all the triangle taken, 24 suggested removal of fire station, 15 wanted an island in the square, 6 proposed subways for street cars, 5 would loop the bank building, 7 would make a loop thru Pearl, and Bacon streets, 7 would loop the Nonantum building, 3 would raise Cole's block and 3 would make no change at all.

Mr. Gibson said that less than 5% of the vehicular traffic stopped in the square; that the transfer point ought to be east on the Boston side of the square and that radical treatment seems necessary if conditions 25 years hence are to be considered.

Prof. H. H. Powers protested against increasing the distances across the square saying that present conditions were serious enough for pedestrians, and suggesting that too much attention was being paid the automobilists. Mr. Gibson said that the thru automobile traffic was a menace to the square and of no advantage to the merchants. A suggestion to cover over and use the space occupied by the railroad between Centre and Washington street bridges had been considered but the cost of $5 a foot was prohibitive.

Mr. F. O. Stanley criticized the "idiotic traffic rules now in force in the square and suggested that all the trouble would be solved if sensible traffic rules were adopted. He raised a laugh when he related an incident happening in the square and said "I was going very slowly as I always do." He also suggested a pavilion in the square for the benefit of street car patrons.

Prof. Powers spoke for the pedestrians and said that more numerous than automobiles and said that no plan could relieve the nervous strain while passing thru the square. He wanted the cars taken out of the square and suggested that the M. & B. cars leave Washington street at the old armory, pass down an inclined plane side of the railroad wall, under Centre street by a tunnel, coming out near the engine house and either tunnelling Washington street or crossing at grade to reach a transfer point in the rear of Nonantum block, where the Elevated cars would also be diverged.

Mr. J. W. French said the trouble was all caused by standing Middlesex cars in the square but if you took them out you would interfere with business and reduce taxable values, similar to what has taken place at Harvard square.

Mr. W. H. Mague suggested the plan outlined in Mayor Childs inaugural address of carrying the Middlesex cars to the junction of Park and Tremont streets where the transfer point should be located.

Remarks were also made by Messrs. H. D. Lloyd, C. H. Scovill, J. P. R. Sherman, C. V. Moore and Alderman Kendrick.

A series of test votes were taken, some of which contradicted each other, favorable votes being as follows:

That the meeting endorse the efforts of the Planning Board to improve conditions in the square.

That the solution of the problem is to divert vehicular traffic from the square.

That the M. & B. cars should be removed from the square (A vote to remove all cars from the square having been previously taken and defeated by a large majority)

That the Planning Board should favor increasing the free area of the square.

That the Planning Board have a synopsis made of plans suggested and submit them to residents of Wards 1 and 7 with opportunity to vote on the same.

Why Put Off Painting?

You buy new shoes when the old ones fail to protect your feet or when they look shabby. Why do you put off painting when the weather eats into your house or your house has that run-down-at-the-heel look? It's good judgment to paint now with and pure linseed oil. Such paint is an armor-like protection against decay—tough, elastic, non-cracking, lasting.

CHILDREN'S SUNDAY.

Children's Day was observed Sunday at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, and a very attractive program was presented for the Sunday School.

It included chorus singing, a Baptismal service, and a special sermon for children by the pastor, Rev. J. Edgar Park. There was a presentation of Bibles to the Primary graduates, and pictures to the kindergarten graduates, and rewards for efficiency were presented by Mr. Charles Swain Thomas, superintendent of the Sunday School.

The chancel was beautifully decorated with flowers for the occasion, and a floral arch was arranged in the center aisle under which the long procession of children marched.

The graduates from the Primary Department included Marjorie Fales, Eleanor Hartel, Eleanor Moynihan, Anna May Palmer, Rosemary Park, Sydney White, Barbara Jack, Marion Andrews, Shirley Eddy, Catherine Fuller, Randall Stratton, Elizabeth Retan, Bessie Moore, Chester McRae, Everett Cushman, George Thomas, Eleanor Macomber, Warren Rodgers, Harold Thompson, Hubert Jenkins, Reginald Carey, Donald Dewire, Neal Lovell, Marshall Dwinell, Guy Holbrook and William Moffett.

The graduates from the Kindergarten were Allen Campbell, Rico Argento, John Cole, Norman Dewire, Emerson Harvey, Lloyd Taylor, Wendell Richardson, Elinor Jack, Elizabeth Moynihan and Dorothy Newton.

The service was very interesting and there was an exceptionally large attendance.

VIOLIN RECITAL OF MISS ELIZABETH FYFFE

On Sunday afternoon, June 11th, Miss Elizabeth Fyffe presented her pupil, Miss Irene Forte, in a violin recital at the Peirce School, West Newton, the Headquarters of the West Newton Music School, of which Miss Fyffe is the Director. Miss Forte was assisted by a piano pupil of Miss Fyffe, Miss Edith Rae; and by Miss Alma La Palme, violoncello. Miss Lillian G. West, who is head of the Piano Department of the School, added greatly to the effect of the very artistic playing of Miss Forte and Miss La Palme by her masterly playing of the accompaniments. The ensemble work of Miss Rae and Miss Forte was excellent, both young ladies showing real musicianship in their interpretation and technique. Miss Forte has been a pupil of Miss Fyffe in the West Newton Music School for six years, and the occasion was in the nature of a graduating recital for her. About three hundred people were present and carried away an impression of the real promise of Miss Fyffe's pupils, and of their very excellent training.

that there was some correspondence between the Executive and the Solicitor and the Commission and the Commission requested that Mr. Slocum's opinion be forwarded. This was done and the Commission notified the City that the incident was closed.

Ald. Clark: Is there any doubt in your mind as to the guilt of the officer? Answer: That is a question of fact and not law.

Ald. Clark: Have we the right to appropriate money for the back pay of this officer? Answer: Assuming that my opinion of the case is correct, you have.

Ald. Murphy: Under the Charter of the City of Newton has the Board of Aldermen or any individual anything to say as to the conduct of any member of the police Department?

Answer: The question of removal and appointment to the Police Department rests wholly with the Executive. The Board of Aldermen have no right to take steps in the appointment or removal, or even to suggest a name or punishment.

Ald. Forknall: Is the present Mayor giving a hearing to Officer Neagle and would him guilty of the offense, would not that prevent him from being reinstated under the rule of the Civil Service Commission? Answer: It would seem that it would, but notwithstanding that they agreed to his reinstatement.

Ald. Forknall: Was not the City Solicitor's opinion the basis on which they acted? Answer: I cannot say as to what ground they took. They had the opinion of the Solicitor which had been written some little time before.

Ald. Alley: I would like to ask if the statement of the Solicitor was not written before the Mayor had his hearing? Answer: I do not remember the date of the opinion. I should assume that it was before, but am not sure.

Ald. Allen: Has the Board a legal right to appropriate money for this purpose if there is a reasonable doubt as to whether the man is legally a member of the force? Answer: Where there is question of liability I think the Board can exercise judgment as to whether they will recognize the liability or not. The same question arises in an accident case where there is a question of liability and the Board may appropriate a sum to get rid of the case.

President Blanchard: In your opinion did it make any difference legally whether or not Mayor Hatfield signed the discharge. If he assented to the discharge verbally, does it legally make any difference? Answer: It makes all the difference in the world. The Mayor must discharge. He cannot delegate his authority.

Alderman Kendrick: What will be the situation providing there is a negative vote on the claim and the matter is dropped and not brought before the Courts? Answer: Just the same as it is tonight.

Alderman Hollis stated that there had been considerable feeling regarding this case in the past, feeling that should be forgotten and the case decided on its merits. The Solicitor was of the opinion that the man was legally a member of the force. After the hearing by His Honor the Mayor, the man had been recognized as a member of the force by the Comptroller and by the Chief of Police. He stated that the man had been a member of the force for 17 years, and the time of his appointment passed the physical examination with a mark of 100 per cent. His record has been A-1 with this one exception. He trusted that the Board would consider the case entirely on its merits as a lawful claim.

Alderman Harriman stated that he agreed in many respects with the remarks of Alderman Hollis but was obliged to reach a different conclusion. The Solicitor has given an opinion that the man is legally a member of the force, but at the same time says that it is a very close question. In cases where there is such a close question he believed it should be left to the proper tribunal for settlement, and for this reason he believed the report of the Committee should be accepted.

Alderman Kendrick stated that as a new member of the Board and not being familiar with conditions at the outset of the case he had been able to approach the matter with a perfectly open mind. This claim differed from most claims against the City there being an element of justice which should be recognized. The question he believed hinged on the correct interpretation of the Charter, and it seemed to him perfectly clear from the Charter that the Mayor has the sole power of removal.

Alderman Clark stated that he was glad that the new members could face this question with an open mind, but that he could not forget that a man wearing the uniform of a Police Officer of the City of Newton deliberately walked across the line from his own city and night after night robbed the milk belonging to citizens of a neighboring town. Neither could he forget that the man was caught in the act and that the only thing that saved him from arrest and probable imprisonment was the fact that our own Chief of Police took the matter in his hands and promised to deal with him. Under the decision of the City Solicitor at that time, the Chief had the right to discharge the man and the Mayor backed him up. If it was illegal, it is simply a technical matter because the Mayor did fully intend that the discharge should stand. I cannot forget these things in considering this matter and I frankly confess that right or wrong I stand against countenancing anything of this character in the City of Newton. I cannot forget the absolute disregard of Mayor Childs for the discipline of the Police Department of the City of Newton. By this act he absolutely robbed the Chief of Police of discipline of that force. This may be pretty harsh language. I think it was done without any consideration of the results and cannot help regard the matter from all its points.

Alderman Hollis: I think the new members understand now why I appeal to them to get the right point of view in this matter. What the citizens of Newton think of Mayor Childs was shown conclusively at the last election.

Alderman Alley stated that he had been told by Ex-Mayor Hatfield that he had not only approved of the discharge of Officer Neagle, but went to Mr. Slocum and asked if he could not delegate to the Chief of Police his powers in the matter as he did not want to be bothered with it, and the Solicitor told him he could. He not only heartily approved of the Chief's action, but appointed another man to take Neagle's place.

Alderman Winslow stated that he believed he was correctly informed that Mr. Slocum stated that the Chief of Police was competent to conduct a hearing and dismiss the officer. I believe I am also correct in saying that the then Mayor did approve of the discharge, and that he told those who had asked for the reinstatement of the officer, that if the discharge was not legal, he would hold another hearing and then fire him.

Upon question of Alderman Forknall, the Comptroller of Accounts stated that Mr. Neagle's name had been on the payroll since May 1, 1916.

Alderman Hollis inquired if it was not because of the injunction that he was not paid before, to which the Comptroller replied in the affirmative. He also inquired if the Comptroller would have paid him if the injunction was not brought, to which the Comptroller also answered yes.

In answer to further questions the Comptroller stated that Mr. Neagle's name appeared on payroll for week ending August 1, 1914, and then not until May 1, 1916, the name being added after dismissal of the injunction.

Alderman Cole, Hapgood and Allen also spoke in favor of leaving the matter to be decided by the courts, inasmuch as it appeared to be a close question.

The report of the Committee was then accepted and Officer Neagle granted leave to withdraw, Aldermen Murphy, McCarthy, Bentley, Kendrick and Hollis dissenting.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

Biennial Business

One might go on indefinitely with accounts of morning sessions and evening sessions, of conferences and department luncheons, of outings and garden parties and receptions and other by-products of the Biennial and soon the whole story would not be told, in fact it never can be told and it is better that something should be left to the imagination. If the Club Editor has in any measure whetted the appetite of those who did not go to New York, so that they will want to go next time, then her labors have not been in vain.

There are certain features which have not been touched upon that deserve mention. On Friday evening, State Presidents' Night, the Founders and those upon the Honor Roll of the Endowment Fund were represented upon the platform. To be a Founder one must have contributed or have had contributed in her name the sum of $500. To be upon the Honor Roll the club or individual must have contributed $100. Massachusetts had three "Founders," Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Alvin R. Bailey and Mrs.
J. Malcolm Forbes, the two former having passed away and the latter not being present, no one rose when the names were called; but several of the Newton organizations and individuals whose names are upon the Roll of Honor responded as they were called.
Among them may be mentioned Mrs.
Francis E. Stanley, Mrs. Willard S.
Higgins, Mrs. W. A. Beedle, and Miss Jessie M. Fisher.

A number of receptions, and teas were tendered delegates by State delegations for the purpose of presenting their respective candidates. None was more attractive nor more largely attended than that given by the Massachusetts delegation in the Rose room of Hotel Astor on Sunday afternoon from five until seven in honor of Miss Georgie A. Bacon, who was then candidate for and later elected first vice-president. A feature of the one tendered by California in honor of Mrs. Cowles was the music by Hawaiian musicians.

The business of the convention was acted upon by piecemeal during the first hour of each morning and finally completed at a long all-the-morning session on the closing day. The chief items included extensive revision of the by-laws, the action on the recommendations presented by Mrs. Pennywacker in her report and of various resolutions brought in by the different departments of work relative to measures in which they were interested.
Among these may be mentioned further work for the Americanization of the immigrant, particularly the woman, a study of the women of Latin America and the urging of a big congress of women of both Americas in 1920. The movement to make the Laurel the national flower was endorsed. A commission was ordered to make a survey of the whole moving picture situation in the country and to co-operate with the manufacturers.

Other resolutions included the indorsement of a continuous effort to improve conditions of rural life, the introduction of kindergartens into the public school system of the country, and the employment of modern methods in the administration of prisons. A protest was voted against the erection in Washington of a power house with unsightly chimneys, which will mar the beauty of the surroundings.

After careful consideration and an earnest appeal from both Lady Aberdeen and Mrs. Philip N. Moore, a past president of the General Federation, it was voted that the General Federation affiliate with the National Council of Women and thereby secure affiliation with the International Council of Women. In this way it is hoped that the women of the United States may be able to be of service in the great readjustment awaiting us at the close of the European War.

By far the greatest amount of time was spent in the consideration of the revision of the by-laws and the most important change—one urged by the mid-western states but questioned to some extent by other sections—was the addition to the Executive Board of a director from each state, thereby increasing the Board from a body of 15 to one of 57. The wisdom of this action is yet to be demonstrated, but the pressure has been brought to bear for several succeeding Biennials and this time it was too great to be resisted.
The question of finance is yet to be adjusted and the power given equally to small states with the large ones.
Massachusetts, seems at first thought to give an unfair advantage to the former. The will of the majority rules and the results are awaited with interest.

Various changes were sent in from many sources and the committee presented all to the convention. The first important one was the proposition to omit the word "Women" from the name of the organization so that it should be, "The General Federation of Clubs." This was lost. The Trusttees of the Endowment Fund now become an Endowment Committee of five members, the President, Treasurer and three members of the Board.
Formerly in order to gain admission clubs must receive the unanimous vote of the Membership committee or might be received by a two-thirds' vote of the Executive Board in case a unanimous vote of the committee was not obtained. Now the unanimous is changed to a four-fifths' vote. There was a proposition to do away with the General Federation State Secretary delegating the clerical work of that office to the Corresponding Secretary of the State Federation and the organization work to the new State Director. This was lost as not being practicable in large State Federations where the Corresponding Secretary's work is already sufficiently onerous.
A change was made in the dues of City Federations, which will affect the Newton Federation. Local Federations have paid $1 for each club. They are now put on the same basis with State and County Federations, those having a membership of 20 clubs or fewer pay $5 and for more than 20 at the rate of 25 cents for each club.

That the convention has become unwieldy owing to the large number of delegates and alternates, both being admitted to the sessions, has been realized for some time in the difficulty of finding suitable convention halls and it was more than ever evidenced by the experience in New York. But the voting by the delegates to cut down both the number of delegates and the doing away with alternates altogether with little discussion came as quite a surprise to many of the delegates. It hits Massachusetts clubs much harder than perhaps any other part of the country. If the Club Editor is correctly informed, this state has more large clubs than almost any other Federation, while some other states have more clubs in number though having small membership.

Since the dues of the clubs holding direct membership is a per capita tax it follows that as a state Massachusetts pays much more money into the treasury of the General Federation than some of the others and yet when it comes to the number of State delegates the State Federation is entitled to a fewer number than those made up of small clubs. It reduces itself to the old, old question of "Taxation without representation."

The Newton Federation formerly was allowed two delegates next time it can have but one. Under the old system clubs having a membership of 50 were entitled to one delegate, from 50-100 two delegates, and one for every 100 members thereafter. Now clubs of 100 or less have one delegate, 200, two delegates, and one for every 200 thereafter and all alternates are done away with entirely. The delegates from Massachusetts may be glad that the New York Biennial, which was near enough for a large number to attend, came before this change was made. Of course it must be borne in mind that the number of clubs is constantly increasing and that something had to be done yet it is a constant surprise that anything so radical went through with so little discussion. The lateness of the hour probably had something to do with it.

This, then, is the New York Biennial in a nutshell and a very small one, too.
The great things about it are the inspiration engendered by numbers assembled together interested in the great common causes, the bigness of the thing, the bigness of the women who are enlisted in this great movement and the readiness with which they are willing to sink differences and come together on the great underlying fundamentals upon which all agree. Progress toward a larger freedom is in the air and it can no more be stayed than can the wind when it is east for days together. The part which this great General Federation of Women's Clubs has played and will continue to play during succeeding years is well high immeasurable.

The report of the annual meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation which has been meeting in Lynn yesterday and today is necessarily post-

QUALITY GOODS

Perhaps you believe that you can obtain better goods by buying your table supplies out of town, but we know it is impossible. Perhaps you believe that you can save money by doing so, but we can prove it is impossible. You do know it is mighty inconvenient. You do know that, owing to the time in transit, that the fruit and vegetables are wilted, that the meats are slimy and sticky, and that on the whole they present anything but an inviting and appetizing appearance. And then when you find that you have forgotten the yeast cake or the bread or some other small article, you impose upon good nature by giving this unprofitable trade to your local man, while your "profitable trade" goes elsewhere. The local man is proverbially good natured, but, nevertheless, while filling your rush order, he does some thinking, and wonders where fairness or justice enters into the deal.

Real Quality Goods—excelled by none—are sold by us—and sold at prices as low here as anywhere. Service and attention is courteous, and deliveries are promptly made. Think it over.

BE FAIR. BE JUST. TRADE AT HOME.

DURIE-HOPKINS

Surrounded as it is by tastefully arranged grounds, shady picturesque woodlands, and traversed by delightful avenues, there is an indescribable charm about the Woodland Park, that is peculiarly its own, and that is unquestionably the reason why it is becoming such a favorite resort for June weddings.

A society event of special note, which took place on Saturday evening at Auburndale's exclusive hotel, was the wedding of Miss Alice Chase Hopkins, Wellesley, '08, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha B. Hopkins of Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies, formerly of Ward street, Newton Centre, and Mr. Walter R. Durie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Durie of Bradford, York County, England.

The entire lower floor of the hotel was transformed into a floral bower of beauty by Penn. the florist. The arrangement of the rooms is most adaptable for large social functions and the luxurious furnishings harmonized exquisitely with the floral color scheme of white and green, which was carried out in a highly artistic and pleasing manner, in drawing-room, foyer, library and dining-hall.

The mantels and fire-places were banked with white peonies and southern smilax and the imposing staircase, down which the bridal party passed, was festooned with greenery and white satin ribbon. Garlands of the greenery were twined about the chandeliers, from which the incandescent lights sparkled with wondrously beautiful effect. In the drawing-room the mirrors were decorated with garlands of smilax and white lilies, and the mantels and fireplaces were literally banked with the fragrant blossoms.

Devoted to the ceremony itself was a floral canopy arranged with a background of palms and greenery, and suspended gracefully from the top, were clusters of white lilies.

Southern smilax edged the white satin prie dieu, and at the entrance, white pedestals festooned with smilax and roped in with white satin ribbon, formed an aisle for the bridal party. Prior to the ceremony Miss Eleanor Randall sang, "O Perfect Love," and "A Day in Venice," and as the bridal procession descended to the drawing-room, the hotel orchestra, which was placed near the foot of the staircase, played Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Edward Huntington, D.D., president of Boston University.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a beautiful wedding gown of ivory white satin with overdress of white tulle trimmed with silver bands, court train, and bodice of silver lace. Her tulle veil was fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms and her bridal bouquet was a full shower of lavender orchids and lilies of the valley. She also wore a diamond pendant, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Louise L. Hopkins of Kingston, Jamaica, as maid of honor, who was very becomingly attired in white. Georgeette crepe over white taffeta, and carried a bouquet of Kaiserin Victoria roses. The ribbon girls were Charlotte Flanders and Genevieve Huntington of Newton Centre, Mary Stuart of West Virginia, and Ruth Lucas of Denver, Colorado, and they were all gowned alike in white, and carried pale pink roses.

Two little flower girls, Josephine Stranahan of Boston, and Martha Baker of Brookline, wore dainty dresses of chiffon over pink crepe and carried baskets of Sweetheart roses, tied with satin ribbon.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. Richard J. Hopkins of Worcester, Mass., brother of the bride, as groomsmen.

Following the ceremony a large and brilliant reception was held in the library which was decorated with white peonies arranged in large vases and baskets on tables, bookcases and mantels.

Mr. and Mrs. Durie were assisted in receiving their guests by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins. Mrs. Hopkins was very handsomely gowned in white chiffon trimmed with black lace, and wore a corsage bouquet of Kaiserin Victoria roses.

The decorative scheme extended to the spacious dining-hall, where a wedding supper was served. The two large fireplaces at one end of the hall were banked with white peonies and on the mantels and mirrors above them, garlands of greenery and white roses were arranged most effectively.

The guests were seated at thirty tables, each table having a large centre piece of Aaron Ward roses. The bride's table was in the center of the hall and the decorations were kept to the bridal white, with Bride roses and in the center a large wedding cake.

Guests of social prominence numbering one hundred and twenty-five were present from Kingston, Jamaica, New York, Cincinnati, Denver, Worcester, Boston, Brookline and the Newtons.

Mr. and Mrs. Durie departed for Winchendon in a limousine which was artistically decorated in the bridal colors, and after a short stay at the Toy Town Tavern will leave on a wedding trip to England. They will be at home after November 1st at Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies.

RECITAL

Players' Hall, West Newton, was the scene of a large and enthusiastic gathering Tuesday evening, the occasion being the recital by the pupils of Miss Rose Regina Campbell of Newton. A miscellaneous program was given consisting of readings, playlets and pastiches which were thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. OBSERVES FLAG DAY

Newton Lodge of Elks held a stirring and interesting observance Wednesday evening in its lodge rooms in Elliot block, Newton, in honor of Flag Day. The exercises were public and there were many ladies and a large delegation of members of Charles Ward Post present. Mr. Bancroft L. Goodwin, the Exalted Ruler was in charge.

The ceremonies were opened by the singing of Keller's American Hymn by the quartet from the Universalist Church, Newtonville, C. Azel Collins, tenor; Miss Ruby Dort, soprano; Miss Marie Sladen, alto; Alfred M. Russell, bass, assisted by William G. Hambleton at the piano. Next followed an interesting history of the Flag by James S. Cannon. A large floral bell in three sections was erected, the base of red roses, emblematic of loyalty and devotion; the centre of white lilies signifying charity, purity and truth; the upper part a cluster of violets reflecting the blue field in the flag and typifying justice, brotherly love, and fidelity. On the crest of the bell was placed thirteen stars.

An eloquent and stirring tribute to the Flag was given by W. L. MacGregor of the Cambridge Lodge of Elks. Mary McEnroy recited "The American Flag" much to the delight of all present. The quartet also sang "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," "The Star Spangled Banner," and "To Thee O Country."

At the close of the program all joined in singing America.

ELKS OUTING

Plans made by the Elks lodges of Newton, Waltham and Brookline for a field day at Wrentham last Saturday were partially spoiled by the rain but there was a good attendance nevertheless.

Nearly all of the Newton contingent, over 125 strong, went in automobiles, the greater part of them starting from the Elks Hall, Centre street. Upon the arrival at the grounds a miniature ball game was played, the contest ending, just before the call of dinner, with a tie score.

An elaborate banquet was served at 5.00 o'clock in the open air pavilion following which a Cabaret Show was enjoyed in the large dance hall.

The Committee in charge comprised of Henry W. Crowell, chairman, George Grebenstein, George M. Cox, Richard Lyons and George R. Stratton.

Roberts and Leverett Woodworth represented the school at the Worcester academy interscholastic track meet last Saturday and by scoring five firsts and two seconds with 31 points won the meet for their school. Roberts, who was easily the star of the meet, won the high hurdles, pole vault and high jump and was second in the low hurdles and the shot-put. Woodworth won the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes.

The school tennis team won four matches and lost one with the Needham High school last Monday, the play being on the courts of the Newton Centre Squash Tennis Club. Noble, Marshall and Vaughan won single matches, Noble and Marshall won at doubles, and Vaughan and Wood were beaten at doubles.

CITY HALL

A strong protest has been filed with the authorities by residents of Newton Highlands and Newton Centre who object to the bathhouse at Crystal Lake. Last year 12,000 people used the place. The city solicitor says that if the bathhouse is removed there is nothing to prevent bathers from using the lake. The Playground Commission will give a hearing June 29 on the protest.

CO. C. CALLED OUT

65 Men Now at the South Framingham Camp

Capt. Cormerais was telephoned at 12.35 A. M. Monday to assemble Company C in the armory at 8 A. M. He succeeded in telephoning his officers at 1.00 A. M. and at 4.00 A. M. the work of notifying all the members was well under way. The emergency service of the New England Tel. & Tel. Company was equal to the situation, and, with the assistance of the Newton Police and cars loaned by citizens 62 of the 65 men had reported at 7.00 A. M. The others started at once from Pocasset, Amherst, Cochrane and Brooklyn, New York.

The company must have 100 recruits at once, men between 18 and 35, good character and physique. So far forty men have volunteered, twenty-five examined by the surgeon, twenty meeting the physical requirements.

The General Staff of the Dental Clinic of Massachusetts has volunteered dental services to all members of the company, in the person of Dr. L. H. Marshall who took the trouble to come to the armory and see what was to be done. It is this kind of backing that makes soldiers feel it worth while to serve their country.

The men of Company C are by no means "rookies." The majority have served at least two years in as hard a course as the average man can stand and attend to business. There are some 25 expert riflemen in the company, 7 sharpshooters and about thirty marksmen. The men know how to shoot, to take care of themselves on the march, and have had such a thorough course in camp sanitation that sickness will be practically unknown. The company has a first class head cook in Frank Randall with ten years service, and enough experienced assistants are mustered in to insure that materials supplied will be used to the best advantage.

The non-commissioned officers are trained and experienced men, and their

A Card of Thanks

We heartily thank the Sixty Thousand (60,000) women of Massachusetts who SIGNED THE PETITION AGAINST THE PASSING OF THE ANTI-TRADING STAMP BILL. We have no doubt that Five Hundred Thousand (500,000) would have signed if they had been given the opportunity. We estimate that there are over Five Hundred Thousand (500,000) persons in Massachusetts collecting Merchants Legal Stamps and last year these collectors received discounts of 274,000 in Cash

Legal Stamps they collected.

Our competitors and others have made persistent efforts to put us out of business. They have failed. The idea of legislating competition out of existence is fundamentally wrong. The right and freedom of the merchants to do business in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts remain unimpaired.

EDITORIAL

The action of the aldermen in refusing to approve the claim for back salary of David Neagle means that a majority of the board wish the courts to pass upon the legality of the whole question. In this connection it is said by lawyers familiar with the question that the whole matter rests upon the meaning of the word "also" in the following section of our city charter.

"Section 26. All officers and boards shall, subject to the laws of the Commonwealth relating to the civil service, appoint their subordinates and employees to hold office until they are removed by the officer or board under whom they serve; but all appointments in the police and fire departments shall also have the power of removal in said departments."

It is evident that two constructions can be placed upon the meaning of the word "also" in this section. One, that the mayor has the sole power of removal in these departments; the other that his power is in addition to that possessed by the head of the department.

In this connection it is of interest to note what was done by the City Charter Commission which framed this charter twenty years ago. The writer was deeply interested in that work and kept files and copies of what was done in the matter. One of the first drafts of the proposed charter uses similar language as stated above in section 26 but stops at the word "serve." Thus making it clear that heads of all departments were intended to have the sole power of appointment and removal of subordinates. The writer had occasion at that time to make some suggestions on the various sections and his note on section 26 mentions the advisability of giving the mayor the power to approve all of such appointments and removals. Later drafts of this section indicate that the suggestion was partially adopted, the first change, including the approval of appointments by the mayor in police and fire departments, and later by giving him power of removal. It would be fair to assume that with this history of the section in question that the commission started with the theory of giving exclusive power to department heads and later modified it so far as relates to police and fire departments. If this assumption is correct, it must follow that the word "also" as used by the Charter Commission, twenty years ago, was clearly intended not to curtail the power already given the chiefs of police and fire, but to allow the mayor to exercise that power as well. It will be interesting to see how the court will decide this question.

The differences of opinion manifested at the Nonantum Square hearing last week, indicates the hopelessness of even attempting to get the conflicting elements into any sort of harmony. The interests of the store keepers in that square are antagonized by every move to improve traffic conditions—the more congestion, the more business. The automobilists only want a clear space in which to drive, and as wide as possible in order that they may not be obliged to cut down their speed. The people who use the street cars want the Middlesex cars standing in the square so that they may not be obliged to stand on the curb or in the street.

In the meantime, Nonantum Square is about the same area as Scollay Square in Boston, and still we do not hear of any movement to widen that busy place.

The matter will never be settled until the Middlesex cars are taken out of the centre of the square, at least, where they absolutely block traffic in several directions. With these cars out of the square, the traffic could move in easy and natural lines in every direction, and if a proper safety zone could be arranged for persons taking the Elevated cars, the whole problem would be solved.

DAVIS—BOMBARD

A pretty home wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Bombard on Tarleton road, Newton Centre, when their daughter, Miss Fanny M. Bombard, became the bride of Mr. Lester Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. Davis, formerly of Bradford road, Newton Highlands. The ceremony was performed at half past two, by Rev. J. E. Coombs, pastor of Asbury Temple, Waltham, the double ring form being used.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a beautiful wedding gown of white voile with cobweb lace trimmings, and carried a bridal bouquet of white orchids. She also wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She was attended by Mrs. Ruth Ness of Newton Centre as matron of honor, who was attractively gowned in pink crepe de chine and carried sweet heart rose buds.

Mr. Davis was assisted by Mr. William Ness of Newton Centre as best man. A reception was held after the ceremony, and the rooms were decorated with pink and white flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Davis were assisted in receiving by their parents; Mrs. Bombard was gowned in blue silk taffeta and Mrs. Davis wore a gown of gray charmeuse.

Guests were present from Fall River, Lancaster, N. H., and Philadelphia, Pa. As they departed on their wedding journey they were showered with rose petals and on their return Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside at West Philadelphia.

GALBRAITH—CUNNINGHAM

A large company of guests assembled in Grace Episcopal Church on Wednesday evening, when Miss Helen Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Alexander Cunningham of Newton, was united in marriage to Mr. Richard William Galbraith, son of Rev. J. E. H. Galbraith and Mrs. Galbraith of Waverly Mills, South Carolina.

Beautiful decorations of pink and white peonies in combination with mountain laurel and palms, made the church most attractive for the occasion, and the ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. J. E. H. Galbraith, rector of All Saints Church, Waverly Mills, S. C., assisted by Rev. Laurens MacLure, S. T. D., rector of Grace Church, Newton.

As the bridal party approached the altar, Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, was rendered by the organist, Mr. William B. Hambleton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was gowned in white crepe de chine, and chignon veil fastened with a spray of orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was a shower of white Killarney roses and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothy Cunningham of Newton, as maid of honor, who wore taffeta and net and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Selina E. Galbraith of Waverly Mills, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Emily Josephine Proctor of Newtonville, cousin of the bride, wore white taffeta gowns, picture hats of white net trimmed with pink roses, and streamers of pink ribbon velvet, and carried rose pink sweet peas.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. Edgar B. Sherrill of Brookline as groomsmen, and the ushers included Mr. Robert Alexander Cunningham of Newton, brother of the bride, Dr. Miles Sherrill of Brookline, Mr. John Endicott, of Longwood, Mr. Donald Cunningham Proctor and Mr. Joseph Alexander Proctor of Newtonville, cousins of the bride, and Mr. Duncan MacRae of Boston.

A large reception was held after the ceremony at the residence of the bride's parents on Jewett street. The rooms were artistically decorated in the wedding color scheme of pink and white, with peonies and mountain laurel.

Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith received from half past eight until half past nine, and were assisted by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, and Rev. Mr. Galbraith, father of the bridegroom.

The bridal couple left on a wedding trip to South Carolina and will visit Mr. Galbraith's parents at Waverly Mills. On their return they will reside at Marion, Mass., where Mr. Galbraith has a position as instructor at Tabor Academy.

POLITICAL NOTES

Much to the regret of his many friends, Senator George H. Ellis announced this week that he would not be a candidate for re-election the coming fall. Senator Ellis has served this city for five years in the House of Representatives and two years in the Senate, where he has been one of the most valuable men in the Legislature. The city and the district is to be congratulated that it has been able to have the services of such a public spirited man as Mr. Ellis for so many years, although there is a general feeling that one more year in the Senate might have been expected. Representative James E. McPherson of South Framingham is expected to be a candidate for the Republican nomination.

J. C. Brimblecom announced this week his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Representative this fall in opposition to Henry W. Jarvis who defeated him last fall by 81 votes. Mr. Jarvis' record in the House the past session is open to considerable criticism, as well as his methods of campaigning for the nomination last fall.

DEATH OF MRS. BENJAMIN RANDALL

The death of Mrs. Benjamin Randall, widow of the late Benjamin Randall occurred Wednesday morning at the Newton Home for Aged People after a short illness. Mrs. Randall was 78 years of age and was born at Thompson, Conn., she had been a resident of Newton Upper Falls for 57 years spending the last year of her life at the Newton Home for Aged People. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Lydia Stone of Fall River.

The funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock this afternoon and will be conducted by the Rev. J. W. Stephens of the M. E. Church. Burial will be in the family lot at the Newton Cemetery.

BRAE BURN CLUB

The House Committee Messrs. William B. H. Dowse, Harry L. Ayer, Frank B. Witherbee and Frank J. Hale have issued cards for a Dinner Dance on Saturday evening the twenty-fourth. Dinner will be served from six until eight; dancing from eight until eleven. The Bowling Green will be brilliantly illuminated and Quimby's Band will furnish the music.

The Dansant which was scheduled for the seventeenth was postponed, and will be held Saturday afternoon. Miss Elsie Harrington, assisted by thirty young ladies will give a Dance Recital on the Bowling Green from half past three until half past four. It will contain some delightful exhibitions of modern and interpretative dancing by well known and talented artists. At the close of the recital there will be general dancing from half past four until half past six.

Dancing was enjoyed by more than one hundred couples on Saturday afternoon in the Garden Tea Room. Russell's Orchestra furnished a delightful program.

Mrs. Edward Hobart of Marlboro street, Boston, entertained the Wellesley Alumnae, class of 1901, at a dinner on Tuesday in the Garden Tea Room. The tables were decorated attractively with red carnations and lighted with red shaded candles. Covers were laid for fifty-six.

The members of the Boston Retail Grocers Association enjoyed a motor trip thru Wellesley Friday followed by a luncheon at the Club. There were 125 guests and the affair was under the direction of Mr. William M. Flanders. Mr. Wilbur C. Cook was among the ushers at the Rolfe-Smith wedding on Tuesday in New Jersey.

The play-off scheduled for Saturday for the Massachusetts Open Golf Championship between Michael J. Brady of the Oakley Country Club, and Patrick J. Brae Burn Golf Links were in bad condition owing to the heavy rainfall and it was deemed advisable to call off the match. The House Committee is completing arrangements for the Annual Fourth of July Celebration, the banner event at Brae Burn, which promises to eclipse those of former years.

RECITAL

The Pianoforte and Theory Students' Association held its closing exercises Friday evening at the home of Mrs. M. L. Haase on Walnut street, Newtonville.

Prizes were awarded by Miss Helen Douglas to Eleanor Tracy of the first grade; Jennette Martin of the second grade, and Miss Hazel Cunningham of the advanced grade, who tied for having the highest average in the school for the year.

A well rendered program followed which was given by a few of the students. A novel feature was the items of interest about the composer, told by Helen Dodge before each number was played.

An attractive number was the Peter Pan lullaby sung by Eleanor Martin to her baby doll. Betty Lewis, who has studied only one year, played a difficult Valse Impromptu by Seybold in a manner that would have done credit to a more advanced pupil.

Miss Hazel Cunningham's rendition of Rachmaninoff's Humoreske in G was especially pleasing. Miss Gertrude Barry, Miss Katherine Auryansen and Mr. Wallace Richmond also deserve special mention. All the pupils are deserving praise for the manner in which they performed their part of the evening's entertainment. The program closed with the reading of a clever original poem by Miss Barry, entitled, "A School Prophecy and Farewell," after which Miss Douglas was presented with flowers by her pupils.

Included among those who took part were Winslow Auryansen, Katherine Auryansen, Paul C. James, Esther Stiles, Marion Burgess, Dorothy Eames, Miss Hazel Cunningham, Eleanor Martin, Eleanor Richmond, Helen Daly, Herbert Stevens, Jennette Martin, Betty Lewis, Elsa G. Haase, Theodore Hickox, Clarence Hickox, Wallace Richmond, Gertrude Barry and Miss Barry.

The church was elaborately decorated in a wedding color scheme of white and green, and as the bridal party approached the altar, Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, was finely rendered by the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore an exquisite wedding gown of white duchess satin in French model, with Chantilly lace and orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was a magnificent shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley; she was attended by Miss Helen Cooney, as maid of honor, who was charmingly gowned in white Chantilly lace ruffled in 1830 mode, with quillings of pink tulle, and wore a Shepherdess hat of cameo pink, and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas.

The bridesmaids, Miss Katherine Cooney, sister of the bride, and Miss Katherine Kent, were exceedingly attractive in frocks of Chantilly lace and orchid taffeta of the early 19th century style, and wore orchid hats to match.

Miss Katherine Gleason of Boston, cousin of the bridegroom, was the flower girl; she was daintily dressed in pale blue satin, blue slippers and stockings, poke bonnet with long streamers of blue satin and carried a basket of white roses.

The decorative scheme was carried out in the reception rooms, with palms and white roses, and in the dining-room, where a wedding supper was served, the decorations were pink and green, with a center-piece of pink roses on the table.

In the receiving line with Mr. and Mrs. Odell, Jr., were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cooney and Mr. and Mrs. Odell. Mrs. Cooney wore an attractive gown of black lace over white satin with picture hat of black and Mrs. Odell was very handsomely gowned in black satin, Chantilly lace and black hat.

Many prominent guests from New

"True Patriotism" was given by the following children: "Children's Day Greeting," by Constance Lynde; "What Is Patriotism," by Evelyn Sheldon; Eleanor Martin, Stanley Kimball, Marion Keith, Barbara Ziegler, Veda Leonard and Roger Salinger. Song, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee," by Winslow Auryansen, Ralph Paterson, Donald Frail, Robert Hutchinson and the Junior Department, "What Is the Best," by the following members of the "We Are Seven" Club; Katherine Daniels, Helen Sheldon, Evelyn Sheldon, Dorothy Hall and Katherine Baker, and from the Primary Department Frances Eddy, Wallace White, Dorothy Allen, Ruth Hutchinson, Robert Hendrick and Robert Stone. A song entitled, "All the Happy Children" was sung by the Primary Department, and then followed responsive reading.

After singing of the hymn, "God of Our Fathers," by the School and Congregation, there was an interesting address by the pastor on "A Message from the Front."

"The Spacious Firmament On High," a sacred selection, was finely rendered by the School and Choir and then there was a presentation of diplomas to the following pupils of the primary department: Marguerite Williams, Ruth Axon Baker, Ruth Davis Williams, Martha Lineta Wilson, Alice Aileen Keith, Philippa Charles Patey, Marion Ella Johnson, Thelma Florence Combs, Elizabeth Richardson, George Elmer Eames, Richard Lewis Leonard, William Henry Seely, Luther Samuel Moore, Percival Fuller Williams, Jr., Edward D. Bloom, Gordon Ogden and George Frederick Pepler, Jr. The members of the Junior Department who received diplomas were: Helen Eames, Marion E. Keith, Veda M. Leonard, Evelyn Sheldon, Eleanor Richmond, Barbara Ziegler, Eleanor Martin, Marjorie Carr, Chester Hill, Roger B. Salinger, Henry B. Barthelme and Stanley G. Kimball.

Those who were commended for perfect attendance for the year were: Ruth Baker, Myrtle Seely, Katherine Sheldon, Marion Stone and Robert Stone of the primary department; Prescott Hills, Veda Leonard, Marjorie Nichols, Harriet Patey and Evelyn Sheldon of the junior department; Katherine Baker, Ruth Gordon, Maxine Samson, Joel Leete, Jeanette Martin and Helen Sheldon of the intermediate department.

The service closed with the Benediction and Recessional, "America," by the school and congregation.

There was an unusually large attendance and the occasion was most happy for all present.

BATHING AT CRYSTAL LAKE

The usual appropriation for the continuance of bathing at Crystal Lake has been made by the City as in former years. Before opening time arrived, many of the residents about the Lake complained of serious nuisances committed by those enjoying this opportunity while coming and going in groups from all parts of the city as well as while at the Lake and in the water.

At the same time, Mr. George D. Miller, who owns the land at the Newton Highlands end of the Lake from the small park which belongs to the city to the railroad tracks, and by whose permission the wooden bath house was placed in its present location by the city, gave notice of his intention to have it removed as he desired to sell his land.

The Playground Commission assisted by the Police Department and in cooperation with those owning land about the Lake will mitigate if not eliminate the nuisances so that there should be no further complaints after the bathing facilities are opened.

However, there appears to be no available public or private land on which to put a bath house, and the Commission has recommended to the Mayor an appropriation for the city to buy sufficient land at or near the present location of the bath house, and the erection thereon of a suitable and permanent bath house slightly larger than the present and equipped with toilets, etc.

The Mayor has transmitted, with his approval, this recommendation to the Board of Aldermen. This will come before the Board at its next regular meeting on Monday evening, June 26th. Those interested on both sides, either to continue this public opportunity and privilege or to close it, should attend and if there is sufficient interest manifested, it is expected that the Board will give those attending a chance to be heard.

EIGHTH WEEK OF THE POPS

Only two more weeks remain of the very successful season of Pop Concerts in Symphony Hall, for the last concert of 1916 will be given Saturday night, July 8. The orchestra in these two weeks will be in charge of Mr. Clement Lenom to whom has fallen the conclusion of all the last several seasons.

Mr. Lenom has arranged a very interesting scheme of concerts. Following the success of a year ago, on Tuesday night, June 27, he will give a programme of dance music. This will include nearly all dance forms from the very ancient like a gavotte by the seventeenth century French composer, Lully, to the ultra-modern American "Ragging the Scale." Thursday night, June 29, Mr. Lenom will devote his programme to music by Italian composers. Various members of the orchestra will appear as soloists during the week.

UNNECESSARY LEGISLATION

The use of trading stamps has come to be recognized as a principle in trade which has reached a high stage of development and perfection, especially the design known as the Legal Stamp, issued by the Merchants' Legal Stamp Company, and which has been in use by over 4,000 retail stores for several years.

The use of the Merchants' Legal Stamp by retailers simply means that for 2 1/2 per cent. discount they offer inducement to purchasers to trade with them, and thereby promote a habit of thrift in safeguarding pennies legitimately saved through a laudable desire to complete the filling of a book of trading stamps after it has once been started.

Many cases have come to our attention where through habits of thrift formed in saving trading stamps, the idea has received encouragement of saving in other ways. It has proven a source of unquestioned benefit to many people who have taken advantage of opportunity offered that could be acquired in no other way.

While there seems a sentiment in the General Court opposing further use of trading stamps or similar devices by retailers, no general demand exists for this legislation.

If the people were given opportunity to vote upon it they would unquestionably favor their continued use.

The final stages have not yet been reached in this repressive legislation. It is to be hoped the Massachusetts General Court will go slow in adopting a law that will ultimately be found to work great injustice not alone to reputable concerns like the Merchants' Legal Stamp Company, but to many retailers and customers who have participated in their use.

The Class Party of the Newton Technical High School was a delightful social affair, and was attended by about 175 including the members of the graduating class and faculty.

It was held in the library, which was made very attractive for the occasion with pink carnations and snapdragons, and palms and ferns, arranged with artistic effect.

An entertainment was given which included a highly amusing vaudeville sketch by Arthur Giles. Class Prophecies were read by William Henry Fitzgerald, and Margaret Alice Reeves; Henry Stuart Daniels read the Class History, and Marie Regina McCarthy read the Class Will.

Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served by a caterer.

RECITAL

The Methodist Church, Newton Upper Falls, was the scene of a good sized audience Wednesday evening. The occasion being a Recital given by Miss Myrta Bosworth, dramatic reader, assisted by the Misses Ruth and Esther Stidstone of Medford and Miss Gladys Billings, pianists and Mr. Ralph H. ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STATE FEDERATION

Last week Thursday and Friday, June 15 and 16, saw from 1000 to 1400 club women in session at Lynn for the annual convention of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. Memories of the exciting scenes at Marion one year ago doubtless brought together a much larger crowd than usual, all anxious to see what this Lynn meeting might bring forth. Those who came merely for that side of the convention, however, were doomed to disappointment, for neither was the question of suffrage mentioned nor any attempt made on the part of those opposed to it to undo the action of last year. There was earnest discussion of some of the resolutions, particularly that for financing the Massachusetts director of the General Federation, as well as of the recommendation to substitute "Roberts Rules of Order" for "Shattuck's Advanced Rules," which had been proposed as an amendment to the by-laws at the meeting at Beverly in November, but there was not the slightest exhibition of ill feeling anywhere, in fact everything was so harmonious as to make the thought of the prophesied "disruption of the Federation" absurd in the extreme. The ticket presented by the nominating committee was elected, whatever protest there was being expressed more in the blanks registered and in the large number of scattering votes than by any formal concerted action.

But for those delegates who came for the real business of the convention and for the inspiration to be gained here indeed was no disappointment. Too much cannot be said of that received from the Thursday afternoon session when the "Snapshots of the Biennial," the greetings from the guests from other Federations and the masterly address of Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, the retiring president of the General Federation, brought back the marvelous days in New York, by our own delegates.

The morning session of the convention on Thursday was opened at 10.30 with a graceful word of welcome on the part of the hostess women of the eight Federated clubs of the city presented by Mrs. Laurence G. Atherton. In her response Mrs. George W. Perkins, the Federation president, referred to the visit of the Federation to Lynn six years ago. She made a strong appeal to the delegates, reminding them that they are banded together not for faultfinding, but for helpfulness, that where much is given, there much is expected and bade them to stand shoulder to shoulder with loyalty to the State and to themselves.

Rules for the convention included the familiar, "Hats off, please," heard so often in New York. Mrs. Cora Welles Trow of New York was appointed parliamentarian for the convention. Then followed the annual reports of officers, of the chairmen of special committees and of the Nominating committee. One club has resigned and nine new ones have been added to the list. There are now 292 clubs and three City Federations, with a total membership of 67,604. The balance of $2.71 reported by the Treasurer elicited an audible smile from the convention, but the fact that the Federation holds permanent funds with a par value of $7500 puts a somewhat different aspect upon affairs. The General Federation Secretary, Mrs. Donald M. Blair, reported that during this Biennial year 30 Massachusetts clubs joined the General Federation, and being ones of large membership, had added $400 to that treasury. One hundred and seventeen clubs of the State hold direct membership in the General Federation.

The extreme usefulness of the Bulletin sent out each month by the Federation was brought out in the fact that an edition of 1200 copies was issued last month and many words of favorable comment upon its value were expressed in the course of the reports of the various chairmen. The suggestion from the Press chairman, Mrs. G. W. Nickerson of Stoneham, that the clubs endeavor to secure club departments in their local papers and that they be conducted by club women shows the vision of the GRAPHIC when this department was created eleven years ago.

Of the reports of the departments of work Conservation came first on the list. Mrs. Joseph S. Leach spoke of the divisions of the committee's work—forestry, shade trees, birds, children's gardens and gardens for women. In touching upon forest conditions the work in Newton toward securing a town forest was mentioned. The formation of Junior Audubon Societies was recommended and it was stated that there seems to be an increasing interest in bird welfare. The pressing need that the people of Massachusetts take up agriculture was touched upon, since so small a proportion of the food supplies of the people are produced within the State.

Mrs. Katharine W. Herron, chairman of Home Economics, stated in her report that it is very evident that the women working in this department are getting the broader outlook on the subject, for few clubs today confine their work to cooking, sewing and millinery. "Home Management," "Short Cuts in Housework," "Efficiency in the Home," "The Budget," are all favorite topics. She closed by saying, "This Committee wishes to emphasize the need of fundamental training for motherhood and the business of home-making. Let us also keep in mind that while the single lectures, or better still the course of lectures, are of great inspirational value, they should be followed by serious study which would be a preparation for definite constructive work."

The Industrial and Social Conditions department reported through its chairman, Miss Esther S. Barrows, co-operation on the part of the clubs, with the Children's Bureau at Washington in the matter of birth registration and in the observance of Baby-Week. The department worked for the bill providing for a State Hospital for Women Inebriates and also visited the Women's Reformatory at Sherborn to ascertain conditions there. The clubs are urged to devote one meeting to considering condition in our own State and to carry on "A Know Your Own Community Campaign."

Mrs. Anna B. Scoville, a representative of Hampton Institute, asked for a place upon club programs next year in which to present the needs of the two races, the negro and the Indian, to whom her institutions minister.

The report of the Nominating committee was presented by Mrs. Lella C. Pennock, chairman, and the polls opened at the close of the morning session remaining so throughout the afternoon, thus giving ample opportunity for delegates to cast their ballots conveniently and comfortably. The afternoon session opened with messages of greeting from distant Federations and then followed the Snap Shots of the Biennial given as follows: Mrs. F. G. Bauer, The setting and the evening sessions; Mrs. Wilfred French, the business; Mrs. George M. Baker, Things which appealed to her most; Mrs. J. E. P. Plimpton, The conferences; Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, The place of home economics; Mrs. Anna D. West, The entertainments, especially the Massachusetts reception; Mrs. Claude U. Gilson, a general survey, in which she touched upon the personality, most of which was lost in the bigness of the place, the politics, which were characterized as clean with no endeavor to hoodwink the delegates, though there was at times too much of a State's rights view of things. Mrs. True Worthy White presented, "A futurists view." Much merriment was displayed when she repeated a New York policeman's characterization of the women as "a rose garden of old girls."

Much interest was shown in the personal words of greeting from the outside guests, many of whom had come directly from the Biennial and admitted that they had received more from these spicy snap shots than from attending the sessions themselves. Those who were present were: Mrs. Zillah E. Wilson, president of the South Dakota Federation; Mrs. H. A. White of North Carolina; Mrs. George T. Palmer, recording secretary of the Illinois State Federation; Mrs. Edwin J. Graham of New Orleans; Mrs. Freeman H. Littlefield, corresponding secretary of the Missouri Federation; Mrs. Lucian T. Langworthy of California; Mrs. Robinson of Arizona; Mrs. Abbie Peaseley of Maine.

Miss George A. Bacon was heralded with great applause as first vice-president of the General Federation.

Mrs. Pennybacker was then introduced and before beginning her formal address she added some of her own impressions of the Biennial, among them being a sense of infinite loneliness on her own part, and a sense of sadness; the wonderful spirit of the women; their patience, sacrifice of self, their high courtesy, their earnestness, all of which enhanced her respect for womanhood. She prophesied that two things will come out of the convention; first, New York will soon have a suitable convention hall seating five or six thousand; and second, the business of the convention will be conducted along different lines. After a word of appreciation for Massachusetts and the great comfort she has always been to her, she asked the question, What can we do in the years to come? The time has passed when we are to excuse ourselves because we are women. Hereafter we are to measure ourselves by the hard and fast rule of efficiency. There is going to be an arousement to the sense of individual responsibility, to the fact that our whole duty is not done until we give as well as receive. There will be co-operation of all ranks. The real club woman never boasts of her wealth nor apologizes for her poverty.

She is never foolishly radical nor selfishly conservative. The community needs the co-operation of man and woman and the child. It needs continuity of effort. You should realize that a great cause is more important than any leader. We need sanity. There is nothing like being sane, and able to look on both sides of the question, to respect your opponents' opinions. A great aid to this is the cultivation of a sense of humor. It helps us over many difficulties in the home, in the club, and in the political field. We need loyalty to the ideals of the federation and to the best traditions of all womanhood.

"Women who do not vote on a question in their club, and do not participate in discussions, have no right to go outside and criticize the majority. They should take a stand on every question even if it is the wrong stand. Sitting on the fence is not conducive to the best development of the spinal column. Each woman should be a good loser. Not that she shouldn't come back, but on the contrary, when she believes the majority wrong, she should try to make her point so clear that she can change it."

We need loyalty in our judgment of each other. We can differ honestly and graciously. We need charity of speech, charity of judgment, and lastly, we need vision.

If we succeed in bringing about the great Congress of the three Americas, we shall bring to pass an act of true patriotism the consequences of which we cannot measure.

In the evening the hostess clubs tendered the delegates a most enjoyable musicale by Kiska's Salon orchestra assisted by Signor Francesco Sacco and tenor and a reception which there was opportunity to meet the State officers and to have a personal word with Mrs. Pennybacker.

On Friday morning the Election committee was scheduled to report at the opening of the session, but not being ready the convention proceeded to listen to department reports, Mrs. Walter S. Little for Art; Mrs. True Worthy White for Literature and Library Extension; Mrs. Richard Hamlen Jones for Music; Mrs. Julius Anderson for Legislative. Of the eight bills for the Federation four have been passed and four defeated, the latter including the cottage for inebriate women, the board of immigration, the milk bill and that for the registration of nurses. Those carried were for the reorganization of the prison commission, extension of Civil Service, the school for the feeble-minded and the juvenile delinquency bill. Mrs. Andrews expressed the desire of her department that the president of the Senate and the Speaker of the House might appoint representatives to confer with the Federation Legislative chairman, and upon her recommendation it was voted that a committee of three be appointed to follow up the new Bureau of Prisons with a view to securing the appointment of the best person upon it.

Mrs. Mary I. Wood, chairman of the General Federation Bureau of Information, who was present as a guest, gave some of the human touches which come to her in her work for the Bureau. Mrs. Wood closed with an appeal for assistance from Massachusetts.

Then came the report from the Credentials committee, Mrs. G. Neal Barney, chairman. Four hundred and ninety-eight delegates had presented credentials and five alternates. Mrs. J. Harry Poole, chairman of Elections, reported 438 votes cast and the ticket as presented was elected. President, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney; first vice-president, Mrs. Claude U. Gilson; second vice-president, Mrs. Royal Whitlin; third vice-president, Mrs. Arthur Hildard; fourth vice-president, Mrs. George M. Baker; clerk, Mrs. Frank B. Hawley; assistant clerk, Mrs. Fred Richards Lufkin; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Arthur W. Lane; treasurer, Mrs. Lena R. Wellington; directors for three years, Mrs. Adelaide M. Godding, Mrs. Cyrus Dalin, Mrs. Walter G. Newell, Mrs. Helen M. Bowers, Mrs. Ashley Watson. Nominating committee for 1916-1917, Mrs. Lillian Folger, chairman, Mrs. F. H. Esters, Mrs. Elsie S. Nowers, Mrs. Charles H. Adams, Mrs. C. Neal Barney.

Mrs. Julian Woodman presented the report of the committee to consider a parliamentary authority for the Federation, recommending that the proposed amendment to the by-laws be amended by substituting "Robert's Rules of Order" for "Shattuck's Advanced Rules." After some discussion the amendment was carried. Robert was adopted because of its being an authority for the whole country and used by both men's and women's organizations.

Unification of the work of the Federation has been under consideration for a special committee and its report included these recommendations which were adopted: 1. That the State be districted into not more than ten districts, with a representative from each upon each of the departments of work; 2. That each club appoint a Federation secretary, who shall be a medium of communication between the club and the Federation; 3. That a director of the Board be assigned to each district; 4. That, "Know your own Community" be the slogan for the coming year and that at least one club program be devoted to Federation work. Upon the recommendation of the Resolutions committee the convention voted: 1. Urge the immediate passage by Congress of the Owen-Keating bill; 2. To request the clubs to assist in conserving all waste material, such as rags, paper, etc., suitable for the manufacture of paper, that none be wasted nor sold under price; 3. that a committee of three be appointed to report at the fall meeting in regard to the raising of an Endowment Fund of $25,000 or more. It was also voted that the State Federation finance the director of the General Federation with a sum not to exceed $1200 for the biennial period. In speaking to the last motion Miss Bacon stated that the new Board of the General Federation has voted to accept the invitation of New Orleans for the Council meeting of 1917.

Four new clubs have been admitted since the last meeting. The Outlook Club of Falmouth, The Film Club of Boston, Dorchester Council of Presidents, North Grafton Woman's Club, and at the opening of the Friday afternoon session three of these were represented by their presidents. The concluding department reports, Civics, Education and Public Health were followed by a brief appeal by Miss Anna Johnson for Relief Work for 800,000 destitute French orphans. Then came the presentation of the newly elected officers and the final courtesy resolutions. After adjournment many of the visiting delegates enjoyed a delightful automobile trip along the North Shore.

Summary of Department Reports

Public Health

The work of the department has continued along the lines of preventive measures and the promotion of community health. Twenty-two clubs report some work along the line of prevention of tuberculosis; over 200 clubs answered the call to devote one week to the welfare of the child. The committee recommends a survey of rural conditions be made a part of the health work; that milk stations be established in every city for the use and education of the mothers in congested sections as a part of the follow-up work for infant welfare; the formation of classes in home nursing, and further, that little mother classes be formed.

Mrs. Charles O. Tyler, Chairman.

Education

The subjects chosen for special study have been "Moving Pictures," "Local History," "Political Science," "Rural Schools," "Americanization of the Immigrant," "Parent Teachers Association," "Civic Centers and School Social Centers," and "Vocational Education." The activities of the clubs have been numerous, and are conducted on such lines as censorship of moving pictures, classes for the immigrant, distributing books in immigrant homes, physical education classes, cooking and sewing classes, providing libraries for poor neighborhoods, maintaining kindergartens and other kinds of education, collecting money for scholarships, obtaining legal advice for poor families, distributing magazines to those who need them, gathering illustrations of historic landmarks and mounting them in a book for the use of local schools, visiting schools and supplying numerous needs, organizing stamp savings and ten-cent luncheons for factory girls, creating interest in legislative bills that will benefit education, planning story telling to children and other useful community service. In such practical inspiring work are the clubs engaged that a force is indeed at work toward gaining a "better America."

Mary Schenck Woolman, Chairman.

Civics Committee

The work done by the clubs represents almost every form of "Village or Town Improvement"—planting of trees and shrubs; loaning money to buy public parks; placing of bird baths in cemeteries; establishment of public rest rooms with toilet facilities; study of the Tenement House law; clean-up campaigns; placing of red lights at fire alarm boxes, and life preservers and ladders at ponds; clean streets, markets and stores; supervised playgrounds; home gardens; establishment of skating rinks; fly campaigns; prizes for collecting caterpillar nests; placing of waste receptacles; yard improvement campaigns; renovation of town lock-ups and of town halls; improvement of school houses; establishment of branch libraries; improvement of highways and of town approaches; better thoroughfares between towns; establishment of Neighborhood Houses; lectures on city planning; disposal of garbage; opening of public libraries on Sundays; landscape gardening; widening of bridges and making of sidewalks; marking danger spots; placing of American flags in school yards; anti billboard campaigns; investigation of fire precaution in local schools, etc.

Mrs. George A. Slocumb, Chairman.

Art

We have urged the clubs outside of Boston to make a list of the fine architecture and sculpture in their vicinity, that is, a Local Art Record, a request from the General Federation. Thirty-five Clubs did this, and nearly all the reports were accompanied by post-cards or photographs of the art objects named. It is possible that we may make these into an exhibit, which may go to such clubs as wish it, pending the compilation of the material by the General Federation Art Department. We also asked the clubs and others to contribute to the Anne Hutchinson Statue Fund. A total of $394.00 has been given by fifty-nine clubs. The Department has accomplished an interesting piece of compilation in manner to a questionnaire from the General Federation Art Department, regarding Massachusetts' assets in art. This entailed days of research, and we have the result in form to lend to any club desiring such (Continued on Page 9.)

"THE SUNDAY CAMPAIGN"

people of Auburndale to hear of Rev.

William A. Sunday's work, as it really is, on Sunday evening at a Union Ser-

Rev. James E. Walker, D.D., assist-

an interesting and enlightening out-

paign. The subject was "Hot Coals from the Kansas City and Baltimore

Mr. Walker explained the various methods by which Mr. Sunday plans to reach the people in the various

tries, business office, hospitals, laun-dries and in society. He particularly

Everything good must be accomplished thru prayer, for whosoever two or

Sunday will refuse to work with

Six weeks before the opening of the campaign, prayer meetings will be

and vicinity, every Monday and Wednesday evenings, and during the campaign, prayer meetings will be held

Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

The singing will be a special feature of the Tabernacle meetings. Besides the choir singing from the churches,

there will be a chorus of 2000 children.

The platform of the Tabernacle will seat 2000 and Mr. Sunday will enlist the services of the strongest types of business men to serve as ushers and otherwise assist in the work. He has been assisted in his meetings by such

Dr. Howard Kelley and Henry Allen of the West. Mr. Sunday's idea is that

worker.

In Kansas City the meetings were attended by 81,000 people, and last Sunday 1915 people gave their hearts to Christ at Mr. Sunday's meeting.

Mr. Walker related interesting instances of conversions he had noted.

He cited the case of a business man of 60 years, who had led a careless life independent of religion; this man had been awakened at one of Mr. Sun-

ercised such a wonderful influence over others that he was the means of making converts. Since his campaign in New York, Mr. Sunday has received many letters from heads of large business

great good that he had accomplished.

Mr. Walker said that the prayer meetings will be an important part of the great plan of conversion, and never again in this generation will we see such a great pouring out of the

QUALITY GOODS

Perhaps you believe that you can obtain better goods by buying your table supplies out of town, but we know it is impossible. Perhaps you believe that you can save money by doing so, but we can prove it is impossible. You do know it is mighty inconvenient. You do know that, owing to the time in transit, that the fruit and vegetables are wilted, that the meats are slimy and sticky, and that on the whole they present anything but an inviting and appetizing appearance. And then when you find that you have forgotten the yeast cake or the bread or some other small article, you impose upon good nature by giving this unprofitable trade to your local man, while your "profitable trade" goes elsewhere. The local man is proverbially good natured, but, nevertheless, while filling your rush order, he does some thinking, and wonders where fairness or justice enters into the deal.

Real Quality Goods—excelled by none—are sold by us—and sold at prices as low here as anywhere. Service and attention is courteous, and deliveries are promptly made. Think it over.

information. We have also prepared an "Outline for the Study of Sculpture," similar to the "Outline for Picture Study" ready last year.

Mrs. Walter S. Little, Chairman.

Literature and Library Extension

The work of this department may be best characterized as experimental, to make literature vital, serviceable has been our aim.

Perhaps no study has greater need of inspired guidance than has literature. Our service has been to guide the reader in her selection of books; to relate those books to the vital questions of the day; to substitute for the feeble, futile romance, the novel of some intellectual power and social penetration; to arouse interest in contemporary poetry and drama when it is of aesthetic or human value, and finally to emphasize the need of keeping before our clubs important, discriminating information about contemporary books and their authors.

In referring to plays which had been presented by the clubs Mrs. White mentioned that Waban Woman's Club had performance of "Alice in Wonderland" as a splendid community service. A greater service is rendered when clubs read the plays themselves than when they have them read by professionals.

The relating of the literature of our times to the chief aim of our times has been our chief aim.

Mrs. True Worthy White, Chairman.

Music

The vital importance of assuring proper tone production has had an important place in all our discussions. So many voices intended by nature to be beautiful and enjoyable have been ruined by wrong teaching methods. In the opinion of most of the members of our committee, the present methods are entirely mistaken. More care, and above all, more musical knowledge and competence in the public school teachers would help immeasurably. One of the matters which have been earnestly debated at our gatherings has been the propriety of all clubs supporting the MacDowell Colony. To this idea we give our warm and unqualified endorsement. We have also strenuously advocated State Censorship of songs and state support for Music Settlements.

Katherine Hamlen Jones, Chairman.

A few days of sun have worked wonders with the flowers and foliage, after their long dreaching, and the park was never more beautiful. Evening dansants and Sunday night concerts are still in order.

The wedding of Miss Agnes Warren, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Warren of West Newton, and Mr. Webster G. Simon, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Simon, of Cincinnati, Ohio, took place Thursday evening at the residence of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Marcus M. Wadsworth of Highland avenue, West Newton.

The ceremony was performed at half after seven by Rev. William E. Patrick, of New Bedford, Mass., cousin of the bride. The bridal party stood in an alcove in the drawing-room, which was beautifully decorated with ferns and pink sweet peas, the wedding color scheme being pink and green.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandmother and wore an exquisite wedding gown of white charmeuse trimmed with shadow lace and net and carried a shower bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley. As the bridal party assembled Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin was played by Miss Kempton.

A wedding supper was served on the spacious porch, and in the dining room where pink and white colors predominated.

The bride was attended by Miss Mary E. Simon of Cincinnati, as maid of honor. The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. E. R. Schaeffer of Cambridge as best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and in the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were Mrs. Marcus Wadsworth, the bride's grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Simon. There were more than one hundred guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon will reside in Chicago, Ill.

The bride is a graduate of Bradford Academy and Mr. Simon is a graduate of Harvard University.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

We shall be glad to hear from parents or boys who are interested in camping. The Frank A. Day Camp, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., will open July 6th. Mr. Macpherson, the Physical Director, will have charge of the camp.

The rain of the wind storm interfered with the outdoor meeting last Sunday. The few who came out enjoyed the talk of Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlain of the Immanuel Church, Newton. Next Sunday at 5 o'clock, weather permitting, another service will be held. Come and bring your friends. Meeting is open to men and women.

Last week Thursday at the last regular meeting of the Jr. Leaders Corps Mr. Macpherson was presented with a gold mounted fountain pen by the Corps.

In the evening the Senior Leaders a group of young men organized when Mr. Macpherson came to Newton to assist him in the conduct of the gymnastic work presented him with a beautiful silver loving cup standing over 12 inches high. "Ted" Morton one of the original leaders made the presentation on behalf of the leaders. Mr. "Mac" accepted with a few well chosen remarks.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM NOTES

"May I have a book to read," is a question which has been asked the members of the Museum staff several times a week, during the past two years. Whenever it was possible the answer was in the affirmative, and the young seeker after knowledge regarding the habits of birds or the life of Ba-long-long, the Igorot boy, was given a satisfactory volume and a chair in a corner of the main hall, by the office fire, or out-of-doors under a maple tree.

As a result of the increasing demand for this service and through the generosity of certain friends, a reading room has been opened. It is located on the second floor, and is reached through the west door of the history room. Fitted with a big table, low chairs, a window seat and shelves of books, it is now ready to welcome the boys and girls who desire to go from an inspection of the exhibits to pictures and printed information concerning them. In developing the library, the general scope of the Museum will be kept in mind and books and magazines which relate to the collections will be obtained, as far as possible.

The postage stamp albums and the duplicate stamps of the Museum will be placed in the reading room for the present, and collectors are invited to consult with the attendant concerning their specimens. Sample sheets of leaves mounted as they should be for the Museum Contest will be shown in this room during the summer and the young people will find the illustrated books on trees of much assistance in identifying their collections.

FISKE—BLOOD

Among the notable June weddings was that of Miss Marie Elizabeth Blood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Blood, Jr. and Charles Parker Fiske, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Parker Bishop Fiske of Auburndale, which was solemnized Friday afternoon at "Birchwood," the residence of the bride's parents on Grove street, Wellesley.

The wedding, which represented a pastoral scene of one hundred years ago, took place in the old fashioned garden, which was resplendent with a wealth of Canterbury bells, foxgloves and irises.

Pink and lavender colors predominated and blended most effectively with the colors of the bridesmaid's dresses which were pink and lavender.

The ceremony was performed at five o'clock by Rev. Lewis W. Hicks, retired pastor of the Village Congregational Church. The bridal party stood in front of a beautiful pine tree which served as a background. Surrounding the garden is a privet hedge outside of which the guests were grouped.

As the bridal procession passed down the central pathway the orchestra played Wagner's Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, and during the ceremony the Meditation of Thal; Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as a recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a picturesque old fashioned gown of soft white satin and cloth of silver veiled with tulle, with bodice of old brocade, and carried a bouquet of swansonia and lilies of the valley. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Gwendolen E. Smith of New York city, as maid of honor, and her sister, Miss Mariana Williamson Blood of Wellesley, who were attractively attired in the prevailing colors of the garden (pink and lavender), which were reproduced in their polonaise gowns of net and tulle. They carried Shepherdess crooks to which were attached bouquets of pink and lavender sweet peas, and Shepherdess hats of tulle completed the pastoral picture.

There were two little flower girls, Helen Fiske and Cornelia Anderson, quaintly dressed in long white ruffled frocks and dainty poke bonnets of pink and white, who carried little wrist baskets filled with tiny Sweetheart rosebuds, which they scattered on the grassy path over which the bridal party passed on its way to the receiving line.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Mr. George Fiske of Auburndale, as best man, and the ushers included Messrs. Arthur C. Dorrance, Tech '14, of Philadelphia; David L. Sutherland, Tech '14, of Franklin, Pa.; Robert B. Fiske, brother of the bridegroom of Auburndale and Mortimer C. Blood of Wellesley, brother of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Wellesley, class of '14, and Mr. Fiske is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, class of '14. A large reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the living room which was decorated with Easter lilies and southern laurel, and the decorative scheme of white and green was carried out in all of the rooms on the lower floor of the house.

In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blood and Mr. and Mrs. Fiske, the maid of honor and the bridesmaid.

There were four hundred guests present including some from New York and Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Fiske will be at home after October 1st on Story street, Cambridge.

Why Elasticity in Paint?

Wood contracts and expands with changing temperatures just as mercury does. Paint, to remain unbroken on it through all seasons, must be elastic.

Dutch Boy Red Seal White Lead

and pure linseed oil make an elastic paint that anchors itself firmly in the pores of the wood and wears long. It may be tinted any desirable color.

Come in for your paint necessities. You will find everything high-grade—lead, oil, colors, varnishes.

WATERHOUSE—STOCKIN

Miss Helen Stockin of Watertown and Mr. Ralph Waterhouse, a teacher in the Newton Technical High School, were married Saturday night at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Helen M. Stockin, 49 Russell avenue, Watertown. Rev. Edward C. Camp, pastor of the Phillips Congregational Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Dorothy Stockin, as maid of honor, while her bridesmaids were Eleanor Stockin, a cousin, and Marion Perkins of Cambridge. Leland Waterhouse, a brother of the groom, was best man. A reception and dance followed the wedding ceremony, at which the ushers were Erlon Mosher of Gorham, Me., Henry Hawes of San Francisco, Dr. William E. Lowell of Westbrook, Me., and Clifford Waterhouse, Harold Blazo and Ernest Adams of Watertown.

The bride graduated from Watertown High School in 1911 and attended Boston University art school for several years. The groom is a resident of Watertown. The couple will make their home in Amherst, where the groom was recently appointed principal of the junior high school of that place.

Your Interests Are Linked With Ours

Before calling by telephone, consult the telephone directory and be sure to obtain the correct number. Mistakes often result from taking numbers from letter heads, business cards or private memoranda. Do not rely on memory.

Give the number to the operator distinctly and in a moderate tone of voice. With the lips about half an inch from the mouthpiece, speak clearly the name of the Central office and each numeral, separating the figures of the telephone number, for example, Oxford, four-one-five-0" (4150).

Listen when the operator repeats the number. Say "Yes" if it is right. If she does not quote it correctly, tell her so at once and repeat the correct number.

The receiver should be held at the ear until the called party answers or some report is given by the operator. As a matter of courtesy, the person making the call should be ready to talk as soon as the line is connected.

The identity of the person calling should be announced as soon as the called station answers. If a wrong station has been called, say to the person answering, "I beg your pardon, you were called by mistake." Signal the operator, state that a wrong connection was made and ask for the correct number.

The party calling should end the conversation by saying "Good-bye," leaving no doubt in the mind of the party called that the conversation has ended.

There are three parties to every telephone message: the person calling, the operator and the person called. Improvement in telephone service can be made, over and above all that the company can do, if the subscriber or user, when making a call, will extend his co-operation.

on the carrying of baggage to and from the B. & A. station? At present I understand one company has an exclusive concession for this business, and they have recently decided not to check baggage for their patrons. This will cause considerable annoyance and loss of time, and is unusual. I have never heard of a company of this kind refusing to check baggage, and in view of the profitable business which the present company enjoys it would seem that they should do it. Of course, if they have a monopoly on the business they may think they can do as they please, but I doubt if the people of Newtonville will stand for this.

GOLDEN WEDDING

A delightful social event of the week was the Golden Wedding Anniversary celebration of Colonel and Mrs. Edward H. Haskell on Tuesday evening at Newton Centre. A large company of guests numbering more than two hundred assembled at their residence on Beacon street and showered them with congratulations.

Colonel and Mrs. Haskell were married in Gloucester by Rev. Charles Smith, on June 27, 1866.

A reception was held from eight until ten o'clock in the living-room which was attractively decorated for the occasion. Col. and Mrs. Haskell were assisted in receiving by their son, Mr. Edward A. Haskell and Mrs. Haskell of Braintree, Mass., and their daughters, Miss Marian R. Haskell and Miss Edith L. Haskell of Newton Centre. They were the recipients of many letters and telegrams of congratulation, golden gifts and a profusion of beautiful flowers including Sunburst, Ward and Killarney roses.

Guests were present from New York, Westerly, R. I., Gloucester, Dedham, Brookline and the Newtons. Col. Haskell is well known in military, business and political circles of the country. He served as a signal officer throughout the war of '61 and was appointed Assistant Adjutant General of Massachusetts by Gov. Long, serving from 1880 to 1883. In 1880 and again in 1884 he was a delegate from Massachusetts to the Republican National convention.

GIVES HIGH SCHOOL

Loren D. Towle Presents His Native Town $85,000 Structure

Mr. Loren D. Towle of Franklin street, Newton, has presented to his native town, Newport, N. H., a high school building, to be completed in 1917 and to be known as the Towle High School. The proposed building will be one of fire-proof construction, will accommodate two hundred scholars, and will have all the various departments of a modern high school. It will cost, including site and equipment, $75,000. This gift has been given official recognition by the town authorities, and Mr. Towle this week has been the recipient of many appreciative messages, chief among which is a tender and loving letter from his old schoolmaster, Mr. Towle's announcement made a day or two ago, has since then formed the chief topic of conversation in that town. A site will be selected shortly, that the work of construction can be begun at an early date and the building made ready for dedication before the beginning of the fall and winter term of 1917.

Mr. Towle was born in Newport in 1874, and graduated from the high school in 1892, and as next year will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of his graduation, he takes these preliminary steps now, that he may be privileged to fitly observe the quarter-centennial in 1917. Mr. Towle has always held his native town in great reverence. When he built the great office and bank building at 60 and 68 Devonshire street, Boston, last year, he named it the Newport Building in its honor: he has for ten years and more had annual prizes for the high school, and is always interested in any and all public improvements.

Mr. Towle, by the way, is a son of George H. Towle, a direct descendant of Philip Towle, who came from England in 1657 and landed at Hampton, N. H.

THE BATH-HOUSE REMAINS

In Seven-Hour Session Aldermen Decline to Eject or Improve It

The Crystal Lake bath-house remains.

A flood of oratory—pro and con—was let loose in City Hall, not infrequently splashing out into the balmy night, and the city fathers wrestled earnestly, off and on, from 8 o'clock Monday evening till 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, but Newton Centre's bath-house was neither patted affectionately on the back and given a nice little appropriation nor ejected for behavior unbecoming a gentleman.

In spite of the session which kept the aldermen out until the dawn was dawning and the spooky streets were populated only by the busy milkman bringing everybody's breakfast cream—seven hours the aldermen put in before deciding to call it a day and knocked off work—well, in spite of all the thought given the matter, the bath-house remains just as it was before. The lake is still there, too. There will still be bathing in it.

The only thing remaining to be settled is this: The Playground Commission may supervise the bathing, if it sees fit. It may not if it sees fitter.

The matter rests with the commission. On Monday evening there was a public hearing on the bathing problem. Many came from the South Side to crowd the aldermanic chamber, and many of them spoke very earnestly one way or the other.

Then, sometime early Tuesday morning the Public Works Committee recommended removing the present bath-house at a cost of $25, but this was amended by Alderman Harriman's motion to appropriate $500 to carry it on this year. The vote on this order was 10 yeas to nine nays, and the order was lost. It needed a majority of the board to pass.

pointed out that better bathing privileges can be provided by the purchase or taking of land. "Bathing can be provided," said he, "and I insist that adequate facilities will overcome any annoyances."

Dr. Francis Geo. Curtis declared that in eight years nearly 13,000 bathers have used the bath-house, and that 700 young people have been taught to swim. "The bath-house as it is today is not what we would like to see it," he added, "but it is better than none at all. If it remains in the hands of the Health Department, we propose to increase its size and sanitary conditions. He asked an appropriation to keep it open this summer, and urged a "decent" bath-house later.

Alderman Brewer, chairman of the Playground Commission, said that George D. Miller is willing to sell his land at Crystal Lake to the city for a new bath-house site at $500 less than its assessed valuation, if it is desired.

Sanford E. Thompson thought objection could be overcome by putting the bath-house in the woodland bordering the lake.

"The children of some of the principal objectors have used the bath-house often after hours," said Walter J. Mullin, former swimming instructor. "We have had as many as 150 girls from seven to 17 years old bathing at one time. But accidents will happen if the small children are not given protection."

FIREWORKS

The largest and most expensive of all the July 4th displays of fireworks will be that given at Bravos Field on the evening of July 4th under the management of the Boston National League Club. Over $3000 worth of pyrotechnics, or twice as large an amount in value as will be displayed elsewhere in Boston or vicinity will form the basis of the evening's program. Both set pieces and aerial work will be provided but the set pieces will be the more numerous and will comprise fully three quarters of the program. Among the pyrotechnic novelties to be introduced will be a naval engagement between two battleships, including submarines and torpedo boats. A bicycle race between several riders, a dancing bear and his trainer, birds bathing in a fountain of silver fire and a sea saw between little children will be other of the attractive novelties in the line of set pieces.

The fireworks will be of two hours' duration and will begin at 8.15 o'clock. They will be prefaced by a band concert by Palladino's Military Band of 50 men. The seating capacity of Bravos Field is upwards of 45,000 and with very large displays offered elsewhere it is expected that "The Home of Big Things" will be taxed to capacity of thousands. As usual popular prices of 25 and 50 cents will prevail and reservations of tickets may be made by phoning to Bravos Field.

BATH HOUSE REMAINS

Rev. James F. Haney, assistant pastor of the Church of the Sacred Heart, placed the number of children who have bathed in Crystal Lake in the last seven years at 37,000. He made a stirring plea for the continuation of bathing privileges. "Keep in mind that this is organized opposition, with counsel," said he. "We want the bathing to continue this year for the sake of the children. With proper supervision, I am sure any objectionable feature will cease. As a matter of fact, most of those who oppose bathing here are away the greater part of the summer."

Herbert R. Lane, president of the Waban Improvement Society, spoke for the children of Waban, who want the bathing continued by all means. Howard Whitmore made a similar plea on behalf of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association.

T. P. Pratt of Newton Highlands, "one of the early morning bathers," as he called himself, said he had seen as many as 42 bathing between 6 and 7 a. m. Dr. E. A. Andrews of Newton Centre urged supervision from early morning till late at night. Herbert Patterson of Newton Highlands also spoke in favor.

Miss Christine Dana of Newton Highlands thought the bathing privilege ought not to be taken away from the young women. She is one of the bathers, herself.

"We have heard no complaints against the girls," she declared. "They are all against the boys."

Rev. J. Edgar Park of West Newton sent a letter favoring bathing.

Strong opposition came from some South Side residents.

"We are not here as organized opposition with counsel," asserted John A. Gardner of Lake avenue. "William M. Noble has conferred with us as a neighbor but not as paid counsel."

He objected to language heard, he said, among the bathers.

"This comes largely from boys from Waltham, Dorchester and Roxbury," he continued. "The logical place for a bath-house is on the river where it will not annoy anyone. No one objects to the early morning bathing; one should be up at 6 o'clock if he goes to bed the time he should."

He spoke of the "masterly indifference" which, he said, the chairman of the Board of Health had said had been maintained by the board.

Dr. Curtis objected to the phrase. In the interests of accuracy he stated that it was "masterly inactivity," not "masterly indifference."

E. H. Ruby said that a large majority of the "children" who go bathing are grown men. The Boy Scouts had declined to use the lake, he added, because of the crowd there.

Representative J. Weston Allen told how he had gone bathing in Crystal Lake himself, and declared that the water is "too dirty" for bathing as it is now with everyone coming there.

"Leave the bath-house for the people of the vicinity," said he. He declared that petitions against enlargement represent over $500,000 in real estate in the vicinity.

How sometimes boys go bathing in the altogether was vividly described by J. O. Reay of Newton Highlands.

He made a plea to "keep out the roughs," and said boys have been seen to laugh at a policeman.

"My wife has seen boys stark naked running on the railroad tracks!" he declared, getting down to bare facts.

"They come and wake up everybody at 5 o'clock," asserted John W. Foul.

W. G. Parmelee of Berwick road told how the language he had overheard shocked even a gentleman from Pittsburgh.

A dispute between Mr. Gardner and Mr. Mullin sizzled up into a joint debate that for a few moments got interesting—till President Blanchard brought his gavel down with such a resounding thump that everybody jumped.

A show of hands showed 24 in favor of bathing and 40 opposed.

Some hours later, when the order came before the board, Alderman Harriman in asking for $500 to continue the bath-house this year, instead of appropriating $25 to remove it as the committee recommended, he suggested that its use be confined to residents of Newton.

Aldermen McCarthy, Hapgood and Cobb favored the amendment; Aldermen Clement and Cole opposed. The amendment was adopted, 10 to 9, and the order then lost, 10 to 9.

Two sections of a proposed ordinance governing the office of comptroller were adopted after a long contest, and two other sections again laid over.

Ex-Alderman Albert F. Bemis told the board why the office of comptroller was established, and added:

"The Mayor ought to find in the comptroller a keen and interested servant in accounting and checking of bills. I can imagine no man who could be more valuable to the Mayor than the comptroller under the ordinances as they now stand. No matter how much any system is amended, there will be found new difficulties."

Then came something unusual. It was 1.30 a. m. and Alderman Harriman moved to adjourn till the same evening. The motion was lost. The ordinance was laid on the table. Again it was moved to adjourn. The motion was lost. The ordinance was taken from the table. Two sections were adopted. All this consumed much time. Then the remaining sections were laid on the table.

On motion of President Blanchard the pupils of the public schools were given the privilege of lying from the city at not more than cost price the text books they use, if they wish.

For purchase of equipment for the Technical High School $1250 was appropriated, and for the Vocational School $1700.

Montgomery Rollins and Richard M. Saltonstall sent communications opposing sending of Hammond street.

Francis Geo. Curtis and Albert F. Bemis favored widening. An appropriation of $1370 was made.

Thomas Macauley's petition for a permit for a garage at Commonwealth avenue and Homer street was opposed by John Murphy, representing the Murphy estate, which, he said, has paid taxes on land there for 60 years, and by Mrs. George Kerrivan and Miss Julia Coughlin.

Leave to withdraw was given petitions of Nona S. Hooley, et al. for sewer in Boylston street, Ward 6, and Charles G. Wetherbee, et al. for laying out of Terrace avenue, Ward 5.

Inexpedient to grant at present time was reported on these petitions: Earle L. Ovington, resurfacing of Dedham, Parker and Winchester streets, ward 5.

The following orders were adopted: Appropriating $3,200 resurfacing and drainage Beaumont avenue, from Prospect avenue to Hull street.

Granting $880, sewer construction account, and authorizing purchase of equipment for sewer pumping station, Upper Falls.

Appropriating City Messenger Department, salary, $50, carriages, $50; Treasury Department, interest, $1,190.39; Accounting Department, pensions, Edward Daley, $328.10, Peter Flaherty, $198; Charity Department, care sick poor, $500; Street Department, land damages, court judgment Grove street, $733.64.

Granting $112,065 city expenses, three months, to Sept. 30.

NORUMBEGA'S UNIQUE CONTEST

Next Monday the Neighborhood
the management of Norumbega Park has devised for increasing its business, will be launched and the flood of enquiries that has been received since the preliminary announcement was made indicates that the idea is one that is bound to meet with favor.
The contest is open to all patrons of the park, who may compete for the costly awards. The first prize will be a 1916 model, five-passenger Overland touring car, worth $650. Second prize is a Ford runabout with a value of $390. Then there are two travel tours to Washington, D. C., when the inauguration takes place, and, in addition, several awards of cash will be made.

The contest is planned to test the knowledge of contestants in regard to the neighborhood in which they live.
Circulars containing full details may be obtained at the park by applying to the Neighborhood Contest Manager.
The automobiles are to be placed on exhibition at Norumbega and one important feature is that the time the contest will run will not be too long, thus proving tiresome to those who are taking part. Patrons of the park should bear in mind that the only cost to them is the price of their admission to the beautiful resort and that this price entitles them to all the features, including the same high class of entertainments in the Theatre that have always characterized Norumbega Park.

BEES SWARM ON CENTRE STREET BRIDGE

For the past few years, Charles Elliot, the genial custodian of the Elliot Building, has kept several hives of bees in his yard on Washington street. One colony of these insects were Mexican bees, and last Saturday morning as they observed the cavalry-horses being driven to Framingham for the Bay State militia, they determined to go to the aid of their compatriots south of the Rio Grande, and accordingly took French leave of Mr. Elliot. With the keen intelligence peculiar to bees, they started to follow the line of the Boston and Albany Railroad. They had only proceeded as far as Centre street when the Queen-Bee decided that it would be too exhausting to her subjects to fly all the distance to Mexico, so she halted them on the superstructure of the Centre Street bridge, intending to "jump" the first "through freight" to the West.

STANLEY BROTHERS GATHERING BEES ON CENTRE STREET BRIDGE

While the bees were emigrating from Charlie Elliot's hive, F. O. Stanley was giving Sergeant Tom Clay a joy-ride around Nonantum Square, endeavoring to convince that diminutive cop that the traffic regulations are "all wrong." First Mr. Stanley approached the square from the east, then he drove towards it from the west. Next he guided his car into that congested and much discussed spot from the north and continued down Centre street as far as the bridge, and then there he forgot all about Nonantum Square and the traffic laws.

For up on the top of the bridge a multitude of vigorous honey-bees were swarming. Charles Elliot said "that there were 35,000 of them," but Mr. Elliot was mistaken.

There were 15,587 bees. We know, because Mr. Stanley took a census of them. Mr. Stanley hustled down to the factory and returned with his brother Frank, and the following equipment:—

- A heavy blue veil.
- A thick pair of gloves.

- A thin flat board.
- A small pasteboard box.
- A large pasteboard box.
- Four pieces of string.

While Freehan Stanley was arranging the veil over his face and neck, Frank E. Stanley borrowed a 20-foot ladder from a neighboring carpenter-shop. Meanwhile there was much conjecture among the rapidly gathering spectators as to what the four pieces of string were to be used for. Many thought that Mr. Stanley intended to use them to bind the bees, but they were mistaken. The cord was used to fasten the extremities of the intrepid auto-manufacturer's trousers and shirt sleeves, and thus protect him against flank attacks from the stingers. Having adjusted his armour, Mr. Stanley fearlessly mounted the ladder into the very midst of the buzzing insects, and using the piece of board as a persuader, gently but firmly guided the nectar gatherers into the small pasteboard box. When this receptacle was filled, he descended and emptied its contents into the large box. He repeated this process until he had practically all of the bees captured.

Meanwhile a large but cautious audience had assembled at a discreet distance, to applaud Mr. Stanley's skill, and admire his courage. In it was Mr. Quincy Pond of Maple Street, who is an experienced bee-keeper. He donated a hive to Mr. Stanley and assisted in transferring the bees.

Now that Mr. Stanley is assured of a plentiful supply of pure-honey, he should purchase a Jersey cow, and then he could regale himself with the menu of Jerusalem the Golden.

NEWTON CENTRE PLAYGROUND

Interesting List of Events to Mark Dedication of New Building

At the Newton Centre Playground, Saturday, the Newton Centre Social Service and Playground League opened the building which formerly belonged to Trinity parish as a recreation building.

The whole of the basement was newly reconstructed. The part which was the main church was left practically as it was, except that a new ventilation system was installed.

An extra entrance was made directly from the street. What used to be the chancel is now a stage. In the basement there are two sets of sanitary accommodations, one for the boys and one for the girls placed at the extreme ends of the building with separate entrances from the playground. In the centre of the basement, fronting the playground, is a director's room. Back of all this, are two dressing rooms, one for the boys and one for the girls.

The heating plant furnishes hot water for the baths.

During the afternoon many of the citizens of Newton Centre visited the playground and the building. There were a number of entertainments by the younger children. The instructors of the local playground, as well as those from the Newton Highlands and Thompsonville playgrounds, who brought down their children, helped in the program.

The Tigers had arranged a game with the West Newton Walnut A. A. baseball team, but when the West Newton team failed to appear, a local team was quickly organized and a lively game of base ball was played. Besides flat ball, volley ball and ring games, there were a number of folk dances by the younger children and older girls.

There were also some solo dances by pupils of the Bowen school and children of Newton Centre including folk dancing. An exhibition dance by Lucy McLellan and Susan Smith.

Miss Leverone was in charge of the local girls, and Miss Svenson of Thompsonville and Miss Willard of Newton Highlands Playground children who took part.

The older girls also had a splendid game of baseball and the lineup was as follows: Newton Centre vs. Newton Highlands won by the Highlands 5 to 3.

Another feature which attracted a great many visitors was the archery court where a number of prominent archers of Newton Centre had their regular archery practice.

The tennis tournament was run off in the morning, but the courts were never idle during the afternoon.

The sand gardens were busy places throughout the day. A competition in sand modelling had been arranged for the younger children, and the sand play was won by Alice McDonald, Eugene Calnan, Lawrence Lewis and Phillip Murphy of Newton Centre.

The catch ball, Centre vs. Highlands was won by Centre 2-0. Captain Ball, by Centre vs. Highlands won by Centre 4-2.

We Believe the Maxwell is Greatest Motor Car Value on the Market

BUT our opinion would not be of any particular importance to you if it did not coincide with the facts. We only want you to look the market over carefully. Then we absolutely know that you will agree with us.

In the first place there is the remarkable Maxwell engine. No four cylinder motor of its size has more "pep" or go to it regardless of the price of the car it drives. It will climb hills on high gear in a manner that will astonish you. It is quiet and works day in and day out with a sound, business-like hum that is good to hear.

Any engineer will compliment the design of the chassis. And those who are not engineers cannot fail to note its simplicity and staunch construction. As for what it is made of, we can truthfully say that better material cannot be bought.

The operation of the car is simplicity itself—the brakes are powerful—the springs are long and flexible—the axles are strong and the steering apparatus, like the rest of the chassis, is built to stand the most severe service the car may ever have to face, wherever or however it is used.

Then if you consider looks important, and most people do, you will not find a more attractive car than the Maxwell at anywhere near the price.

And it comes to you fully equipped with all the attachments you will ever want or need; electric starter and lights, demountable rims, one man top, self-ventilating, rain-vision windshield, etc. All for $655 (five passenger touring car) or $635 (two passenger roadster).

We know you can't beat it.

A FINE RECORD

Newton High School has graduated a wonderful all-around track and field athlete this year in Arthur S. Roberts, who intends to enter Springfield, Y. M. C. A. College in the fall.

This well-built young man, who can adapt himself to any branch of sports, was one of the most sensational schoolboy athletes in this section during the out-door track season.

Although Newton fared well during the indoor season in track and field sports, only baseball was fostered by the Orange and Black authorities this spring.

However, Roberts and Leverett Woodworth retained interest in the sport and brought Newton into the limelight.

These two boys competed in the Harvard interscholastic meet and Roberts, who had not practised a single day owing to the consistently poor weather conditions, was second in the high jump at 5 feet 7 1/2 inches, and second in the pole vault at 10 feet, 4 inches.

Woodworth, who will enter M. A. C. after another year at Newton, ran third in the "220." Roberts made his next appearance in competition at the Brown interscholastics and won three firsts on a muddy field. He cleared 5 feet 8 1/2 inches, to capture high jump honors, won the pole vault at 10 feet, 3 inches, and the 120-yard high hurdles in 18 seconds.

The crowning achievement of the year came in the Worcester Academy interscholastic in which Roberts scored 21 points in five events. A steady downpour during the meet made jumping perilous, but the Newton "mud horse" won the pole vault at 9 feet, the high jump at 5 feet, 10 inches, and the high hurdles at 18 seconds.

In addition, he was second in the shot put at 42 feet, 5 inches, and second in the 220-yard low hurdles. In view of Woodworth's double victory in the dashes Newton High's two-man team won the Worcester meet, scoring 31 points against 23 for Concord, N. H. High, and 21 for the Boston High School of Commerce.

Neither Roberts nor Woodworth received any instruction from coaches during the season, relying upon their natural ability. Roberts holds the Newton High jumping record of 5 feet, 10 1/4 inches.

The church was decorated attractively with palms and potted plants and the ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by Dr. Francis E. Clark, father of the bridegroom, assisted by the pastor, Rev. Herbert S. Wilkinson.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a beautiful wedding gown of white tulle and georgette crepe. She was attended by Mrs. E. S. The bride wore a pink tulle trimmed with silver lace. Miss Barbara Alden of Hyde Park was the flower girl.

In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom were their parents, Dr. and Mrs. Elliott and Dr. and Mrs. Clark, the matron of honor and the bridesmaids. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will reside in Kansas City, Mo.

CONVERSE-SIGOURNEY

A wedding of interest to Newton society took place Monday afternoon at South Framingham when Miss Alice L. Sigourney was united in marriage to Corporal Frank Lee Converse of Battery A Field Artillery, which left Tuesday morning for the Mexican border.

The ceremony was performed by Fr. O'Connor the Chaplain of the Ninth Regiment, and was witnessed only by the members of the immediate families. The bride was attended by Miss Evelyn Converse and Corporal Converse was assisted by his brother Mr. Howard Converse.

A waiver of the five-day marriage requirement was granted by Judge Kingsbury of the Framingham Court in order that the marriage might be solemnized.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Henry Sigourney of 77 Beacon street, Boston, and has three sisters, the Misses Edith, Katherine and Mary Sigourney, and two brothers, Mr. Henry L. Sigourney, Harvard, '07, who married Miss Helen Putnam of Brookline, and Mr. David R. Sigourney, Harvard, '15, of Boston.

The Princess Troubetzkoy, who is known in America as Amelle Rives, the novelist, is a cousin of the bride.

Corporal Converse is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Converse of Newton and a grandson of the late Benjamin B. Converse. He has two sisters, Miss Evelyn Converse and Miss Madeleine Converse, and among his relatives are Colonel Harry E. Converse, Mrs. Costello C. Converse of Malden, Miss B. Lee of Royalston and Mrs. Lester Leland of Beacon street, Boston.

He is associated in business with his father in the Boston firm of Converse and Company, leather merchants.

UNION-BEEDLE

A charming June wedding took place Wednesday evening when Miss Ruth Beedle, Wellesley '14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Beedle of Newton, was united in marriage to Mr. Chester Robert Union, Harvard, '11, of the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, son of Mrs. Carrie E. Union.

The bride's residence on Breamore road was decorated most attractively for the occasion, a wedding scheme of pink and green being carried out effectively with Killarney roses in combination with asparagus Plumousus and palms.

The ceremony was performed at half after seven by Rev. Harry Lutz, pastor of Channing Unitarian Church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was charming in an exquisite wedding gown of white liberty satin and silver lace with court train of satin. She wore a long tulle veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms, and her bridal bouquet was a magnificent full shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley. She also wore a beautiful diamond pendant, set in platinum, the gift of the bridegroom.

She was preceded by a little flower girl and ring bearer, Miss Alice Barry of Newton, who wore a dainty frock of white organdie, with pink ribbons and carried a basket of pink Killarney roses, in the centre of which was a small silver basket containing the wedding ring.

The bride was attended by Miss Edith L. Brayton, her classmate at Wellesley, of Fall River, as maid of honor, who was becomingly gowned in pink tulle with overdress of pink tulle, and carried pink sweet peas.

There were two bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy P. Clark, Wellesley, '13, of Newton, and Miss Edith R. Fisher, Smith '13, of Newton, who were attractive in gowns of pink tulle combined with orchid tulle and carried orchid sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Artemus C. Townsend, Harvard '11, a classmate of the bridegroom, of Boston, and the ushers were Dr. Sumner Andrews, Harvard, '10, of Brookline. Mr. Channing Harwood, Dartmouth, '15, of Newton, and Mr. Edward S. Lancaster, Harvard '12, of New Britain, Conn.

Immediately following the ceremony a large and brilliant reception was held at the Hunnewell Club, which was decorated profusely with pink Killarney roses, festoons of Plumousus and palms. The bridal party stood in a bower of roses with background of palms and in the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom, were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Beedle and Mrs. Union.

Mrs. Beedle wore a beautiful and effective gown of rainbow tulle with overdress of tulle heavily embroidered with opalescent spangles, and Mrs. Union was handsomely gowned in white tulle with overdress of black tulle. The bride's gifts to the maids were pearl brooches, and the bridegroom's gifts to his best man and ushers were diamond stickpins.

Handley's Orchestra of Symphony players was in attendance and furnished a delightful program during the reception. Federal Inquiry of Railroad Strike?

Faced by demands from the conductors, engineers, firemen and brakemen that would impose on the country an additional burden in transportation costs of $100,000,000 a year, the railroads propose that this wage problem be settled by reference to an impartial Federal tribunal.

With these employees, whose efficient service is acknowledged, the railroads have no differences that could not be considered fairly and decided justly by such a public body.

Railroads Urge Public Inquiry and Arbitration

The formal proposal of the railroads to the employees for the settlement of the controversy is as follows:

- "Our conferences have demonstrated that we cannot harmonize our differences of opinion and that eventually the matters in controversy must be passed upon by other and disinterested agencies. Therefore, we propose that your proposals and the proposition of the railroads be disposed of by one or the other of the following methods:
1. Preferably by submission to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the only tribunal which, by reason of its accumulated information bearing on railway conditions and its control of the revenue of the railways, is in a position to consider and protect the rights and equities of all the interests affected, and to provide additional revenue necessary to meet the added cost of operation in case your proposals are found by the Commission to be just and reasonable, or, in the event the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot, under existing laws, act in the premises, that we jointly request Congress to take such action as may be necessary to enable the Commission to consider and promptly dispose of the questions involved, or
 2. By arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Federal law" (The Newlands Act).

Leaders Refuse Offer and Take Strike Vote

Leaders of the train service brotherhoods, at the joint conference held in New York, June 1-15, refused the offer of the railroads to submit the issue to arbitration or Federal review, and the employees are now voting on the question whether authority shall be given these leaders to declare a nation-wide strike.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is proposed by the railroads as the public body to which this issue ought to be referred for these reasons:

- No other body with such an intimate knowledge of railroad conditions has such an unquestioned position in the public confidence.
- The rates the railroads may charge the public for transportation are now largely fixed by this Government board.
- Out of every dollar received by the railroads from the public nearly one-half is paid directly to the employees as wages, and the money to pay increased wages can come from no other source than the rates paid by the public.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, with its control over rates, is in a position to make a complete investigation and render such decision as would protect the interests of the railroad employees, the owners of the railroads, and the public.

A Question For the Public to Decide

The railroads feel that they have no right to grant a wage preferment of $100,000,000 a year to these employees, now highly paid and constituting only one-fifth of all the employees, without a clear mandate from a public tribunal that shall determine the merits of the case after a review of all the facts.

The single issue before the country is whether this controversy is to be settled by an impartial Government inquiry or by industrial warfare.

QUALITY GOODS

Perhaps you believe that you can obtain better goods by buying your table supplies out of town, but we know it is impossible. Perhaps you believe that you can save money by doing so, but we can prove it is impossible. You do know it is mighty inconvenient. You do know that, owing to the time in transit, that the fruit and vegetables are wilted, that the meats are slimy and sticky, and that on the whole they present anything but an inviting and appetizing appearance. And then when you find that you have forgotten the yeast cake or the bread or some other small article, you impose upon good nature by giving this unprofitable trade to your local man, while your "profitable trade" goes elsewhere. The local man is proverbially good natured, but, nevertheless, while filling your rush order, he does some thinking, and wonders where fairness or justice enters into the deal.

Real Quality Goods—excelled by none—are sold by us—and sold at prices as low here as anywhere. Service and attention is courteous, and deliveries are promptly made. Think it over.

BE FAIR. BE JUST. TRADE AT HOME.

The bride was charming in a beautiful wedding gown of ivory white messaline and Chantilly lace, tulle veil fastened with a spray of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Harold R. Noden of Newtonville, as matron of honor, who was attractively attired in shell pink taffeta.

The reception room was decorated with daisies combined effectively with asparagus fern, and palms, and as the bridal party entered, Miss Catherine Walton of West Newton played the Mendelssohn Wedding March. The flower girl was Gloria Kenison, niece of the bride.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Mr. Frank Nesbitt as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Elmer J. Keene, Harold R. Noden of Newtonville, Hiram Skinner of Watertown and Leigh H. Hammond of West Newton.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony and the bride and bridegroom were assisted in receiving their guests by Mr. and Mrs. Kenison.

During the reception music was rendered by Poole's Orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Nesbitt left on a short wedding trip and on their return will reside at 37 River street, West Newton, where they will be at home after Sept. 1st.

SOCIAL GAYETIES AT BRAE BURN

Two Brilliant Out Door Events on Saturday
Nice Weather Causes Society to Turn Out

The Dance Recital and Dansant on Saturday afternoon, and the Dinner Dance on Saturday evening, were by far the largest social events of the season at the Brae Burn Country Club, and it was an occasion where Society turned out in large numbers, as there were practically fifteen hundred guests present at the Club during the afternoon and evening.

It was an ideal day, and Brae Burn with its sylvan loveliness, romantic scenery and diverse attractions was filled with brightness and sunshine such as poets sing of, and presented a scene of such surpassing beauty, that it would be a species of literary sacrilege to try to describe it, for it could only be felt, to be appreciated.

From half-past three until half-past four, a Dance Recital was given by Miss Elsie Harrington, Newton's popular dancing teacher, assisted by thirty young ladies. An attractive program containing seven numbers was presented on the Bowling Green, and the spectators watched and applauded each number with the greatest enthusiasm, while Miss Harrington and some of her pupils and teacher friends, gave an able demonstration of the fact that dancing is a fine art and not merely a pastime.

The opening number, "Amaryllis" Air Louis XIII by Ghys, was danced gracefully by four young ladies: Miss Eaves, Miss Rugg, Miss Spere and Miss Lovejoy. Schubert's "Moment Musical" was a charming dance by a trio of young ladies, the Misses Elsie Harrington, Zella Hall, and Beatrice Gingsras, daintily attired in filmy costumes, and was most artistic, abounding in grace and beauty of motion.

"Gouttee," The Waltzing Doll, by Miss Gingsras, was a personification of "the poetry of motion," the dancer wearing a beautiful and effective costume.

Miss Pauline Chamberlain and Mr. William Chamberlain of Brookline, gave a clever demonstration of society dancing, and their artistic performance of the modern steps was vastly interesting to the many dancing enthusiasts present, who encircled them repeatedly.

A novel feature of the program was the chorus dance by Miss Gingsras, Miss Hall and Miss Lucile O'Brien, assisted by thirteen attractive young society girls of Newton. It was called "In A Rose Garden," and the young ladies costumed in green leaf-like skirts with red and pink bodices, represented a bed of roses. Miss Gingsras, in gauzy costume, enters as a Fairy, and dancing lightly around the group of stately roses, weaves a spell of enchantment about them. Slowly they come to life and are compelled to follow the bidding of her magic wand as she flits from flower to flower. Tiring of the sport she beguiles them back again to their places. The Rose Garden scene was most effective, and the beauty and gracefulness of the dancers in their various fantastic poses, aroused the admiration of the spectators who showed their appreciation by frequent applause. "The Roses," included the Misses Marjorie Warren, Marjorie Fairbanks, Bertha Whitney, Beth Crooker, Hope Crooker, Virginia Spere, Dorothy Eaves, Mary Sprague, Helen Rugg, Priscilla Ordway, Marjorie Howland, Elizabeth Newhall, and Mildred Lovejoy, and Miss Hall, and Miss O'Brien were the "Twin Tulips."

Another feature that contributed largely to the entertainment was Delbe's "Scene Dansant," by Miss Harrington, Miss O'Brien and Mr. Joseph Holden, and they danced with rare skill and refinement combining natural grace with dexterity of performance.

The closing number "Ensemble Des Premiers," included Chopin's "Minute Waltz," by the Misses Zella Hall, Pauline Chamberlain, Beatrice Gingsras, Elsie Farwell, and Lucile O'Brien; Kreisler's "Schon Rosmarin," by Miss Harrington; Nevin's Gavotte de la Reine, by Miss Harrington and Miss O'Brien; Strauss' "Polka Fantastique," by Miss Chamberlain, Miss Gingsras and Miss Harrington; and Tschakowsky's "Pavane de Quatre-Ensemble," by Miss Harrington, Miss Hall, Miss Chamberlain, Miss Gingsras, Miss Farwell and Miss O'Brien. It completed a most entertaining exhibition of modern and display dancing, and Quimby's Band supplied a choice program of musical selections as accompaniment to the various phases of dancing.

Following the Recital there was general dancing from half-past four until half past six; tables were arranged around the Bowling Green, at which refreshments were served by the Club attendants. The hundreds of beautifully gowned ladies made a scene that was more than charming, and it was enhanced by the picturesque surroundings.

In the evening the effect was one of rare brilliancy; festoons of mountain laurel with floral baskets alternating with the incandescent lights, were hung across the Bowling Green, and red fires were lighted, which shed a soft iridescence over the golf links and the woodlands, which loomed up in the background.

From half past six until 8 dinner was served at tables arranged in the Garden Tea Room, dining-hall, and glass enclosed sun-parlors of the Club, and there were covers for more than two hundred and fifty.

Everything went off according to schedule, and the Club management handled the big assemblage as only Brae Burn can; in its appointments and maintenance of the highest standards of service, lies the secret of the constantly increasing popularity of this Club, which is demonstrating more and more the fact that hundreds of guests are anxious to avail themselves of its innumerable attractions.

Practically every one socially prominent in the Club's activities, had one or more tables, and the dinners were arranged in groups ranging from a party of five or six to one of ten or more.

These delightful affairs were arranged by the House Committee, Messrs. William B. H. Dowse, Harry L. Ayer, Frank B. Witherbee and Frank J. Hale, and the dancing was under the direction of Mr. Ayer.

Among the guests present at the Dansant were, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer, Mrs. M. E. TO THE RELATIVES AND FRIENDS OF THE BOYS OF CO. C.

It may be a pleasure for you to know that a few of us remained with the Boys all night Monday and until they entrained at four o'clock Tuesday morning. They were in one place from seven o'clock until four the next morning, but were treated with the greatest respect all along the line. Houses were kept open all night and sandwiches and coffee were very plentiful. After a while they began to feel chilly and boxes and papers were brought from everywhere and large bon-fires were kept going to keep them warm. One gentleman had about twenty of the boys in his home on couches and improvised beds where they could sleep until it was time to move on and sleep they did for they were all very tired. Once I saw Capt. Commerals and two of the Boys trying to sleep in a Gloucester hammock. Not very much room apiece but better than nothing. Sergeant Barrows and the little black kitten, the Company's mascot, kept together all night and it was certainly a happy crowd that boarded the train to take them miles away. Every one was in the best of spirits and all seemed glad that they belonged to Uncle Sam. It was then we said our last good bye to every one of them and wished them good luck and a safe and victorious return.

Before calling by telephone, consult the telephone directory and be sure to obtain the correct number. Mistakes often result from taking numbers from letter heads, business cards or private memoranda. Do not rely on memory.

Give the number to the operator distinctly and in a moderate tone of voice. With the lips about half an inch from the mouthpiece, speak clearly the name of the Central office and each numeral, separating the figures of the telephone number, for example, Oxford, four-one-five-0" (4150).

Listen when the operator repeats the number. Say "Yes" if it is right. If she does not quote it correctly, tell her so at once and repeat the correct number.

The receiver should be held at the ear until the called party answers or some report is given by the operator. As a matter of courtesy, the person making the call should be ready to talk as soon as the line is connected.

The identity of the person calling should be announced as soon as the called station answers. If a wrong station has been called, say to the person answering, "I beg your pardon, you were called by mistake." Signal the operator, state that a wrong connection was made and ask for the correct number.

The party calling should end the conversation by saying "Good-bye," leaving no doubt in the mind of the party called that the conversation has ended.

There are three parties to every telephone message: the person calling, the operator and the person called. Improvement in telephone service can be made, over and above all that the company can do, if the subscriber or user, when making a call, will extend his co-operation.

SHUBERT THEATRE—The prevailing enthusiasm of audiences over the thrilling and altogether entertaining features of that spectacular film entitled "How Britain Prepared," which was so noticeable on the occasion of their first presentation in Boston last week, at the Shubert Theatre, has characterized all the performances that have been given every afternoon and evening. The interest in these pictures has been heightened all the more by our own hurried preparedness so recently made necessary by the threatening dangers of the Mexican situation, and there is every indication of a growing and still more lively interest the coming week when "How Britain Prepared" will be presented for a third week at this house. The augmented orchestra which provides a continuous musical accompaniment to the pictures, contributes in no small measure to the delight of seeing "How Britain Prepared."
